Johnson Gets 48 Per Cent In Primary; Nixon Sweeps

McCarthy 3,527 Votes Behind LBJ

By WALTER R. MEARS

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire Democrats returned a startling split decision today, giving President Johnson a narrow, empty victory in the nation's opening presidential primary—while awarding rebellious Eugene J. McCarthy 42 per cent of the vote and 20 of the 24 elected delegates to the party's national convention.

Johnson's slim edge in the presidential preference poll was 3,527 votes out of 54,333 Democratic ballots, in virtually complete, unofficial figure.

Richard M. Nixon won the overwhelming Republican vote he sought to help wipe out the memory of past defeats. Fully 79 per cent of the Republicans who voted backed Nixon to propel his quest for the GOP presidential nomination.

But the drama was in the Democratic story. It was a story of political trouble for Johnson, and a leadoff success for McCarthy, whose campaign on a platform protesting Vietnam policy once was scorned as inconsequential by Democratic professionals.

Better Than Forecasts

Minnesota's McCarthy far surpassed his forecasts—and those of his opponents. Johnson's name was not on the ballot, but the state Democratic organization waged a tough write-in campaign. Its product: a minority win for the President, who received 48 per cent of the vote.

The contest for delegates appeared to be reversing the verdict of the presidential preference poll. Actually, the poll, popularly called a "beauty contest," is binding on no one.

In the separate contest for Democratic delegates, candidates pledged to vote for McCarthy's nomination were leading for 20 of the 24 national convention seats at issue, while contenders favoring Johnson led for 4.

Declared Candidate

McCarthy's performance in that phase of the primary was enhanced by the fact that as a declared candidate, he could choose the people running as delegates pledged to him, and limit their number. Johnson, undeclared and not on the ballot, could not.

As a result, there were 24 McCarthy delegates on the ballot, while 45 persons favoring Johnson divided the loyalist vote.

That showing lent new stature to his campaign of opposition to Johnson's policy in Vietnam, although the President scoffed at the outcome, saying New Hampshire is the only place where a candidate can claim "40 per cent is a mandate."

Smothers Rockefeller

The magnitude of the Nixon vote left no doubt about the mandate there. The former vice president swept 79 per cent of the vote, smothering the last-minute write-in campaign for

DEMOCRATS

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy: "We can go on to the nomination in Chicago."

President Johnson: "I think New Hampshire is the only place where a candidate can claim 20 per cent is a landslide and 40 per cent is a mandate and 60 per cent is unanimous."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy: "I am reassessing my position as to whether I'll run."

REPUBLICANS

Richard M. Nixon: "A smashing victory . . . the country is going to get a new president in January."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on Nixon's victory: "Politically I don't think it was very significant because there was no competition."

Gov. Ronald Reagan: "A hollow victory" for Nixon because he had no competition.

Kennedy Says He Might Run

New Hampshire Vote Causes Senator to Reassess Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said today that as a result of the New Hampshire primary "I am reassessing my position as to whether I'll run against President Johnson" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I think that the election in New Hampshire has indicated a good deal of concern in the Democratic Party about the direction our country is going," Kennedy told reporters in a crowded corridor outside a Senate hearing room.

In the New Hampshire Democratic presidential primary, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota made a strong showing after a campaign based on criticism of America's course in the Vietnam war.

Kennedy said in January he had told friends and associates he would not oppose Johnson under any foreseeable circumstances.

Vietnam Course

Kennedy said his reassessment is also based on evidence the Johnson administration plans to keep on its present course in Vietnam, which Kennedy has criticized, and that "Richard Nixon is very likely to be the nominee of the Republican Party."

Kennedy's aides indicated that any decision by the New York Democrat would probably have to come within the next 10 days, before the March 22 filing deadline for the Oregon primary.

By that date, Kennedy must decide whether to leave his name on the Oregon ballot or to sign a disclaimer that he is not and has no intention of becoming a candidate for president.

Kennedy said he has not conferred with McCarthy, who polled 42 per cent of the New Hampshire vote, except to congratulate him on his showing.

Kennedy also said the testimony earlier this week by Secretary of State Dean Rusk before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was a factor in his reassessment.

'Same Direction'

Although he called Rusk's testimony brilliant, he said, "It is quite clear from his testimony we're going to move in Vietnam in the same direction we have been heading."

Kennedy said another factor was the lack of reaction by President Johnson and officials of his administration as to "what course of action should be followed" in order to implement the recommendation of the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

Kennedy said that he has been concerned that any primary challenge to President Johnson might end up in a personality contest that would divide the Democratic Party.

But he said, "The primary in New Hampshire has demonstrated quite clearly there is a deep and considerable division and restlessness in the United States."

Asked if the primary also showed that the party is already badly divided, Kennedy said, "My impression is that it's true."

He did not say when he might make a further statement on the matter. He did say he would make one.

S. Vietnamese Official Tells Plan

Liberators to Raid North?

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's chief spokesman said today that a volunteer "liberation army" is being formed to invade North Vietnam.

U.S. officials expressed complete surprise at the report.

The spokesman, Director General of Information Nguyen Ngoc Linh, said the invasion army would be made up of Vietnamese who are "sick and tired of those people who want to 'liberate' South Vietnam." This was a reference to the Viet Cong, who call themselves the South Vietnamese Liberation Army.

'March to the North'

Vietnam Press, the government news agency, reported earlier today that authoritative sources had said a "high-ranking member of the vice president's office is forming a March to the North Army." The vice president is Nguyen Cao Ky, the former commander of the air force who was premier for two years before he and President Nguyen Van Thieu were elected last fall.

"Many military men, political figures and representatives of groups and religions have been contacted for support for the formation of the army," Vietnam Press said.

"Moreover, several retired general officers, of high reputation and with best military records, are actively participating in the formation of the March to the North Army's command staff."

Linh told a newsman the new force would ask the government to provide it arms and ammunition and would be called the North Vietnam Liberation Army. He said it would consist of guerrillas and would not be part of the regular South Vietnamese Army.

U.S. Skeptical

Many of the officers for the new army would come from South Vietnam's Hoa Hao and Cao Dai sects, Linh said. Both are ultranationalist religious sects which, until recent years, maintained their own armies. They are strongly anti-Communist.

U.S. officials had no comment. They are likely to be highly skeptical since the South Vietnamese armed forces are having trouble increasing their net strength by 65,000 men.

Thieu is known to favor an invasion and has praised the U.S. landing at Inchon, during the Korean War. Ky was asked recently if the government planned an invasion of the North. "Yes or no, we will let you know," he replied.

Apparently referring to this remark, Vietnam Press said today that "hints on the formation of the March to the North Army were made by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky several days ago."

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Wisconsin servicemen were killed in recent Vietnam action, the Pentagon has announced. They are Marine Pfc. Francis J. Capezio. Pell Lake; Army Pfc. David W. Knouse, rural Gratiot; Army Pfc. Bruce N. Knox, Madison, and Army Spec. 4 Joseph Seibert, Green Bay.

Hijackers Kidnap Passenger

'I'm Going to be Killed'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A passenger jet with 58 persons aboard was hijacked over South Florida Tuesday by two nervous gunmen kidnaping an old man who tearfully told passengers, "I'm going to be killed!"

The pilot of National Airlines flight 28, Capt. Clarence J. Delk, said "they were expecting us. I don't know how they knew we were coming. We were identified from the Cuban tower by flight number during our approach to Havana airport."

The hijackers' prisoner, a man who appeared to be in his sixties, was led from the plane crying and gesturing for help.

Stewardess Sarah E. West said the man slipped her some personal papers when the men weren't looking. She hid them on the plane and they were not found when Cuban soldiers searched the aircraft during the six hours at Havana. The papers were given to the FBI in Miami.

The three men, all in business suits, boarded together in Tampa.

Four minutes after takeoff on the Tampa-to-Miami leg of a flight that began in San Francisco, one of the gunmen put a .45-caliber automatic pistol at the neck of stewardess Donna Goldinher, 26, and forced her into the cockpit. She fumbled with a key and made the men nervous. "They clicked their guns," she said.

Efforts by other stewardesses to warn the pilot failed as both gunmen got into the cabin before he picked up the intercom, said stewardess Sally Jackson Kenner.

Delk said he maintained radio silence because "we didn't want to do anything to make them think we were not cooperating."

American officials tracked the plane on radar. Cuba notified U.S. officials after the plane's safe landing at 1:36 p.m. The plane returned to Miami at 7:57 p.m.

The man who said he was going to be killed sat quietly in the coach section of the plane until the landing in Cuba.

"I heard noise that sounded like a fight in the cockpit," said Mrs. Kenner, "but then I saw it was the old man beating his hands and arms on the chair armrest. Then he began pacing up and down saying in his broken English, 'I'm going to be killed!' "

Flip Wilson, the comedian, who was a passenger on the plane, said the old man indicated he had been taken prisoner in Mexico.

Rural Denmark Youth Dies of Crash Injuries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Donald Kobes, 15, of rural Denmark in Brown County, died early this morning at Two Rivers Municipal Hospital. He suffered internal injuries Monday when a car driven by his brother, Harold, 18, missed a curve and struck a tree just off State 147 one mile northwest of Two Rivers.

Howard Stern, 31, Shorewood, was injured fatally when the car he was driving slammed into a bridge support on Interstate 94 at State 164 just north of Waukesha Tuesday night. Sheriff's deputies said he had just passed a truck on I-94 and was returning to his lane when the car went out of control. Two truck drivers pulled him from the car as it burst into flames.

Stampede for Gold Hits Europe Market

Trading Curtailed in London, Record Sales Listed in Paris

LONDON (AP) — Europe's gold rush became a virtual stampede today and bullion dealers curtailed trading sharply in the London market.

The curtailment was the first such action taken since the formation of the international gold pool in 1960.

London dealers made clear there was no suspension of sales. They raised the price of gold five cents to $35.20 an ounce and refused to take small orders. No big orders were refused.

The action came as the Italian treasury described as "without foundation" a report from Zurich that the United States was shouldering Italy's share of bullion in the international pool.

In Washington, the Treasury Department also denied the Zurich report.

"That isn't even a good rumor," a Treasury spokesman said. "The report is without foundation."

The United States already contributes 59 per cent of the gold sold on the London market as part of the pool.

One prominent London bullion dealer said: "We are rather fed up with the whole thing and in the absence of any formal statement, we are shutting up shop until we clear up our vast backlog of orders."

The dealers' action came as the gold stampede in Europe reached near panic proportions.

Sales of gold in Paris reached a record of more than 15 tons, compared with the previous high Dec. 15 of 14 tons. Sixty to eighty tons were estimated to have been sold in Zurich during the morning alone.

Johnson Discounts McCarthy Showing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, speaking as the New Hampshire ballot count was revealing a surprising show of strength by Democratic challenger Eugene J. McCarthy, jokingly dismissed the importance of the Granite State primary.

Without mentioning Sen. McCarthy by name, Johnson drew laughs from a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention audience Tuesday night when he said:

"The New Hampshire primaries are unique in politics. They're the only races where anybody can run—and everybody can win."

Johnson also turned to jokes to jab at challenges to his Vietnam policies by members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which wound up Tuesday two days of questioning Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The President said of the televised hearings:

"We had a great cast—but no plot. We also had trouble picking a title—'Gunsmoke' was taken."

In a somber tone, he praised Rusk's defense of those policies and pledged anew there would be no retreat from America's world responsibilities.

"We take our stand to give stability to a world that needs it desperately," he said. "We rattle no sabers. We seek to intimidate no man. But neither shall we be intimidated. And from American responsibilities—God willing—we shall never retreat."

Besieged Base At Khe Sanh Gets Breather

Commanders Won't Speculate on Sudden North Vietnamese Easing

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces killed more than 300 enemy troops in four battles in the northeast corner of South Vietnam Tuesday, but enemy pressure on the besieged U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh slacked off.

North Vietnamese gunners who have poured an average of 350 shells per day into the Khe Sanh base, in the northwest corner of the country, fired only 35 shells Tuesday.

U.S. commanders declined to speculate on the reason for the sudden drop-off in the bombardment.

There had been some expectation that the North Vietnamese surrounding Khe Sanh would mark the 14th anniversary of the beginning of the siege of Dien Bien Phu, another isolated base whose loss was the last straw for the French. The U.S. Command had no word on action today at Khe Sanh, but there was no indication from newsmen there that there was any unusual activity.

Enemy Dead

About 25 miles east of Khe Sanh, South Vietnamese infantrymen and armored cavalrymen reported 194 enemy soldiers killed in a two-day battle that ended Tuesday night five miles north of the U.S. Marine headquarters at Dong Ha. Their losses were 39 killed, 91 wounded and 12 missing.

A government spokesman said most of the South Vietnamese casualties were suffered in a heavy artillery barrage that triggered the battle, the 10th major fight by the same units in the past two weeks.

Three miles to the east, U.S. Marines battled for eight hours with an estimated 600 North Vietnamese and counted the bodies of 35 enemy soldiers afterwards. Ten Americans were killed and 23 wounded

The 3rd Marine Division has its headquarters at Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone. Tuesday's other heavy fighting was below Quang Tri City capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province, eight miles south of Dong Ha. Fresh enemy units have been reported crossing the DMZ into the area recently

In a battle which continued into the night, soldiers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 59 enemy soldiers and seizing one suspect southwest of Quang Tri. U.S. casualties were withheld while the clash went on.

Other units of the division fought southeast of Quang Tri and reported killing 16 North Vietnamese, with one American killed and 20 wounded.

Rely on Planes

The Americans are relying a great deal on their planes to keep any major assault on Khe Sanh from getting started. B52 bombers raided enemy positions near the base four times Tuesday night and today. They also struck suspected enemy strongpoints in the A Shau Valley, near the Laotian border across the country from Da Nang. Other B52 raids came in Binh Thuan Province, 89 miles east of Saigon and on the central coast southwest of Tuy Hoa.

U.S. warplanes flew 76 missions against North Vietnam Tuesday, relying on radar to guide most of their bombing runs because of poor weather.

An exception was a raid by U.S. Navy pilots on the railroad yard 1.7 miles northwest of Haiphong. The pilots slipped through a small break in the overcast, made a visual strike on the busy railroad complex and reported six cuts in the rail lines.

Other pilots on this mission hit five surface-to-air missile sites and six other antiaircraft sites in the Haiphong area.

U.S. Air Force bombers struck the Kep airfield 38 miles northeast of Hanoi and the Ha Dong boat construction yard on a canal six miles west of the North Vietnamese capital.

First Serious Negro Challenge

Mississippi Rejects Evers For House by 2-1 Margin

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Rep.-elect Charles Griffin, landslide winner over the first serious Negro political challenger this century, today prepared to take his seat in Congress where he served as an aide for 18 years.

Griffin scored a 2 to 1 victory over Negro leader Charles Evers in Tuesday's special election to fill the House seat vacated when John Bell Williams resigned in January to become governor.

Evers said he will seek the post again and informed sources reported several white political figures will oppose Griffin when he enters the Democratic primary June 4 for a full term beginning next January.

No Racist Tone

The presence of Evers in the runoff and the absence of racist overtones marked the campaign, which ended with Evers visiting Griffin's headquarters to offer his personal congratulations Tuesday night.

The two men, shook hands, and Evers signed the guest book.

As the Griffin supporters standing nearby applauded, Evers said; "We're all Mississippians. If I'd won I'd expect the same thing"

Griffin's supporters crowded around Evers, shook hands and pounded him on the back in a display of high spirits

Griffin, 41, called the record vote an endorsement of his political philosophy. He describes himself as a conservative.

After 18 years as congressional aide to Williams, whose career was marked by feuds with national Democratic leaders on civil rights-related matters, Griffin's victory statement sounded a fresh note:

"My goal as your congressman will be to provide all the people of our district with dignified, honorable representation at the national level. My every deed and every act will be designed to make our people a congressman of whom they can be proud."

Exceeded Predictions

Unofficial returns from 296 of the district's 308 precincts gave Griffin 85,039 votes to 42,684 for Evers, with the 127,723 total topping both the first round figure and runoff predictions.

The campaign was notable for the absence of any race-baiting Griffin had supported federal aid in social, education and welfare areas, a moderate approach on those matters for Mississippi politics.

Evers had aimed his campaign at the poor of both races, proposing more social legislation and a welfare program to provide jobs for the poor. He also had opposed the Vietnam war.

Teacher Gains Assessment Hike On Reagan Land

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The tax value of land belonging to Marlon Brando, Bob Hope and Jack Benny is being studied by the high school teacher who successfully fought to raise taxes on Gov. Ronald Reagan's Malibu property.

The teacher, Brian Stevens, told newsmen Tuesday he has formed a group called Property Assessment Reform to look into property-tax discrepancies and bring them to public attention.

Stevens said Hope, Benny and Brando own land in the same area of Reagan's ranch and the property will be studied. There was no comment by any of the three.

The Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Board, after a recent hearing, ordered assessment on the 54 acres owned by Reagan increased to $54,100 from $7,500.

Lapel Button Gap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen have $30,000 salaries and office suites and staff workers and free mailing privileges and a nice restaurant in the Capitol—but they do not have lapel buttons.

However, Rep. Spark M. Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, is working on it.

Capitol doormen, elevator operators and policemen get confused about who's who in the 435-member House, Matsunaga said.

Matsunaga proposed creation of a special 10-member committee to study adoption and use of lapel buttons for the House members.

Meany Conditionally Accepts Union Leadership Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany has accepted a challenge for a special AFL-CIO convention to judge whether American labor is foundering under his leadership. But he said challenger Walter Reuther must first agree to abide by the verdict.

Reuther, the United Auto Workers president who joined with Meany to found the 14-million-member labor federation 12 years ago, can have the special convention he demanded "if he puts his gun away," Meany said.

Want Premise

Reuther, who for more than a year has been attacking the 72-year-old Meany's leadership in the AFL-CIO presidency as "stagnant," "undemocratic" and "vegetating," called a meeting today of the Auto Workers Executive Board to consider the offer of a special convention.

Meany said the AFL-CIO's 29-man Executive Council unanimously agreed to the demand for a special convention if Reuther first promises to show up and accept any decisions of the convention.

But he said the council "unanimously rejects out of hand the ultimatum" by Reuther that he will pull his 1.5 million Auto Workers out of the federation if he doesn't get the convention.

Meany said this didn't mean Reuther would have to promise not to secede from the AFL-CIO in order to get a special convention.

Reuther indicated earlier he couldn't accept any preconditions to a special convention.

"I pray that the American labor movement can see the light," said the 60-year-old, red-haired Reuther.

CIO President

Reuther gave up the presidency of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in 1955 to nominate Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, as head of the merged 128-union organization.

"This, I thought, was the spirit that brought us together 12 years ago," he said.

Reuther said the AFL-CIO had failed in its responsibility to organize millions more workers and to use labor's total resources to help solve racial discrimination, poverty and other social ills besetting the nation

The Auto Workers won some $5 billion in their recent three-year contracts with the auto industry, Reuther said.

City Destruction

"But what good is it if you get another dollar in your paycheck and your neighborhood is burning down?" he asked.

He also said the nation should spend at least as much to solve the crisis of its cities as it is pouring into the Vietnam war

"I see no value in saving Saigon if we can't save the cities of America," he said.

Reuther, speaking at the convention of the AFL-CIO's 6 5 million-member Industrial Union Department, said he favored neither a U.S. withdrawal nor escalation of the war in Vietnam. Meany is among Johnson's strongest war supporters.

'Friendly' Air Attacks

Laotians Repel Reds Close to U.S. Base

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian government troops pushed back two North Vietnamese battalions that had driven to within six miles of Thakhek, across the Mekong River from a U.S. air base at Nakorn Phanom, in Thailand, Laotian military sources reported today.

The sources reported fighting five miles east of Thakhek but said latest reports indicated the Communists were pulling back because of intense "friendly" air attacks.

U.S. Air Force sources in Bangkok refused to comment on reports that the combat air support to Laotian forces came from American planes based at Nakorn Phanom.

A Thai Interior Ministry official said 22 foreigners, most of them American government employes and British Colombo Plan workers, fled across the Mekong from Thakhek to Nakorn Phanom.

"Gunfire floated across the waters and flashes appeared in the sky as artillery fire was exchanged," said the Bangkok Post. "Shelling of Thakhek continued until 7 a.m. Tuesday with rounds hitting every few minutes After a two-hour lapse it was resumed."

Laotian military sources also said two battalions of Communist Pathet Lao troops reinforced by North Vietnamese attacked but failed to seize a government garrison 25 miles north of the royal Laotian capital of Luang Prabang.

The sources said the Communist drive has lost its momentum. No report on casualties has yet reached Vientiane.

Lunch Money Buys Lesson

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Acting on a tip, police arrested four youngsters including a 13-year-old boy, suspected of selling narcotics.

Questioning of the 13-year-old, police said, brought out the fact that the boy has been emptying medicinal capsules at his home, filling them with sugar and selling them to his classmates for 5 cents each as pep pills.

Officers quoted one classmate as saying, "you mean that's what I been spending my lunch money for each day?"

Officers said they took no action other than to brief the boys' parents on why the capsules were disappearing.

After 81 Years, Fancy Turning Into Marriage

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Charlie Brown took a fancy to the 7-year-old cutie in pigtails he saw regularly when he went to her father's barber shop for a haircut. That was in 1887.

Brown went off to fight the Boer War and then World War I. Annie Wintle married, raised 12 children, became grandmother to 31 and great-grandmother to 10 Brown also married.

Brown's wife died in 1951. Annie's husband died in 1962

LaFollette's Candidacy

The office of state attorney general has in modern times become an increasingly effective political launching pad for its occupants, no doubt because of the expansion of its duties and responsibilities and the corresponding increase in the prominence of its incumbents.

That Attorney General La Follette now proposes to elevate himself from that office to that of governor, by seeking his Democratic Party's nomination, is eminently plausible as the rules of politics are construed in Wisconsin.

He has plenty of precedent, even if only the last few decades are considered. The last Democratic governor was John W. Reynolds, who was elected to the executive office after two terms as attorney general. Vernon W. Thomson, now a member of the House of Representatives, is a recent example of the promotion of a Republican from the state prosecutor's office to the governorship. His three immediate predecessors, John E. Martin, Grover L. Broadfoot, and Thomas E. Fairchild, rose to seats on the state supreme court primarily because of the acquaintance and recognition they had earned as attorney general. No doubt the Democratic powers in Washington when they chose Justice Fairchild for the federal judgeship he now holds remembered his party services as Democratic nominee for U.S. senator in 1952, which in turn derived substantially from the circumstance that he had earned prominence as attorney general. The late Orland S. Loomis, when attorney general, was elected governor. The late John J. Blaine of Boscobel, attorney general more than four decades ago, rose to the governorship, and then to a U.S. Senate seat.

There are some differences in LaFollette's position. He is young, even in this period when younger men appear to have more appeal to an electorate that is younger than ever before. There is reason to believe that he would have deferred his ambition for another and perhaps more seasonable time, but that the pressure of his party and its allies was heavy in this year when Democratic fortunes, at least in a Wisconsin perspective, do not appear to be promising. Yet no serious observer of Wisconsin politics or recent elections is likely to dispute the hunch of the Democrats behind LaFollette that he is their best candidate, and particularly if Gov. Knowles is the Republican nominee again, which we regard as a reasonable surmise.

One word bore frequent repetition in LaFollette's announcement, the word "progressive." LaFollette's emphasis on that word was a tip-off to the strategy he will employ during the campaign. He will run in a sense as the heir of the LaFollette Progressive Party of his grandfather, father and uncle.

LaFollette's approach is not surprising. He could be expected to attempt to divorce himself from the memory of the Lucey campaign against Knowles two years ago and to disassociate himself from the Democratic presidential campaigning in Wisconsin in view of the current mood of state voters toward President Johnson and the war in Vietnam.

But we have a notion that he will need more than the accident of a widely known family name to win the highest office in Wisconsin from an electorate that has often before shown its capacity for close examination and discrimination at the ballot box.

What's the Strategy at Khe Sanh?

President Johnson, declaring he didn't want a Dien Bien Phu, required the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to sign a statement that Khe Sanh could be held. Since the President's military advisors have been so consistently wrong about the conflict in Vietnam, it is difficult to understand why the statement gave the President much assurance.

At this stage, when Khe Sanh is coming under ever-increasing artillery fire from the 30,000 North Vietnamese troops dug in around it, the threat of another Dien Bien Phu seems very real. More and more we must come to doubt the strategy of General William Westmoreland in spreading American troops so thin in Vietnam's jungles and outlying mountain areas.

In actuality, it sometimes appears that the strategy is aimed more at establishing a situation where more American troops must be rushed to Vietnam in order to save those already there. If this is the case, the tail is wagging the dog. More seriously, it is a tremendous disservice to the American troops who are being called upon to risk their lives in order to develop an American policy.

General Westmoreland's recent activation of a new military command is aimed at blocking what he called the North Vietnamese intention of seizing the northern provinces of Thua Thien and Quang Tri which he says Hanoi now considers its own. What he did not say was that in 1967 Task Force Oregon was organized of a combination of Army, Air Force and Marine units for the same purpose. The American activities and the enemy opposition meant the creation of 120,000 refugees. According to Jonathan Schall, who spent several weeks with Task Force Oregon last summer, "the American and Vietnamese officials who managed the camps estimated that about forty per cent of the province's population (Quang Tri) had passed through the camps during the preceding two years. Over the same period, the Marines, the Army, the Korean Marines and the ARVN had destroyed approximately seventy per cent of the villages in the province — which means seventy per cent of the houses." The policy was to destroy villages if hostile fire had come from them and sometimes the villagers were warned in advance and sometimes they were not since warnings meant the escape of any Viet Cong being harbored.

If, despite this extensive destruction and the effort through leaflets and loudspeakers to impress the population that it was all the fault of the Viet Cong, General Westmoreland anticipates "more very heavy fighting" what can be said of his strategy except for its value in convincing the President that another half million troops must be dispatched as soon as possible?

Black Racism in Guyana

Another nation in the Western Hemisphere is heading for elections this year and conceivably could honestly elect a Communist. But the vote will be determined, not by political views, but racial ones.

Guyana, formerly British Guiana, was granted full independence in 1966 although it had been prepared for self-government for several years, including national elections in 1964 according to rules set up by the departing British. Although the local leader, Cheddi Jagan, had been in control for seven years because his party, the People's Progressive Party, dominated the ruling legislature, he lost out in 1964 when there was proportional representation of the nation's three leading political parties in a single national constituency and the number of seats in the unicameral assembly were increased. Jagan, an avowed Communist, has been plotting ever since to get back in power.

Guyana is rigidly split according to racial lines. East Indians make up 50.1 per cent, Negroes 31.3 per cent, mixed bloods, 11.9 per cent, Amerindians 4.6 per cent and the rest Europeans and Chinese. Jagan is an East Indian. The present Prime Minister, Forbes Burnham, is a Negro. Both agree that their election depends on how many East Indians and how many Negroes cast votes. Both know exactly how those votes will be cast.

Ironically the East Indian population is devoutly Hindu, and capitalistic and would probably suffer the most from a real Communist government. The East Indians live in rural areas where they grow rice or make up the small shopkeeper population. The Negroes, many of them unemployed, are concentrated in the major cities. If political issues were paramount, the Negroes might be expected to vote for Jagan and the East Indians for Burnham. In addition to being a Marxist, Jagan is also criticized as being hopelessly inefficient and vague. Prime Minister Burnham has avoided racial friction in his four years in office, has given paramount importance to East Indian problems and has managed to hold together the coalition government of his party, the People's National Congress, and the United Force.

Although the East Indian population is slightly more than half, a large part of it is still under voting age. In addition, Burnham is seeking to register and encourage to vote the some 60,000 Negro Guyanians who are living abroad. Jagan concedes that he may not be elected this time around but that time, and the East Indian birth rate, are on his side.

However, even if elected, Jagan might have difficulty, in addition to his own inabilities, in ruling. British troops used to protect him but they are gone. The Defense Force and the police are at least 75 per cent Negro. There is also the possibility that Burnham would refuse to step down on the grounds that the country would disintegrate under Jagan. And there is always the question as to what the American role would be since our government considers communism dangerous enough to fight it with a major war far away in Asia.

White racism has been the cause of many evils in the world but other racial prejudices are just as overwhelming in their ability to cloud the real issues. In Guyana race prejudice may eventually elect a Communist government.

Opinions on the Impeachment

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for March 12, 1868.

Mrs. (Elizabeth) Stanton, in the Woman's Rights organ, the Revolution, thus deals with the pending impeachment question:

"As the President cannot remove Congress, but Congress can remove the President, his disposition from office seems the only road out of the difficulty. So let him slide.

"We are sorry to see a paying subscriber ot the Revolution come to grief, but we will try to make our columns as consoling as possible to him in his retirement.

Thurlow Weed says that Montgomery Blair has been the cause of all the trouble between the President and Mr. Stanton. He says that if Blair "had been a contemporary of Adam and Eve, he would have rendered the presence and vocation of the serpent superfluous."

Mrs. Gerald Galpin was the new president of Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Association. Others elected were Mrs. C. J. West, vice president; Miss Katharine Young, treasurer, and Miss Ethelnore Secord, secretary.

A group of Lawrence College Players gave the melodrama, "Love Under a Lamp or Left in a Cab" at Appleton High School assembly that week. Area students taking part in the play were Ann Mitchell, Shirley Foresman, William Nolan and Shirley Miller.

People's Forum

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Within the last several years we have seen more and more public expression of individual feelings concerning the problems we face today. The press, radio, and television have been giving considerable coverage to these opinions, as well they should. The public forums such as published letters and radio opinion shows, reveal increased concern and deepening gaps between opposing proponents of the issues.

It appears, though, that the greater majority expressing their feelings adopt an impersonal viewpoint concerning the Vietnam conflict, human rights, international relations, and other issues. Our nation is viewed as an entity of itself, having special rights, obligations, and conscience with which it can impose upon other nations what it considers truth, justice, or divine ordination. The nation becomes responsible as a whole for its actions, leaving each individual citizen free of legal or moral accountability. In other instances we see responsibility put onto our leaders, or if this doesn't seem sufficient, The 'Will of God' is invoked as an ultimate justification for our actions.

These are only excuses for the individual remaining complacent with a clear conscience while surrounded by inhumanity, but sooner or later reality will become our legacy. Each individual person is equally responsible for every action he, his community, or his nation is involved in. Each human being killed or maimed in Vietnam, each person denied his equality and persecuted, has a direct claim of responsibility on all of us. God, the President, or the bigot does not bear our guilt when we allow them to invoke upon another what we ourselves would detest.

This nation was founded upon individual rights and responibilities and these values must be maintained. The dissenters who have the courage to accept their responsibility and feel deeply the horror and guilt upon the whole nation as their own, are our true patriots. They love their county and its precepts, otherwise they would not voluntarily dissent against those in power, considering the grave consequences. Our nation is in a time now when the principle of individual responsibility is more important than ever. We must all seriously re-evaluate our personal involvement and realize that if we wish to build a sane, free, peaceful world, we must now alter the course of our nation.

This individual importance will have a trial on April 2 when we have the opportunity and responsibility to show the rest of our nation that we do care what our country stands for and that democracy does work. Thus far we have only one man that has seen fit to stand up and say we have been wrong and have avoided our responsibilities and that we can do something about it. Senator Eugene McCarthy is willing to provide us an opportunity to prove our belief in humanity and democracy. It is sad that both major political parties do not offer us a choice such as we have in the Democratic Party. The real issues, important to our survival as a truly great nation, are being debated within this one party. If we wish to make this year's election one involving significant issues and values, rather than merely a popularity contest between personalities, it would seem necessary for us to use our right to forget about party affiliations and vote according to our consciences. We can show in our primary election that we are truely Americans. We must seize this opportunity now or realize that we will have only more of the last several years, or worse.

Ehricke Deserves Merit Pay Raise

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In reference to the article about Mayor Buckley taking a "verbal slap at a merit pay raise granted Welfare Director Merton Ehricke by our city council,"—which was printed in your Saturday, March 9th paper — I have the following to say:

I felt very hurt over some of Mayor Buckley's intimations, and feel that I should set the record straight.

First of all, our welfare director deserves a pay raise The records will show any taxpayer that the welfare department is one of the very few departments that has saved us considerable tax dollars, mainly because of the remarkable efficiency of Merton Ehricke.

The mayor, nor anyone else, should have the right to even suggest that anyone, and particularly Mr. Ehricke, "dedicate his energies to the operation of his office." Merton Ehricke has the same right as anyone to take part in politics — or to pursue his ambitions to the fullest extent of his abilities, if he so chooses to do so. He may very well have made a fine mayor, if elected, because of his outstanding background of efficiency, and most of all — the way he understands people.

I have always found Mr. Ehricke in his office, and he has always returned my phone calls, upon request. I wish I could say the same for Mayor Buckley.

I, like many, approached Mr. Ehricke personally, and urged him to reconsider about being a candidate for the position of mayor. I felt his efficiency and the outstanding way he handled matters in his department contributed a great asset to our city of Appleton. With this admiration, I felt we needed Mr. Ehricke more where he was at, as we need more devoted men like Mr. Ehricke, rather than lose them to other cities, like we have in some instances in the past.

While the mayor is the executive director over all the city offices, he is not entitled to tell those department heads who to associate with, what ambitions to pursue, or to invade their individual rights, or personal individual responsibility for their own decisions, outside of that department's function.

If Mr. Ehricke reads this, it seems like so little to say a special "thank you" for the many years you have honestly devoted to our city. I only wish you could receive a little of the appreciation the mayor suggested you might give — God Bless You!

Mrs. Bette M Milheiser

State Now Devoting Major Attention to Milwaukee Problems

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — History may record the decade of the 1960s as principally important in the politics of the state as a time of reorientation of state policy affecting its major metropolis of Milwaukee.

Wyngaard

In the perspective of a quarter of a century, or even less, the change in state-city relations is truly remarkable. At the risk of being misunderstood by sensitive Democrats, and without discounting the possibility that some pragmatic Republicans see some partisan gains in the situation, it is fair to say that no state has shown more concern about the troubles and problems of its chief city and has attempted to do more to alleviate them than the regime that now rules the state government at Madison.

The State Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations has probably expended more thought and energy during the last several years under the command of Joseph C. Fagan on minority employment and other problems in Milwaukee than on any other matter within its jurisdiction.

STATE POLICY SYMBOL

A Negro now heads the equal rights division of Fagan's department, and besides being the ranking member of his race in the state government, stands as a convincing symbol of the reality of state policy in this field and its determination to apply civil rights laws to the letter.

There is no denying that the nature and the depth of Milwaukee's problems, and especially of its big Negro minority, are more serious than those of any other city in the state. It would be foolish to say that they will be easily resolved.

But the state is trying, perhaps not to the extent that Milwaukee desires and needs, but nevertheless to an extent that two decades ago or even more recently would not have been easy to conceive.

EARMARKED SCHOOL FUNDS

The legislature has made available a substantial, in view of its own financial dilemma, sum of money for the special use of "inner core" or Negro district schools. It has created a new state Department of Local Affairs, which as some of the other localities of Wisconsin may have observed, has spent most of its energies thus far on the problems of Milwaukee.

The most eloquent and uncompromising of the assurances of state administration concern about the problems of Milwaukee and its determination to assist in resolving them came recently from the newly chosen head of that department.

Douglas Weiford in a Milwaukee speech spoke directly to the Negro problem in all of its numerous and difficult dimensions. He said flatly that his department stands behind the civil rights movement "of this beleaguered minority group which rides with the sweep of history."

* * *

STANDS WITH THEM

"In this struggle I say to you — as an officer of the state of Wisconsin — that I stand with them,' said Weiford, as he acknowledged also that the essence of the city's problem is that of money.

There is other evidence of the deep concern of the state government leadership about the health of its principal city.

All of which is a far cry from the attitude in the statehouse only a comparatively short time earlier. Legislators used to refer derisively to "the state of Milwaukee," as they defeated or ignored altogether Milwaukee-originated legislation which they were convinced had no interest among their town hall voting constituents in the rural districts. A quarter of a century ago the strongest single bloc of votes in the Wisconsin Assembly was unblushingly self-labeled "the woodchoppers," as a means of identifying its narrow and parochial purposes.

RURAL LEGISLATOR TARGET

Milwaukee County then was regarded as a kind of milk cow, subject to the power of the rural legislative majority in extracting tax revenues for the benefit of the rest of the state.

Whether the state can effectively resolve the problem of its major city is doubtful. In any event, the road will be a long and hard one. State financial pressures are not significantly different in degree than those of the cities. But it is important to note that the problem is acknowledged, and that a beginning in the way of statehouse help, however modest and faltering, has been made.

Strictly Personal

U.S. Has Majority, Not Minority Problem

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"I was having coffee in a restaurant," said the lady, "and because I was in a hurry, I sat at the counter. Four men were sitting across from me — quite ordinary types, conventionally dressed, perhaps salesmen.

Harris

"In came two couples and sat down at a booth. The young women were quite unremarkable in every way — just the kind you see every day. The men with them were exceptional in their attire, but one of them wore his hair a trifle longer than most men do, and the other quite a bit longer.

"The two couples were chatting away quietly and amiably, bothering no one and attracting no attention. Then I saw one of the four men across the way nudge another and look over toward the two couples. Soon all four men were looking at them and whispering.

"The men got up to leave, and two of them went over to the coat rack, which was close by the booth in which the two couples were sitting. They put on their coats slowly and deliberately, standing right in front of the longish-haired men, laughing at them and pointing them out to their two freinds across the room. Then they shook their heads in obvious disgust, and stomped out.

"You know," she went on, "it really made me feel quite sick. The two couples weren't doing a thing, weren't even hippily dressed, weren't trying to attract attention, as some do. And, in our neighborhood especially, most of the boys in school — up through high school and college — wear their hair longer than the ordinary. Nobody pays any attention to it.

"But there was something so ugly about the calculated reaction of these men, something so mean and provincial and full of hate for no real reason, that it turned my stomach. It was an act of aggression—although not actually physical — without the slightest provocation. And, in a way, it was crueler than a blow struck in anger or passion.

"This is what frightens me in our country today, more than the riots or demonstrations by the underprivileged, by the poor or desperate. What frightens me is the — what shall I call it? — the 'hickishness' of ordinary people, the resentment of differences, the ignorance of other ways of life, the unthinking reaction and resistance to change, no matter how harmless or how necessary.

"Our country can handle its minority problems; it's the majority problem that troubles me — the almost hysterical need to make everybody conform to the pattern of the majority. This is the biggest threat democracy faces. And I saw the naked threat in the eyes of those four men."

Quitting Khe Sanh Gladdens Marines

By LEWIS M. SIMONS
Associated Press Writer

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — For more than two hours the 33 Marines waited, crowded together in the damp, dark bunker alongside the airstrip They were short-timers, Marines whose tour of duty in Vietnam was nearly up. They were going home

But getting out of Khe Sanh is almost as hard as staying. North Vietnamese gunners fire rockets and artillery at every plane or helicopter that tries to fly in or out.

As they waited a giant CH53 helicopter hovered into view and put down at a nearby aid station to pick up three wounded Marines on stretchers

Helicopter Left

In seconds mortars and rockets whizzed overhead and thudded into the runway a few feet from the green chopper. The pilot jammed the stick forward and the helicopter sped away, leaving the stretcher bearers cursing and frustrated.

Finally, a Marine who had ventured out of the bunker shouted, "Here comes a C123." The large transport swept low over the steel runway and touched down at nearly full speed

The pilot turned the plane around and taxied quickly to the unloading zone The loadmaster kicked pallets of cargo out the rear ramp One load was stuck and they lost a full minute getting it out

Ramp Closing

The waiting Marines dashed for the rear of the plane, but the transport began taxiing away and the ramp was closing

"Hey" one shouted, "Hey, goddammit, don't close it yet" One young trooper caught hold of the rising ramp and clung on, as if for life itself

The loadmaster pressed the button the ramp dropped and the Marines clambered aboard the slowly moving plane Not until the plane was fully airborne did the Marines raise their heads and uncoil their bodies from crouched positions on the floor One youngster let his helmet tumble off and sat unashamedly crying, tears running down his grimy face.

"Thank God," he muttered. "Jesus Christ, thank God"

For some 5,000 other Marines still waiting in the sandbagged holes of Khe Sanh there is little to be thankful for. They are targets, never knowing where or when the next round will fall, never knowing if the next one is meant for them.

"They're picking us off day by day, one at a time," complained a staff sergeant who has been in three wars. "This ain't the kind of Marine Corps I know."

His dissatisfaction was echoed by other Marines, trained as shock troops, geared to the quick surprise attack and then moving on, leaving the holding tasks to the Army.

Different Fight

"I don't like it one bit," said Cpl. Oronzo Bruno, 24, of Chicago. "They ought to turn us loose and bring the Army in here. This is no job for Marines."

His bunkermate, Cpl Skip Melville, 21, of Manhattan Beach, Calif., agreed, but tempered his opinion· "I think we ought to be on the offensive, too. But this is the situation right now and we've got to sit here, we've got no choice."

Yet the Marines have not been beaten down by bitterness.

"They're Marines," said Gunnery Sgt. Arnold C. Pate, 31, of Johnson City, Tenn "They want to fight. They'll gripe, but they're ready to fight"

Since they must sit and wait for the enemy, the Marines say they are looking forward to a ground attack, "so we can show them how Marines fight a war."

Awaiting Assault

The commander of the Marines at Khe Sanh, Col. David Lownds, 47, of Plantation, Fla, says his troops are eagerly awaiting an assault—"We're ready for him"

When or whether the North Vietnamese will attack is anybody's guess One senior officer didn't think the Communists would try a major assault

"I expect a slow, methodical, thoroughly Oriental kind of fight," he said

"Somehow I know we're going to come out of this and smelling like a rose,too But I can't for the life of me figure out how."

Tigerton Team Wins Valley Forensics Meet At Bear Creek High

BEAR CREEK — Tigerton students won the top awards in the Wolf River Valley forensic contest here Saturday at the high school

The local winner of an "A" rating in the interpretive reading of prose was Lois Probst, who read selections from Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood".

"B" winners from here were Dianne Bessette and Morris Zimmerman in memorized declamations, Connie Wege in interpretive reading of poetry and Martin Goffard in interpretive reading of prose

Watchdog of Congress

More Authority Sought By Accounting Office

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office is not like other government agencies

Variously described as prying, nitpicking, firm-minded, opinionated, it is a fiscal intelligence service that keeps 2,400 auditors roaming through the sprawling vastness of the federal government, looking for waste and for compliance with congressionally-prescribed pocketbook safeguards.

The comptroller general, who heads GAO, is appointed by the President for a 15-year term but GAO belongs to Congress. It is Congress' combined watchdog and gadfly operating on the executive branch, and Congress loves it.

In its most recent annual report, GAO claimed its activities saved the taxpayers $190.1 million.

Some Exemptions

Some activities of the federal government, however, are exempt from GAO audit. The supersecret Central Intelligence Agency and National Security Agency are, for obvious reasons

But some Congress members question why the Federal Reserve Board and the office of the comptroller of the currency are shielded from GAO scrutiny.

The Fed and the comptroller's office are two of the three principal agencies that supervise banks. The third is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp, which insures bank deposits.

GAO looks into the affairs of FDIC, but has feuded for years with that agency over withholding from its scrutiny some information FDIC says it must keep confidential

Broader Access

The issue of broader GAO access to the workings of the bank supervisory agencies has boiled up at hearings by the House Banking Committee on the quality of bank supervision.

Comptroller General Elmer B Staats testified GAO cannot make a meaningful audit of FDIC under the present restrictions. Faced with these, he said, a private auditing firm would withdraw.

Staat's testimony understandably got a friendly reception from Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the Banking Committee whose suspicion of big banks and feud with the Federal Reserve are legend in Congress

Some of Patman's colleagues, however, think he may fare better if the persent inquiry results in legislation pushing wider the doors of the bank supervisory agencies for GAO's auditors.

Causing Concern

While no one believes there is any widespread weakness in the U S. banking system, recent bank failures have caused congressional concern.

A committee witness on loan from GAO testified that from the establishment of the present system until 1965 the few banks closed by the supervisors were all small. But the closing of the San Francisco National Bank in 1965 and the Public Bank of Detroit, Mich., in 1966 changed the picture. The failure of the nearly $100 million Public Bank was the largest since the 1930s

For the first time in 18 years, a GAO spokesman said, the watchdog agency is talking directly to Congress about wider authority

And Congress loves the GAO.

Appleton Firm Interested in Site for Plant

Concrete Pipe Corp. Asks About Land In Industrial Park

Another industry — Concrete Pipe Corporation of Appleton — has notified city officials of its interest to construct a plant in the new industrial park.

Don L. Koepke, corporation president, has sent a letter to Mayor George Buckley and the city council disclosing his firm's interest in a 20-acre site at the old county airport property.

Koepke said he discussed the matter with Public Works Director Frank Keuler and now wanted to hold a detailed discussion with the appropriate city officials.

Committee Handles Land

The land acquisition committee of the board of public works has been handling negotiations for property sales at the industrial park.

"We are happy to be able to offer a site at a fair price to another industry," Buckley said.

In recent months the committee has had direct contact with other firms — local and from other parts of the state — interested in acquiring land for new offices or plants.

Negotiations for the city are being handled by City Atty. David Geenen, Planner Walter Rasmussen, Finance Director Henry Schreve, Keuler and Buckley.

Sherwood Legion To Hold Mixer

SHERWOOD — A spring mixer social will be sponsored May 4-5 by the American Legion post at its clubhouse. Final plans will be made April 2.

The post will sponsor a local boy at Badger Boys State at Ripon College in June. Because the community does not have a high school candidate, recommendations are being requested from the faculties of Hilbert, Kaukauna and St. Mary High School, Menasha. Qualifications include outstanding references in leadership, character and scholastic ability.

Tickets are now available from Walter Michiels and Florian Schmidt for the annual Calumet County American Legion Birthday dinner March 24 at Brant. Reservations must be made by March 19.

Roman Becker and Mervin Dallman have been named delegates to the 6th District Spring Conference next month at Ripon.

Short-Term Loan Helps Bank Until Vault Opens

CARLINVILLE, Ill. (AP) — When officials opened the Farmers and Merchants National Bank Monday they found the bank vault wouldn't open.

So they went across the street and borrowed a substantial amount of money from the Carlinville National Bank. The money—an interest-free loan—carried Farmers and Merchants through until noon when experts arrived from St. Louis, 50 miles south, and opened the vault. The loan was then returned to Carlinville National.

'The Impossible Years'

Comedian Tom Ewell Is Delightful In Tale of Harassed Psychiatrist

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

Tom Ewell returned to a Fox Valley stage after an absence of 36 years Tuesday night, and evoked almost continuous laughter from a near-capacity Variety Theatre audience with his expert portrayal of a know-it-all psychiatrist who lacks the knack of putting his own advice into practice as a parent.

Ewell, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, played Dr. Jack Kingsley, a titan of psychoanalysis who at home is "as psychiatrically oriented as Lawrence Welk," as his wife somewhat caustically puts it.

His vehicle for the Appleton High School-West appearance was Bob Fisher and Arthur Marx' gag-filled domestic comedy, "The Impossible Years."

Fine Farceur

An accomplished comedian, whose only previous appearance in the area was at Green Bay, in a Haresfoot Club production in the early 1930s, Ewell throughout the play demonstrated his well-known finesse as a farceur.

His reactions of dismay to the contortions — physical and verbal — of the young people; his well-polished "slow burn"; and, above all, his "morning-after" entrance, with red hair askew and bathrobe rumpled, turned a rather predictable, if cleverly written script, into excellent popular entertainment.

"The Impossible Years" is, of course, little more than an extended - length TV situation comedy — with broader sexual connotations than would be permitted by the network censors. But, on the evidence of last night's production, and of its sturdy record on Broadway, it stands on its own as a lively and believable romp — and the cast seemed to have as much fun doing it as the audience did in watching it unfold.

Michaele Myers played Alice, his wife, with just the touch of affection and irritation the role requires; Lynn Bilek was infuriating, yet sensuously attractive, as his newly-nubile daughter, Linda; and Connie Otto was properly demure as her pre-adolescent sister, Abbey.

Jeanne Bolan, who in private life is Mrs. James B. McKenzie, wife of the producer of the touring company, contributed a delightful cameo performance as Miss Hammer, the gym teacher. McKenzie, a native of Appleton, also manages the Peninsula Players at Fish Creek.

Tom Yourk was well-cast as the likeable Ricky, Linda's sometime "steady"; William Tynan played Bartholomew Smuts, an eccentric artist, as the caricature the authors obviously intended; Eric James was capable as Richard Merrick, the psychiatrist's somewhat colorless collaborator, and Carl Bensen had a nice moment or two as the doctor's stuffy publisher. Nanci Addision, Roger Garrett, Schorling Schneider and Kevin Dobson were hyperactive as Linda's poolside chums.

Leo B Meyer has fashioned a serviceable setting for the rapid-fire proceedings, and director Charles Forsythe paced the comedy at a necessarily hectic clip.

The remaining attractions in the Variety Theatre season are "The John Gary Show", May 1, and "The George Gobel Show", on a date to be announced.

Tenor's Voice Small, Taste Is Excellent

BY ROBERT BELOW

MENASHA — West Coast tenor James Schwabacher, presented by the University of Wisconsin, was heard in a recital with comments Tuesday evening at the Fox Valley Center.

His program choices throughout were informed by excellent taste. We made no new discoveries, aside from a delightful set of limericks by American composer Wallace Berry, but it is not often we are able to hear three songs each by Faure, Charles Ives and Mozart, plus four by Schubert.

Mr. Schwabacher's voice is small and his sense of pitch not infallible. Long held notes in particular are apt to waver. In fact, his total personality projects better than does his vocal artistry. As a result, he was at his best in humorous or lighthearted songs, where he can relax because he is less wholly preoccupied with vocal problems, and can to some extent act as well as sing. He is not as good in slow-moving lyric or dramatic songs, where his vocal equipment does not succeed in solving all the problems.

It was an evening with many pleasant moments, but not the complete artistic experience we hoped for when we first saw the program.

Pianist Donald Hazard was a dependable accompanist throughout the program, if a somewhat superficial one. Perhaps a better instrument would have called forth greater displays of artistry from him. The audience was unfortunately very sparse, and this may have restrained the performers somewhat.

2 Shawano Boys Drown in Lake

The bodies of Todd Bohm, 5, and Michael Samels, 4, were recovered after they were found floating in a four-foot wide hole.

The boys had ridden their tricycles about a block from their homes to the shore of the channel which connects the Wolf River with Shawano Lake.

When they failed to return home, members of the family and neighbors conducted a search of the area and spotted the small hole in the ice. City police and firemen and members of the Shawano County sheriff's department pushed a boat across the ice to the hole where they found the bodies.

Speaker Changed for Kimberly Lenten Rite

KIMBERLY — The Rev. Marlyn Schroeder, associate pastor of Mt. Olive Lutheran Church, Appleton, will speak at 6 and 7:30 p.m. lenten services tonight at Mount Calvary Lutheran Church.

He will replace the Rev. Richard Ziesemer who is unable to appear as scheduled. Topic for the visiting minister will be "Momentous Words of Our Savior to the Jewish Council."

Kramer Up for Parole in 1973

WEST BEND (AP) — Robert D. Kramer, found innocent in the slayings of two Waukesha County women, was to be returned today to prison where he is to continue serving sentences —at least until 1973.

Kramer, 28, formerly of Wisconsin Rapids, was found innocent Monday on two counts of first degree murder by Circuit Judge Milton L. Meister, and was taken to Washington County jail pending his return to Waupun State Prison.

Penal officials said Kramer will be eligible for parole in July, 1973, after serving the minimum portions of a 27-year sentence involving a 1966 assault on a young woman, and three consecutive 15-year sentences involving robbery convictions.

Antioch College Puts Tuition Up to $2,200

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Antioch College has announced it will raise tuition by $400 next year, making the yearly fee $2,200. The additional income will be used for faculty and staff pay raises and for student financial aid, the college said.

Experts Give Advice On Commodity Trading

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you are an ordinary small investor, you should NOT speculate in the multi-billion dollar commodity markets. You should NOT trade in futures contracts for such products as pork bellies, palladium, soybeans etc., UNLESS you have at least $10,000 in pure risk capital which you can afford to lose if you guess wrong on your commodity choices or on timing.

OK, but let's say you're still determined to speculate with a small amount of your capital in commodities and let's say you are aware of the risks involved. What are your basic ground rules?

Here are 10, from experts in the commodity division of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith:

Area of Interest

1) Before you put down a single dollar in commodities, choose a category of commodities which interests you, wheat, frozen orange juice, silver, beef, and find out everything you can about the product.

Areas you should study include price trends in recent years and months and current forces acting on the price of the product (weather, crop forecasts, government policies, inflation. currency changes, international politics). Possible sources of information are financial publications, trade publications, up-to-date books on commodity speculation, research from your brokerage firm, and lectures (often unadvertised) offered by a number of firms.

Profit Goal

2) Choose a brokerage firm which has had extensive experience in commodity futures trading, and which can provide you with facts on the commodities which interest you.

3) Also, before you invest, decide exactly how much money you can afford to risk. And decide how high is your goal for profits. In essence, make a plan, in advance, designed to limit your losses and to achieve profits which will be great enough to cover the series of small losses which you, as a commodity speculator, must expect to sustain over a period of time. As a general rule, aim for profits at least twice as high as the losses you are willing to take.

4) Avoid taking big losses by placing a stop order, to sell if your losses exceed a certain predetermined level. Consult a qualified broker on where the stop order should realistically be placed, and don't shrink from taking small losses frequently.

5) Don't sell out at small profits. Virtually the only way to make long-range profits in this market is to hold out for a few very substantial price rises among your speculations.

Avoid Big Risks

6) Don't risk the bulk of your capital on any single trade, even if you're convinced there is overwhelming evidence of a price rise in the commodity you choose. Unforeseen events of many kinds, from politics to weather, could drastically change the price outlook for your chosen commodity.

7) Risk only an amount of capital which is a fraction of the profits you believe you can anticipate.

8) Trade only on the basis of solid information. Don't plunge in on tips or rumors which might be solely aimed at tricking you into buying or selling.

9) Don't be mesmerized by the small margin requirements. For example, if the margin on a soybean contract is $600 and the total value of your $13,500 contract rises $100, don't take this tiny profit. This is akin to selling a stock priced at $135 to net $1 per share after commissions.

10) Approach commodity trading as an avocation rather than as a one-shot deal. Expect the first two or three years to be "education," very possibly costing you some of your capital.

Mother-in-Law Not So Bad, if Truth be Told

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Few groups in America take more ribbing, not all of which is good-natured, than mothers-in-law. But if the truth be told, about one out of five husbands has a higher opinion of his mother-in-law than he does of his own wife, because she is older, wise and appreciates his good qualities more.

Despite the wide variety of hair styles and lip adornments worn by men, you hardly ever see the needle-pointed, waxed mustache that film villians, barbers and foreign noblemen once wore. Perhaps there's a shortage of wax, or maybe modern man is too tired to twirl that type of mustache.

The baseball season will start soon, and the pro football fans are already yawning their way into a hibernation that will last until next August.

Leisure for Work

The more labor-saving devices you buy a wife, the more leisure time she has to spend fixing them herself or trying to get them repaired.

The thing that really impresses me most about women is their unerring ability to get a taxicab during a rainstorm, an ability few if any men possess.

If you see a guy who wears a coat that makes him look like a foreign correspondent, you can be pretty sure of one thing about him — he probably isn't a foreign correspondent. Most of the men in the business quit wearing that kind of coat about five years after World War II ended.

Once he's over 50, a fellow can get more of a thrill out of a new food, such as discovering what gazpacho soup tastes like, than meeting any number of chicks in miniskirts.

Only One Tan

The snows of January and February wouldn't be so hard to put up with if it weren't for all these birds who want to show off the tans they got on a winter vacation. The only bird I want to see with a Florida tan is the first robin of spring.

City dogs are so pampered and insulated from reality that they'd actually enjoy life more if some philanthropist would put a flea on them — just so they'd have a problem to keep them interested.

Nobody gets a bigger kick out of money than the fellow who inherits more of it than he had expected.

Don't plan to put away your earmuffs when April comes. The national political campaigns last until November.

Worldwide Optimism

An optimist is a man who buys his son a world globe to help him study a freshman course in geography and hopes it will still be useful to him when he's taking a senior course in international affairs.

It sure has been a long time, hasn't it, since you met a woman who got round-shouldered from bending down to make breakfast toast in the oven for her husband?

Why, with all the unexplored wonders of a wonderful world awaiting it, does a newborn infant spend so much of its time crying? It's probably because some heartless person has told it about all the government forms it will have to fill out in its lifetime.

Love is Strange

Love is as strange among teen-agers as it is among grownups. A parent here overheard his 14-year-old daughter make this happy comment over the phone to a chum: "Yes, I guess Ronnie is really crazy about me. Every time he sees me in the schoolyard he runs up and hits me, and I come home with a bruise on my arm."

One of the oddities about women that puzzles a man is why, when they have a cold, they use a paper tissue to stop their sniffles; when they are weeping at a wedding or a funeral, they use a lacy, embroidered handkerchief.

You begin to understand people when you realize that, no matter how close a friend may be to you, it is highly unlikely that he'll pick a rainy day to return the umbrella he borrowed.

Mother of 17 Gets Divorce At Waupaca

New London Woman Gains Custody of 7 Minor Children

WAUPACA — A mother of 17 children was among the three persons granted divorces by Waupaca County Judge Wendell Mc Henry. All charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

Evelyn D. Retzloff, 519 N. Water St., New London, was granted a divorce from George E. Retzloff, 53, route 1, Bear Creek. The couple, married July 14, 1934, was separated May 1, 1966. They had 17 children and at the time the divorce was granted seven of the children were less than 18 years old.

Custody of the children was granted to Mrs. Retzloff. He was ordered to pay $40 per week support for the children. A property settlement also was ordered.

Irene M. Boyles, 219 E. Main St., Weyauwega, was granted a divorce from Earl D. Boyles, 38, route 2, Fremont. The couple was married May 22, 1948 and separated July 10, 1967.

They had two children and at the time of the divorce one was less than 18 years old. He won custody of the minor child but was ordered to make a property settlement.

Thomas L. Thorn, 32, Scandinavia, received a divorce from Karen L. Thorn, 909 N. Gillett St., Appleton. The couple was married March 23, 1957 and separated Aug. 1, 1967. Custody of their two minor children was awarded to his mother, Mrs. Walter Thorn, Scandinavia. A property settlement also was made.

Probation Ordered for Theft of IDs

Rural DePere Youth Also Guilty of Criminal Trespass

James M. Janz, 18, route 2, West De Pere, was placed on two years probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services Tuesday after he was found guilty of criminal trespass and stealing 50 blank Wisconsin identification cards from the home of the Town of Oneida clerk.

Janz was arrested early last month following investigation by several Outagamie and Brown county police agencies. Although the cards were stolen Dec. 17 from the home of Oneida Town Clerk Richard Peterson, the loss was not reported to police until Jan. 31.

An Outagamie County sheriff's investigator testified Tuesday afternoon in Court Branch 2 that several juveniles are awaiting court action in Brown County in connection with the entering of Peterson's home and the taking of the cards.

The investigator said that police still are attempting to gather some of the stolen cards, which reportedly were sold to students at West De Pere High School.

The court was told Tuesday that Janz had no previous record. He has been in jail since his arrest last month.

Veterinarian Dies Tuesday

William E. Popelars City Meat Inspector For 18 Years

WEYAUWEGA — William E. Popelars, 78, veterinarian, died after a short illness early Tuesday morning.

He served as city meat inspector from 1949 until his retirement April 5, 1967. He was born in Manitowoc County Sept. 17, 1889.

Popelars graduated from the Chicago Veterinarian College in 1916, and came to Weyauwega in 1918. He was presented with a 50-year veterinarian service pin in June.

He was an active member of the Masonic Lodge and past member of the American Legion post at Weyauwega.

Private funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Kline-Hanson-Dahlke Funeral Home at Weyauwega. The Rev. DeLoyd Huenink, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Oakwood Cemetery.

Harold B. Moes, district supervisor for the appraisal firm of James A. Laird Co., Appleton, identifies himself to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert O. Knox, 512 W. Northland Ave., Grand Chute, before checking statistical data needed for the major property reappraisal program underway in Grand Chute. Field worker Jim Jobelius, stands ready to measure the building with a "10-foot pole" to get outside dimensions of the residence, information necessary for completion of the property inventory record card.

Appraisers Work in Grand Cl

Field work involving personal contact with property owners, a part of the major property reappraisal program underway in the Town of Grand Chute, began this week as employes of the James A. Laird firm started gathering on-the-spot statistical data in three residential sections.

The Appleton-based firm, sixth largest of its kind in the country, was hired by the town for the reappraisal program.

Field workers carry identification to prove their association with the appraisal firm and reportedly, property owners have this far cooperated well in allowing the men to do their work. Without adequate cooperation, data gatherers must rely on guesswork which frequently results in a higher appraisal figure, company officials said.

Factors Considered

Work now in progress involves measuring for exterior building dimensions, tabulating built-in features such as plumbing and heating and interviewing property owners regarding age of the home interior construction, etc. The field men are not concerned with furnishings in a house, only with equipment that is built in.

Information collected by the field staff is needed to establish new, accurate property records which, when completed, will be used by appraisers to determine property values.

Purpose of the reappraisal is to correct asses ties.

Court Orders Bindover on Forgery Charge

Thomas A. Zimmerman, 24, a State Reformatory inmate, Tuesday afternoon was bound over to Circuit Court for the entering of a plea on a forgery charge brought following investigation by Appleton police.

Zimmerman had a preliminary hearing before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller last Friday, but the judge delayed the bindover until Tuesday. The former Appleton man is in jail under $3,000 bond. He has a court-appointed attorney.

Zimmerman, who was brought here from California last month, is accused of issuing a forged $72 check Jan. 18 at The Maritime Tavern in Appleton.

Antipollution Plan Finished By 4 States

Multimillion-Dollar Proposals Aimed At Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — A multimillion-dollar plan to curb pollution of Lake Michigan was completed Tuesday by representatives of four states and the federal government.

The proposal, expected to cost hundreds of millions of dollars in city, state and federal funds, includes steps to reduce pollution from cities, factories, mills, dredges, boats—even from fish.

"The great thing here is the unanimity of the states and the federal government," said the chairman, Murray Stein, chief enforcement officer of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration. States involved are Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Go to Udall

Conference recommendations must go to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for consideration.

The first proposal is to reduce the amount of oxygen-decreasing phosphates in municipal and industrial wastes discharged into the lake.

Municipalities and factories not connected with city sewer systems will be required to provide waste treatment to reduce phosphorus in their discharge by at least 80 per cent. The improvements are to be substantially completed by December 1972.

The moderating word, substantially, was added in the final draft of the plan which also decreased the required reduction of phosphorus from the 90 per cent proposed in the initial draft.

Waste Treatment

The conferees agreed that, within six months, the states will list municipalities and industries discharging waste into the Lake Michigan basin. The Interior Department will provide a similar list of federal installations. Detailed plans then will be drawn for treatment of all wastes having a harmful effect on the lake.

They also recommended continuous disinfection by May 1969 of the outflow from municipal waste treatment plants and for industrial wastes which might cause disease among persons coming in contact with lake water.

Combined sewers, which carry sewage and storm runoff in one pipe, are to be prohibited in new developments and separated in reconstruction projects, effective July 1977.

Bigger Tax Boost Could be Sought

Troop Buildup Would Cost More Than 10 Per Cent Currently Asked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, shifting emphasis from economic to military arguments for higher taxes, says a bigger hike than originally sought may be needed if 200,000 more men are sent to Vietnam.

Fowler told the Senate Finance Committee Tuesday no decision has been made on any big manpower addition to the war zone. But he added that if it comes about, the administration will need more than the 10 per cent tax surcharge it has already requested.

Charles J. Zwick, director of the Budget Bureau, said sending 200,000 more men to Vietnam could cost $4 billion.

Home Sacrifice

Although the administration hasn't abandoned economic arguments for the surcharge, the emphasis on Vietnam requirements appeared designed to win friends for the proposal in Congress and among the public by appealing to patriotism and sacrifice at home.

Fowler made his strongest bid so far to get the surcharge labeled a war tax.

Some Congress members complained last year the administration lost its chance to win quick approval of the surcharge by not calling it a war tax—a term understandable to everyone.

There was some sentiment among administration advisers for using the war-tax label. But when President Johnson sent the measure to Congress he dwelled mostly on such issues as inflation, availability of mortgage money and the need to counter a rise in interest rates.

Controls Unneeded

Responding to a question by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Fowler told the Finance Committee he does not believe there will be a need for wage, price and credit controls.

But Fowler said if more men are sent to Vietnam, he would favor an entirely new fiscal package, including deeper cuts in domestic spending in addition to higher taxes "or a combination of both."

Fowler said he favors a pending bill to extend excise taxes on autos and telephone service.

The Treasury chief also said he would support a plan by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to attach the administration's 10 per cent tax-hike proposal to the excise measure.

Banker Found Innocent Of Lobbying Illegally

MADISON (AP) — It's taken a long time to prove my innocence," said Milwaukee banker Howard J. Meister after a Dane County Circuit Court jury acquitted him of four illegal lobbying charges.

"There have been many battles that have cost many dollars," Meister said, "but every penny was worth it. It has proven one thing—that I'm just not guilty of any of the counts."

District Atty. James Boll, who filed the misdemeanor charges after a John Doe investigation last summer, said he had "no comment" on the verdict.

He said state law does not allow him to appeal the case.

Bank President

Meister is president and majority stockholder of the Continental Bank and Trust Co., formerly known as the West Side Bank.

He was charged with talking to four assemblymen in May and June of 1965 about a bill to permit branch banking in Wisconsin. The jury deliberated three hours before finding him innocent.

The verdict ended 18 months of court action against Meister. It started with a grand jury investigation and indictment in June, 1966.

Both sides completed brief testimony and summations Tuesday.

Boll contended that Meister should have paid the required $10 registration fee before speaking with legislators about the measure.

Meister's attorney, Norman Skogstad of Milwaukee, contended throughout the two-day trial that the banker was "out here as a sincere individual expressing his views," and every private citizen has that right.

Power Failure Hits Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—A power failure plunged much of Sheboygan into darkness for two hours Tuesday night leaving homes without light and heat with temperatures in the mid teens.

St. Nicholas Hospital had to go on emergency power when the electricity failed.

Johnson Nudges McCarthy in Primary

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Nixon was out to erase the label of loser pinned to him after defeats for the White House in 1960 and for the governorship of California in 1962.

Nixon said it was "a smashing victory." Rockefeller said it was not significant because there was no competition.

These were the returns:

With 99 per cent of the anticipated 54,000 Democratic votes counted, Johnson had 26,337 ballots, McCarthy 22,810.

On the Republican ballot, with 99 per cent of the expected 106,000 votes in, Nixon had 84,005, Rockefeller 11,691.

Nixon and McCarthy were listed on the ballot; Johnson and Rockefeller were not. The total turnout in both parties was far larger than had been anticipated.

Stirs Concern

Despite the Johnson ridicule, there could be no doubt that the outcome in snowy New Hampshire stirred concern at the White House. That concern may not in fact be about McCarthy himself, but about the possible impact of his showing on the course of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Few believe that McCarthy can wrest the Democratic nomination from Johnson. McCarthy himself is one of the few. "With the momentum we have here in New Hampshire and with the experience of now-adult staff and campaign workers, we can go on to the nomination in Chicago," he told his cheering, youthful aides in Manchester.

But it is the suddenly enigmatic Kennedy who is more likely to be the major concern of the men who work for Lyndon Johnson.

Plans the Same

Kennedy himself said McCarthy's showing had not, at least now, altered his decision against challenging Johnson. He said he might have something further to say about the New Hampshire outcome later.

"At the moment, my plans haven't changed," Kennedy said in New York.

There was no Kennedy write-in effort in New Hampshire, and no outpouring of unsolicited support for the New Yorker. He was polling a miniscule 1 per cent of the vote.

McCarthy did not talk like a man who would willingly step aside to see Kennedy take over the torch of dissent to Johnson's leadership.

"I intend to go on in Wisconsin and on to California," McCarthy said. "I've said that I would run as long as anyone wanted me to. And I mean to do that."

Wisconsin is the next state to vote on potential presidential nominees, balloting on April 2. In that state, unlike New Hampshire, all candidates are automatically named on the ballot unless they file disclaimers of candidacy. That means Johnson's name will be on the ballot there.

The President is not expected to do any personal campaigning, although some form of loyalist effort in his behalf is virtually certain to be staged.

"On to Wisconsin," McCarthy cried as the New Hampshire vote rolled in. He said he would take a couple days off, then head for that next primary state.

On the Republican ballot, Nixon was left without a real rival when Michigan Gov. George Romney withdrew as a presidential candidate 12 days before the primary.

Romney's showing—his name remained on the ballot—gave some evidence of why. He drew about 2 per cent of the vote.

Campaigning solo, Nixon urged Republicans to turn out in massive numbers, back him and —as he put it—signal the nation that New Hampshire wanted new leadership in Washington. He claimed the state's Republicans had done just that.

"America is going to get new leadership in the fall," he said at his New York campaign headquarters. "We have won in New Hampshire and we are going to win in Miami." That is where the Republican National Convention opens Aug. 5.

While Rockefeller brushed off the vote in advance, saying Nixon "deserved it, he's worked hard for it," the former vice president said the returns "far exceed our expectations."

Cover Removal Not Cure

Gold Plan Called Temporary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate supporters and opponents of the administration bill to remove the gold cover on the nation's currency have agreed it's a temporary measure and won't solve basic economic problems.

Both sides took this stand Tuesday as the Senate opened debate on the House-passed legislation. A similar view was expressed by economists and gold dealers in Europe where heavy gold-buying by speculators continued.

Proponents argued the gold-cover legislation should be passed quickly as evidence of U.S. determination to make available its entire gold stock to back up the traditional $35-an-ounce price for the metal. Currently, each $1 of currency must be backed by 25 cents worth of gold.

Administration officials made clear they were hopeful final congressional action would stop the run on gold in European markets.

The Senate's Democratic strategists were aiming for quick passage, perhaps as soon as today.

However, several amendments were to be offered.

Not Endless

Gold dealers and economists in Europe applauded the bill, which would free $10 billion worth of gold for the fight against speculators. But most of them said the measure would offer only temporary relief.

The London Telegraph said in an editorial "the Americans simply cannot go on freely offering gold at $35 an ounce much longer. Nor can they now postpone a decision until after the presidential elections in November."

Gold sales in London Tuesday were about double Monday's level, but sales did ease there in the afternoon. Paris sales amounted to almost 12 tons, second highest level in French history. The record of 14 tons was set last Dec. 15.

Gold sales also were heavy in Frankfurt, Rome and Brussels.

In Washington, the government made an additional $450 million in gold immediately available to back the dollar abroad.

Atomic Cocktail Must Be Prescribed Carefully

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M D.

Dear Dr Molner: I noticed a letter from Mrs. W. C. about the "atomic cocktail." What exactly is it? — J. B.

Dear Doctor: Please advise the amount of iodine in the atomic cocktail. I have a golfer and thought it might help. — C. W.

Dear Doctor: I have the same troubles Mrs. W. C. wrote about — my legs swelling. But it seems these druggists don't know anything about it. — Mrs. L. J.

Evidently some misunderstandings needs clearing up.

The atomic cocktail, so-called, is a solution containing the isotope of iodine — that is, iodine which has been treated to become radioactive.

The amount is varied, depending on the needs of the patient being treated, and is calculated very carefully. In other words, this is not a drug store remedy for people to try on themselves It must be administered by physicians with specialized training in its use.

For cases requiring it, it is useful indeed. Since the thyroid gland needs a trace of iodine to function properly, the body carries iodine to the gland If the iodine happens to have been made radioactive, it also is carried to the thyroid The radioactivity then can be used as a means of reducing the activity of a gland if it is overactive

The atomic cocktail also has other uses: The radioactivity, although relatively faint, can be accurately measured by suitable instruments, and it thus is possible to measure the "iodine uptake," or the rate at which the thyroid collects iodine This can be very important in diagnosing thyroid conditions.

Mrs L. J. and other readers with the same idea should keep in mind that there are multiple reasons for swelling of the legs, so there is absolutely no point to jumping to the conclusion that because one case was helped by the atomic cocktail, that that would be the right treatment in other cases. It could be exactly the wrong treatment if the swelling was due to some other cause.

The atomic cocktail is a most valuable discovery, and has been used with beneficial results in many thousands of patients, but it is a sophisticated therapy which can be used only by experts possessing specialized training and equipment.

Incidentally, since radioactivity is involved, there was speculation as to whether it might tend to induce leukemia, which under some conditions can be more prevalent because of radiation effects.

Dr. Molner

It was good news earlier this year when Drs. George E. Thoma and Eugene L. Saenger, of the University of Cincinnati, announced that they had studied the records of 36,000 patients, scattered through 26 medical centers, and found that there was absolutely no difference in the prevalence of leukemia among patients who have had the atomic cocktail and those who had not.

Dear Dr Molner: What is inguinal herniorrhaphy? I knew it was a hernia, but what does the rest mean? — C. B.

Herniorrhaphy is surgical repair of a hernia, or rupture. Inguinal means that it is a hernia in the groin rather than elsewhere.

Dear Dr Molner: My husband is on a low calcium diet because of kidney stones. Does any product made with non-fat dry milk or calcium propionate added to retard spoilage have a high calcium count, or is it safe for him to eat such a product? — Mrs D P

Non-fat dry milk has a high calcium content The calcium propionate is also a calcium salt. Both should be avoided in your husband's case

Kindergarten to Register Friday

HORTONVILLE — Registration of kindergarten pupils for the 1968-1969 school year will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday in the kindergarten rooms of the elementary school

Kindergarten classes will not meet Friday because of the registration. Parents of children to be registered have been asked to use the north entry to the building by Gene Riedl, principal.

To be eligible a child must have reached his fifth birthday by Oct 1, 1968 For registration it will be necessary that parents bring the child's birth or baptismal certificate and a record of past shots and illnesses.

Riedl said the child need not be present for the registration

Children presently in grades 1-5 will receive a pre-registration form from teachers which will be filled out at home and returned to the school Students not presently in the public school will need to come to the school office for registration.

Similar procedure to that of the lower grades will be used for sixth and seventh graders who will receive junior high school class registration forms from the guidance office.

More Than 100 students from 12 Outaagmie County high schools had an opportunity to see local government in action Tuesday when they participated in the annual American Legion County Government Day at the courthouse in Appleton. The day began (above) with a visit to the county board meeting. During the morning and afternoon the students visited with elected officials. Outagamie Is First County To Have Housing Authority

39-3 Vote Creates New Branch

Outagamie County has become the first county in Wisconsin to create a county housing authority.

A five-man commission to operate the authority will be appointed by Esler. Two of the commissioners may be county officials.

Under enabling state legislation which became law last December, a county housing authority has the same powers as a municipal housing authority and would operate in areas of the county where there is no local housing authority.

Federal Funds

In addition to the naming of a five-man commission, the county must have a comprehensive plan and a workable program to be eligible for federal funds for low-rent housing for the elderly.

Officials from the State Commission on Aging said the county probably could qualify as having a comprehensive plan under its membership in a regional planning commission but that a workable program, including minimum housing standards and other minimum codes, would be needed in the community where the housing project would be located.

In citing the need for an authority, Esler said that according to the 1960 census Outagamie County had more than 8,000 residents over the age of 65. By 1980, he said, the figure will be more than 11,600.

Appleton, which has about 50 per cent of the over 65 population, already has a housing authority as does Kaukauna. Several other communities in the county have been considering authorities.

Esler said surveys have indicated the need for low-rent housing for the elderly in the Kimberly-Little Chute-Combined Locks area.

Opposed to the creation of the county authority, were Supvs. Eugene Kloes, Ralph Schwartz and Charles Wussow, all of Appleton, Five supervisors were absent for the vote.

Chief's Recommendation

Meter Maids on Wheels

Appleton's meter maids would have more mobility and check meters and time-parking areas under a trial plan recommended Tuesday by Police Chief Earl O. Wolff.

He asked the city council's public safety committee to provide vehicles for the five women in his department. They presently check meters on foot.

Wolff said it would enable him to take two full-time policemen off time-parking detail and assign them to regular police functions.

The chief suggested the test period be from April 1 to July 1.

"It will in effect give us two additional patrolmen," Wolff explained, "And the metered and other time-parking areas would all be checked by the women checkers."

Wolff said the three-month trial would determine any problems arising out of a revised checking system, along with determining more accurately the number of time-parking violations.

The meter maids would be assigned the three-wheel cycles now used by patrolmen checking out the time-parking areas.

At night the vehicles would be used by patrolmen on beats in the central part of the city and other business districts.

The committee felt before it could recommend the trial program to the council, the existing ordinance may have to be revised.

The matter was referred to City Atty. David Geenen for an informal opinion.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman and council president, said the city would automatically save at least $2,000 in operational costs, along with having two more officers available for regular police duties.

Harrison Denies Easement for City Pipeline

Town Officials Give No Reasons but Will Discuss Issues

The Town of Harrison has denied Appleton's request to install a water pipeline in a town road right-of-way but did not give a reason, it was revealed today.

However, Atty. Robert W. Lutz, Chilton, representing the town board, pointed out in a letter to Public Works Director Frank Keuler that "the reasons for denial are manifold . . ."

Lutz did indicate the board would be willing to sit down with Appleton officials and discuss the request.

The city is seeking a permit from the town to use the right-of-way for the pipeline between the intake point at the shore of Lake Winnebago to the junction of State 114 and U.S. 10.

Much Consideration

The town road lies on the county line between Calumet and Winnebago counties.

Lutz said the town board arrived at its decision after giving the matter much consideration.

Copies of his letter were also sent to City Atty. David Geenen and Robert Deland, chairman of the Appleton Water Commission.

The first reaction of city officials was that they would seek to arrange a conference with the town board to learn of its objections.

Geenen felt the situation did not represent a problem as far as the city was concerned.

"There are steps the city can take to get relief from such a situation," Geenen said. He did not elaborate.

Courthouse Lawn Eyed

Board Shelves Parking Until Jail Plans Jell

Plans to conduct a cost survey and secure options on land around the courthouse for parking were temporarily slowed by the Outagamie County Board Tuesday as a request for option money by the public property and insurance committee was referred to the finance committee for study.

Meeting the same fate were jail remodeling plans.

Supervisors tied in the parking problem with future plans for the jail and with the contention that the courthouse lawn should be converted to parking before any land is purchased.

Reduce Parking

Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton, a member of the committee seeking the option money, said he wanted a determination of whether the courthouse and jail were going to remain at their present location or whether the facilities would be moved. "The county is a service orgaization," Mares said. "If we can't afford to stay here, then move. We can't limit the parking."

His last remark came in reference to a proposal by Supv. Clayton Van Dyke, Kaukauna, that the present four-hour parking around the courthouse be reduced to one-hour parking.

Van Dyke said county employes now take up all of the parking spaces and that it was not up to the county to provide employe parking. If the parking time limit was reduced, he contended, there would be sufficient parking for people having business at the courthouse.

Supvs. Sugene Kloes, Appleton, and Sylvester Lenz, Kimberly, objected to any plans for purchasing land for parking until the courthouse lawn was used.

Afford Grass

"With inflation, we can't afford grass in front of the court house," Kloes said. "Our first effort to solve the parking problem is to yield the lawn." Lenz said he also was opposed to purchasing any land until the lawn was blacktopped.

New London Supv. Walter Fredericks, chairman of the public properties committee, charged that Kloes was seeking the answers before the study was made. He said they did not plan on purchasing any land but only wanted to obtain the costs and secure options in the event the board decided to purchase the land.

Catholic School Council Slated In Little Chute

Panels of parents and students will discuss school questions at the annual Spring meeting of the Green Bay Diocesan Guidance Council, scheduled from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Saturday at the St. John High School, Little Chute.

"Communication, Public Relations and Discipline," will be the topic for the parents' panel, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Patterson and Ralph DeDecker, Appleton.

Four Xavier juniors will be on the student panel, which will discuss "What We Would Hope to Receive from Our Teachers." Patricia DeNoble, Ann Garvey, Ann Springer and Gail Warne will participate.

West Allis Man Jailed At Waupaca

WAUPACA — Edward Steele, 39, West Allis, owner of the Town of Union Cheese factory which was the scene of a wild all-night drinking party Feb. 3, has been returned to Waupaca to start serving a 30-day jail sentence.

Steele pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, Feb. 5 and was given until March 5 to pay a $100 fine and costs. When he failed to pay the fine he was taken into custody by West Allis police and returned to Waupaca by sheriff's department officials.

During the party at a cheese factory, which was attended by several members of a Milwaukee motorcycle gang, a 25-year-old Milwaukee woman was allegedly raped and later shot. As the result of the incident several Milwaukee men have been charged by Waupaca County authorities.

Reformatory Farm Expansion

Oneida Asks Help in Fight To Block Land Acquisition

Support from the Outagamie County Board was requested Tuesday by Supv. Norman Austin, Town of Oneida, in the town's fight to stop the state from taking additional land for a new state reformatory farm.

Austin, who also is town chairman, said the state wants to take 1,800 additional acres of land when it already has about 3,000 acres of farm land it could use.

He said the town cannot afford to lose any more of its tax base and urged board backing in efforts to block the state proposal.

A hearing will be held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. March 15 at the bunkhouse on state farm land in the town on the proposed land acquisition.

The present reformatory dairy farm is located adjacent to the reformatory in the Town of Allouez between Green Bay and De Pere and is surrounded by a residential area.

The state contends its present farm in the Town of Oneida is unsuitable for dairy farming and is seeking the additional land for dairying.

Wants Council to be Told

School Fund Shifts Questioned

An Appleton alderman has questioned whether the board of education is spending money on items originally budgeted for, or making fund transfers for other purposes.

Ald. William Wachtendonk (3rd) has submitted a resolution, which has been referred to the city council's school advisory committee, requesting the school board to notify the city of any fund transfers.

"Over the years questions have been raised during budget hearings as to what use the school board puts the money after the city council gives it an appropriation," Wachtendonk said Tuesday

Wachtendonk, an accountant, said he has made studies of his own and was inclined to believe fund transfers were being made within the school board budget.

Nine More

"In other words, the possibility exists the school board is not spending money on programs and other items set forth specifically in the budget," Wachtendonk declared.

Recalling that the school system has been able to hire more personnel and create positions than were budgeted for in past years' budgets, Wachtendonk said he wanted to know from what accounts money was being transferred.

"This has been a situation that has puzzled many persons," Wachtendonk said.

He admitted that at the end of the year the board of education shows that it transferred monies into various accounts but contended there was no indication as to where the money came from.

"I'm not saying the school board has a padded budget every year, but this is something to look into," Wachtendonk said.

Ald. Norman E. Beyer (20th), chairman of the school advisory committee, has not indicated when he plans to call a meeting of his group to consider Wachtendonk's resolution, and there is speculation it won't be until after the April 2 election.

Wachtendonk's resolution, which must be approved by the council before it goes to the board of education, resolves that " . . . The school board notify the council of any fund transfers within the school board budget; the information to include the account numbers and the name of the account used by the school board."

City Procedure

Wachtendonk said the city now follows such procedure with the council being notified any time there is a fund transfer.

"It's a matter of good, sound business and bookkeeping," Wachtendonk declared.

Wachtendonk felt if the school board would follow the terms of his resolution, it would be of assistance to aldermen when they consider board of education requests at budget time.

"If money is budgeted for a certain item or program, it should be spent on same, not transferred out of an account and spent on something else not included in the year's budget," he said.

"If the school board would notify the council at the time a transfer is made, telling us where the money is coming from and where it is going, it would make for a good liaison between the council and board of education," Wachtendonk said.

Wachtendonk's resolution is the second presented council in the same number of weeks concerning board of education fiscal and school construction policies. The first was introduced by Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th).

Tews asked the school board to provide the council with a new school construction program covering "a reasonable foreseeable future."

Council Holds Fate of Beer Age Advisory

Appleton will not have an advisory referendum April 2 on whether the state should raise the beer drinking age to 21 — unless the city council decides otherwise next Wednesday night.

The council's welfare - ordinance committee Tuesday night, after considerable discussion and several informal votes, decided to take no action on a housewife's request to hold the referendum.

Second Thoughts

Committee members cited an opinion by City Atty. David Geenen that he did not think such a referendum fell within the jurisdiction of the city council. Even if a referendum were to be advisory on a matter dealing statewide, it would be illegal, according to Geenen.

Some time ago the committee gave the Appleton woman assurance if it was legal to hold the referendum, it would make a recommendation to the council in time so the question could be on the April 2 ballot.

At first the committee was going to receive and file the referendum request, which in effect killed it.

However, some aldermen then had second thoughts in view of the approaching election and decided to hold the matter in committee until after April 2.

The purpose of the referendum request was to let the State Legislature know the feeling of residents here on raising the beer drinking age from 18 to 21 on a statewide basis.

'End of Summer' Is March Film Festival Title at Shangri-La

"End of Summer", a half-hour film dealing with the thoughts and problems faced by teens, will be shown and discussed at the March film festival at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Shangri-la Coffee House in St. Joseph School.

The film deals with the thoughts, and feelings of a group of adolescent girls during a summer vacation, who comment on boys, marriage, and religion.

Youth Sentenced to Jail for Stealing $5 From Cleaning Woman

Thomas W. Gilbert, 18, 1219 N. Lawe St., was sentenced to three months in jail Tuesday for stealing money from the cleaning woman in the apartment house in which he lived.

Gilbert, who has a court-appointed attorney, had pleaded no contest and was found guilty of stealing $5 from a purse belonging to Mrs. Beatrice Lopez on Feb. 12. An Appleton police department detective testified Tuesday that Gilbert admitted taking money from the purse on another occasion.

Gilbert is under federal probation, the court was told.

New Officers Elected By Holy Name Society

St. Joseph Holy Name Society officers were elected at a recent meeting.

James McDaniel took over the office of president, succeeding Roman Gregorius. Cliff Siebers is vice president: Bryce Spoehr, recording secretary; Roger Gregorius, financial secretary; Thomas Settergren, treasurer; Leo Weiss, marshal, and Ben Beschta and Dennis Fritsch, banner and flag carriers.

The Rev. George Henseler, St. Joseph pastor, is spiritual director.

Blame Static Electricity In Paper Plant Fire

Static electricity was blamed for a minor fire discovered shortly after 7 a.m. today in the coating machine room of Appleton Coated Paper Co., 1020 N. Rankin St.

Solvent used in the coating machine started on fire and was extinguished by employes and firemen.

Esler Outlines Plans

Board Revisions Suggested

Further reorganization of the Outagamie County Board committee structure was proposed Tuesday by board chairman Sylvester Esler to improve communications between committees and to improve board operations.

Esler proposed that the executive committee meet twice a month instead of the present once-a-month meetings. He said one of the meetings could be devoted to discussing the activities of each of the committees so everyone has a better idea of what is taking place.

He also proposed that each committee be permitted to name its own representative on the executive committee. At the present time the executive committee representative from each committee is elected by the entire county board.

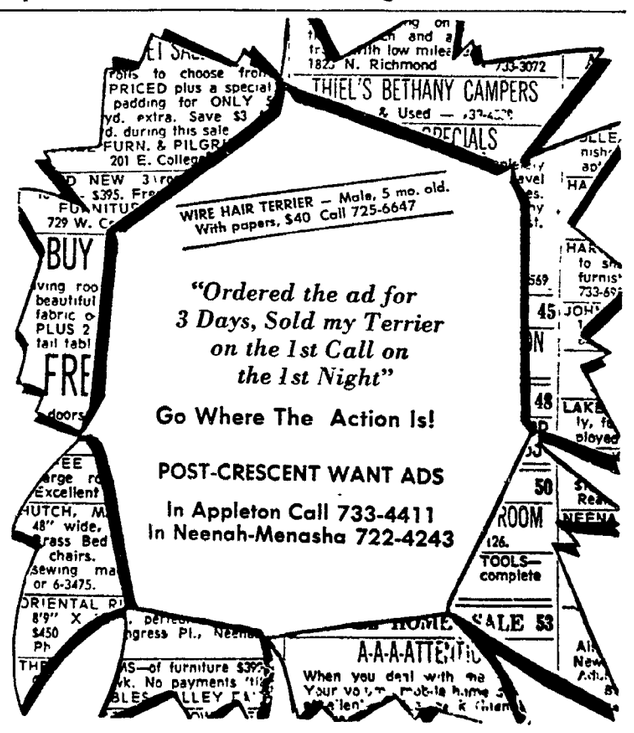
Zoning Committee

In a third recommendation, Esler said the zoning committee should be elevated to the status of a standing committee with five members. At the present time the zoning committee has three members — two from the board and one from a town — who are appointed for three-year terms by the board chairman.

He also proposed that jurisdiction of Plamann School be turned over to the Health, Education and Institutions Committee. The school is now under the jurisdiction of a Handicapped Children's Education Board, consisting of three county board members.

Other supervisors also expressed thoughts on structural improvements in the board. Supv. Pat Heenan, Appleton, said he felt there should be better definition of the finance committee's jurisdiction.

Supv. Ralph Schwartz, Appleton, also asked for executive committee study of having a formal agenda for county board meetings.



Twin City Parishes Okay New School

1970 Target Date for Completion Of $1.6 Million Catholic High

NEENAH - MENASHA — The five Twin City Catholic parishes in an advisory vote Tuesday, recommended the construction of a $1.6 million, co-educational high school for 1,200 students on the site it owns north of Calder Stadium.

The target date for completion is 1970.

Two parishes, St. Mary and St. Patrick, cast their votes with reservations. Both expressed their concern about the financial resources available to support the capital outlay and the projected enrollment figures for 1,200 students.

Final Approval

It now remains for the Catholic high school corporation to give its final approval. The corporate board includes the new bishop of the Green Bay diocese, the Most Reverend Aloysius Wycislo, and the pastors of the five local parishes.

Tuesday's vote of 5-0, which is advisory to the new bishop, came after an eight-month extensive study of the needs of Catholic secondary education in the Twin Cities. The final draft of the committee's findings will be ready for presentation to Bishop Wycislo by April 1.

Each parish was entitled to one vote Tuesday, according to Chairman James Asmuth. The parish vote was determined in the individual parishes by lay committees which have concerned themselves with the Catholic high school since the idea began in 1964 and the pastors.

Funds

In summary reports before voting, it was stated that the $1 6 million school would be designed by Robert Surplice, Green Bay architect. Approximately one third of the cost, or $516,000, has already been collected in the 30 month fund drive. This amounts to 60 per cent of the money pledged in 1965.

Two Persons Were Injured about 11 a.m. Tuesday when this parked Appleton squad car was struck from behind in the 1400 block of W. Wisconsin Avenue. Edward Kluge, 48, 1631 N. Viola St., driver of the auto which hit the police car, and a passenger, Joseph Berrens, 75, 915 W. Brewster St., suffered facial cuts and were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance. The squad car was unoccupied. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Friday Final Feed Grain Sign Up Date

Fox Valley farmers were alerted today that Friday is the final date for signing up for the 1968 feed grain program at their county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS)

Benefits available to program participants include loans, price-support payments and diversion payments for feed grains.

The first step in participating is filing a program application at the county office. In Outagamie the office is in Appleton, in Calumet at Chilton, in Winnebago at Oshkosh and in Waupaca County at Manawa.

Pleasant Acres Demolition Set

OSHKOSH — The county special building committee members accepted a price for the demolition of the old Pleasant Acres and boiler house in a bid far lower than what had been estimated.

The nine bids opened Tuesday afternoon ranged greatly not only in cost, but also in the number of days needed for completion of the work.

The committee, which was authorized to proceed with the demolition by the county board, has been waiting for more favorable weather.

Accepted by the committee was the low bid of $19,850 submitted by Brightman Excavating Co., Green Lake, the company which has done landscaping work for the new Pleasant Acres.

Kimberly Lists 97 Per Cent of Taxes Collected

KIMBERLY — Taxes collected during the first two months of the year amounted to 96 7 per cent of the total tax roll, according to Mrs. Katherine Lochschmidt, treasurer.

All personal property taxes, amounting to $71,489, were collected Real estate tax payments totaled $1,212,320.

Last year the treasurer collected 97 per cent of all village taxes during the same period. This is the third straight year in which practically all taxes have been paid prior to the Feb. 28 deadline.

Appleton Man Fined $20 After Accident

LITTLE CHUTE — Thomas McLaughlin, 49, 308 E. Pacific St., Appleton, pleaded guilty to failure to yield right of way and was fined $20 when arraigned Monday before Municipal Justice Raymond Sanders.

McLaughlin was arrested after being involved in an accident March 10.

Momentum High

McCarthy Backers Eager for Arrival

OSHKOSH — Preparing for his arrival in Wisconsin Friday, local supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy were riding high today on the crest of his showing against President Johnson in the New Hampshire primary Tuesday. Local Democrats backing the President, however, weren't panicking.

Mrs Diana Green, Oshkosh, chairman of Volunteers for McCarthy, called the Minnesota senator's showing in the Granite State "a real shot in the arm" for the Wisconsin campaign.

McCarthy is due to arrive Friday in Wisconsin, where he plans to virtually take up residence until this state's April 2 primary. "We are, of course, very eager for his arrival Friday," said Mrs. Green. The candidate, whose opposition to the President stems from dissent over Vietnam war policies, is due to hold a press conference at the Pioneer Inn and Marina at 11:15 a.m.

He will be coming from Milwaukee and Fond du Lac, and heading for a speaking engagement at Lawrence University in Appleton at 3 p.m.

Late this morning, McCarthy had won 42 per cent of the New Hampshire Democratic votes by then tabulated, compared with 49 per cent for President Johnson.

Mrs. Green said she thought one result of the showing would be that "The reluctance people had about backing an untried candidate will disappear" She said at present the Winnebago County organization backing McCarthy acquires new volunteers and money daily, and said she looked for the trend to pick up as a result of the New Hampshire results.

Johnson Side

Meanwhile, William Wingren, chairman of the Winnebago County Democratic Party and recently appointed head of the local unit supporting President Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey, said the organization wasn't planning any all-out effort to turn aside whatever support McCarthy might be accumulating.

He also predicted the New Hampshire primary would probably open new sources of support including finances to the McCarthy organization.

Wingren said it is still felt that the party will re-nominate Johnson despite McCarthy's showing. Concerning a Wisconsin pre-primary battle against McCarthy, Wingren said, "We can't afford it," referring both to funds and the danger of further dividing the party.

DEAF, Inc. Presents Three Teacher Grants

OSHKOSH — The fifth annual meeting of Deaf Education Aid Fund, Inc. (DEAF, Inc.) was held at the Oshkosh School for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing and three scholarships were awarded to students now training to be teachers of the deaf.

The primary function of the organization is to recruit teachers for deaf children and raise funds to assist students who must receive special training for the highly skilled instructional program.

Mrs. Henry Paull Jr., Appleton, is the newly elected president; Mrs. Garwood Ferris, Menasha, vice president; Mrs. Donald Theisen, Appleton, corresponding secretary; Mrs Maynard Mathison, Neenah, recording secretary and Mrs. Raymond Pfeiffer, Oshkosh, treasurer. Mrs. Pfieffer and Paull were also elected to the board of directors.

Scholarships

Miss Cynthia Lindauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lindauer, 1611 South Madison St., Appleton, a student at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, had her scholarship renewed by DEAF, Inc. Miss Carol Fredrickson, West Bend, and Miss Madge Kilzer, Monroe, both juniors in the teacher training program, department of deaf education, UW-M, had their scholarships renewed for the second semester.

DEAF, Inc., a non-profit tax exempt organization, works in 11 counties to recruit teachers and raise funds to encourage teachers to take the special training required to teach deaf children. Since its formation in 1964, 14 scholarships have been awarded.

Scholarships are granted to applicants training to become teachers of the deaf. They must maintain a high scholastic rating and show financial need.

This week DEAF, Inc. scholarship application blanks and brochures have gone out to guidance personnel in the high schools and colleges in the area.

90 Children

Recruiting teachers to staff the Oshkosh School for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing is a year-round endeavor, according to Mrs. Ferris. The Oshkosh School is the only school for the deaf in this area and there are 90 children enrolled. Leonard F. Becker, principal, directs a staff of ten teachers.

Appleton sends its 21 hearing impaired children to the Oshkosh School and they are transported to classes daily. Children from more distant areas live in boarding homes in Oshkosh.

The nursery program enrolls both the infant and his parents. Parents must learn how to continue the lipreading and language development at home. There are 18 three-year-old children in the nursery program, more than three times the normal number.

Most of the nursery children are "post-rubella" deaf children whose mothers had German measles in the early months of pregnancy. The 1964 epidemic of German measles was nationwide. The existing teacher shortage has become more critical as nursery school programs across the nation are now feeling this influx of deaf infants.

"Deaf children cannot attend regular classes," Mrs. Ferris points out. "Without teachers, the deaf child is lost, lives in complete ignorance of language and school learning. Education must come first and the only gift is the teacher. When the deaf child is taught he can be a self-supporting individual, and with early training can manage to get a good education."

The financial support of service clubs and business organizations is needed to carry out the work of DEAF, Inc. More teachers for the deaf are needed, officials say. The University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee is the only training center for these teachers of the deaf in Wisconsin.

Unlicensed Bartenders Result in $50 Fine

Douglas D. Leith, 25, 1130 W. Eighth St., was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail Tuesday after he changed his plea to guilty on a charge of allowing an unauthorized person to tend bar at Dale and Joy's Tavern, 1216 S. Oneida St.

Appleton police brought the charge on Oct. 23. Leith had pleaded innocent but changed his plea in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Gov. Kirk to Speak at Ripon Republican Birthday Dinner

RIPON — Gov. Claude R Kirk Jr., Florida's chief executive, will be the featured speaker at the 114th anniversary dinner celebrating the founding of the Republican Party 7 p m Saturday, March 23, at Ripon.

The dinner will be held at Pickard Commons on the Ripon College Campus. Tickets are $5 each, the general public is invited and reservations are available through Edgar Sherman, chairman of the Ripon Republic Club.

An informal reception for Governor Kirk and GOP officials will be held at 5 p.m. in the Republican House.

Kirk, elected to Florida's statehouse in 1966 by a plurality of 156,000 votes, is the first Republican governor of that state in 94 years.

His first venture in politics was in 1960, when he served as Florida chairman of the Democrats for Nixon campaign. Although Nixon lost to Kennedy, he carried Florida.

In 1964 Kirk was the Republican nominee for United States Senator. Running against a veteran Democrat, he rolled up a total of 562,000 votes.

Board Raises Objections

Sanitary Code Delayed

By a one-vote margin, Outagamie County supervisors delayed passage of a county sanitary code after several rural supervisors posed violent objections to planned permit requirements for water systems.

The vote Tuesday was 20-19 to send the code back to the zoning committee and the Northeastern Regional Planning Commission for revision.

The main objection was wording in the code which would have meant a permit would be required before a pump could be pulled from a well or repaired

Supv. George Kroes, Town of Vandenbroek, termed the code "ridiculous" if it meant getting a permit before a pump could be repaired.

Backing Kroes were Supvs. Norman Austin, Town of Oneida, and Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan.

Both Kroes and Supv. Ervin Conradt, rural Shiocton, cited instances of when their well pumps failed on weekends. Under the code, they claimed, they would have had to wait until Monday to get a permit to have the pump pulled and repaired. In the meantime, Kroes said, the livestock would have had to go without water. "This would be considered inhumane treatment," Kroes stated.

Boyd Kinzley, director of natural resources for the regional planning commission, said the board could change the provisions of the code to make repairs of existing wells and pumps exempt from the permit requirement.

He also agreed to change the wording in the section pertaining to the fees for permits to a simple listing of the permit fees.

However, Kroes and Austin demanded the entire code be sent back to committee for the revisions to be made. Kroes said he had raised the same objections to the code at a meeting three weeks ago and at that time had been told by Kinzley the changes would be made prior to its presentation to the board. "There hasn't been a word changed," Kroes said.

The sanitary code would apply to all private water and sewage systems in the county where there is no existing code.

Voting to delay action on the code for a month were Supvs. Austin, Breiting, DeBruin, DeLa Hunt, Diestler, Greisch, Grunwaldt, Hoolihan, Jimos, Koletzke, Kroes, Lenz, Miller, Perkins, Roepcke, Schreiter, Spierings, Steger, Van Dyke and Williams.

Opposing the delay were Supvs. Babbitt, Bartz, Bubolz, Dietz, Gillespie, Heenan, Helble, Hiler, Jens, Kavanaugh, Klein, Kloes, Root, Runte, Schwartz, Tillman, Verfurth, Wussow and Esler.

Site Cost Study Voted for Kaukauna Northside School

Major Improvements Needed On Both Areas Being Considered

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday authorized George Narovec, architect for the new north side elementary school, to undertake a comparative cost study of developing two possible school sites.

One area, for which $1,000 per acre is being asked, consists of about 14 acres, but about half of the area is low land. The second potential site consists of about 10 acres for which $3,500 per acre is being asked, but it is farther from city services and would require additional roadways.

Narovec is to determine the approximate cost of grading and filling the 14-acre site and the approximate cost of extending sanitary and storm sewers and water to the 10-acre site. Board members also are to investigate the cost of street right-of-way to the 10-acre site.

Special Meeting

Estimates will be presented at a special meeting at 3 p.m., March 22. Plans also were made for board members to visit a school in Barrington, Ill., and three schools in Madison on March 20 to study cost-saving school design.

The board also was presented with a sketch of a proposed 70 by 115-foot addition to the industrial arts portion of the high school. The plan was prepared by industrial arts teachers. No action will be taken until the matter could be given further study.

Teachers had requested hiring a school nurse but board members voted against the proposal, because no funds were included in the budget. It will be considered at budget time next year.

Superintendent of Schools Julian Bichler was authorized to write letters to various draft boards when it appears teachers who were vital to the system might be called to duty.

Mayor Writes

Board members received a letter from Mayor Gilbert Anderson suggesting the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) be asked to assist in studying school enrollment trends, more public information meetings and possible formation of a citizens' committee to work with the board of education on school planning.

Board members pointed out COG had been consulted by the board and information meetings were being planned. The mayor's views on the need for a more informed public were endorsed.

Students at the high school were authorized to start publication of pamphlet, "KHS Speak-Out," in which students and faculty will be asked to submit views on the school, school problems and school issues.

Letters will be screened by a panel of student editors prior to publication. Students felt this form of communication between students and faculty could go a long way in solving problems and misunderstanding. The program was set up by a group of students participating in a Project Public Information program at the school.

Cash, Cigarettes, Radio Stolen From Kaukauna Lanes

KAUKAUNA — Theft of money, cigarettes and a radio from Verbeten's Alleys, 154 E. Third St., was reported late Monday to city police.

Jeff Verbeten, owner of the firm, told police $10 in change was taken from the till and $12 from a small bank. Four cartons of cigarettes and a radio also were missing.

A basement door was discovered open Monday morning but at that time it appeared as though nothing was missing. The thefts were discovered later.

Kaukauna Candidates Told to List Expenses

KAUKAUNA — City Clerk Karl Marzahl Tuesday reminded all candidates seeking office in the April election that preelection expense accounts must be filed in the city clerk's office by 5 p.m. March 26 if the names are to appear on the ballot.

State statutes require political candidates to file both preelection and post election expense statements because a limit has been set on the amount candidates may spend in a campaign.

School Board Invests Money

Kimberly District Secures Interest on $1,500,000 Bonds

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night authorized Myron Huth, business manager, to invest the $1,500,000 raised through bond issue for the new west side elementary school in U.S. Treasury bills and certificates of deposit. The district will get 5.3 per cent interest on the money.

A total of $200,000 was invested as certificates of deposit, money coming due in September and October, 1959, with the remainder invested in treasury bills with maturity dates set over an 18-month period to come due as money is needed to pay for construction progress.

In other action low bids amounting to $3,341 were accepted on 16 types of paper needed for the coming school year.

Board members were told, planning on the proposed west side elementary school was delayed slightly pending a report from a Chicago engineering firm on the type of heating system. The firm is making a study as to the use of electrical heating as opposed to conventional heating systems.

Dance Club Plans Program at Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The Orchesis Dance Club of Kaukauna High School will present a program, "Happiness Is," at 7 p.m. Thursday and Saturday in the Civic Auditorium.

A special feature of the Saturday performance will be the appearance of seven girls from Pulaski High School, Milwaukee, who are members of the dance club at that school. They will remain in Kaukauna overnight to participate in a Sunday workshop.

Board Votes 'Dissatisfaction' With Appleton Plan to Tap Winnebago

CHILTON — Calumet County supervisors decided to express dissatisfaction with approval of Appleton's plans to tap Lake Winnebago for its water needs.

The board's intentions were revealed Tuesday after receiving a letter from the U.S. Corps of Engineers, setting March 15 as the deadline for objections.

The county board voted to write a letter to the Corps expressing their dissatisfaction.

Board members objected to the project even after numerous communications stating the Appleton water diversion project would have a negligible effect on Lake Winnebago and the Lower Fox River.

Dist. Atty. Franklin Schmieder read letters from the State Department of Natural Resources, Wisconsin Conservation Department, Public Service Commission and other agencies.

However, supervisors took action opposing the plan, although there was little time to get factual evidence against it

Calumet became involved in September when Appleton announced its diversion plans. The county and several cities bordering the lake were not officially notified and were irked that the Public Service Commission had approved the project without a hearing

Plamann Park Swimming Lake Tests Okayed

County Supervisors Appropriate $100 For Soil Borings

Funds to have soil tests made at Plamann Park for the proposed swimming lake were approved by Outagamie County supervisors Tuesday, but with some reservations. They okayed the spending of $100.

Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, chairman of the park and recreation committee, told the board the Seymour and Black Creek lakes cost approximately $20,000 for the lake and bathhouses He said the committee had $6,000 in its budget for a new shelter house at Plamann Park which could be transferred for constructing a bathhouse

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, said he could foresee problems with the county building the lake. He said both Seymour and Black Creek had set up community development corporations instead of having the municipality running the project

Concern over reaction by the State Board of Heath was expressed by Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton. He said he understood the state was "lukewarm" at best toward such lakes.

In other action, the board approved increasing the salaries of deputy sheriffs from $2.25 per hour to $2 50 per hour, effective April 1, Mares cast the lone dissenting vote.

The board also approved increasing the per diem and mileage allowance for the various boards of trustees and commissions to $22 per day and 10-cents per mile in accordance with increases granted board members and other county employes.

Market Droops Irregularly

Gold, Silver Mine Shares Continue To Defy Down Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sagged irregularly early this afternoon as gold and silver shares advanced against the general trend. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses in the over-all list. The balance between plus and minus signs seesawed in the morning.

Heavy early trading in foreign bullion markets drew renewed attention to the gold mining stocks. Once again, a spokesman for the U.S Treasury denied rumors that the Treasury is planning a public statement on its gold policy.

Mining Speculation

Silver touched record highs in the commodity markets abroad and in the United States, triggering further speculation in the silver mine shares

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4 at 305 5 with industrials off 1 4, rails up 5 and utilities off 3

ILS Systems Explained to County Board

Told to Buy From Firm That Gets Other FAA Pacts

Outagamie County probably will purchase an instrument landing system (ILS) for the county airport from whichever firm wins the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) contract for installation of the systems at other airports

This was the basic recomendation Tuesday of the airport committee to the county board

The committee heard a presentation from Wilcox Electric Co, the second of two firms which submitted proposals to the county, Monday afternoon and then decided to wait until the FAA contracts are awarded later this month before making a specific recommendation.

Most Advantageous

The report to the county board Tuesday called for acceptance of whichever proposal was most advantageous to the county.

The Wilcox proposal was for installation of the system for $85,000 Last Friday, a representative of Airborne Instrument Laboratory, the second bidder, appeared before the committee The Airborne bid was for $89,000

FAA contracts for a number of landing systems are expected to be awarded before the end of the month and the airport committee indicated they probably would go along with whichever firm got that contract since the FAA also would be maintaining the system at the Outagamie County Airport.

Committee Informed

The committee also was informed that final plans for the Kimberly-Clark Corp hangar are expected to be ready by March 18 and that bidding for the work could be conducted as soon as the plans are given approval

In a letter from Piedmont Engineers, which are drawing the plans, representatives of the firm said that "highly competitive" bidding is anticipated if bids can be taken immediately after plans are completed and that the bids should be less than the estimated cost for the hangar.

Total cost of the hangar is expected to be between $550,000 and $600,000 to house the four Kimberly-Clark airplanes.

Bomb Comment at Airport Brings Swarm of Policemen

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — It is a basic law of marksmanship training that you never point a gun at anybody unless you're prepared to pull the trigger

Kenneth Cooney, 23-year-old college student from Joliet, Ill., discovered the same rule applied to cracks about bombs on airplanes Tuesday afternoon. His thoughtless remark brought a whole platoon of uniformed police down on him, resulting in a thorough grilling of a badly frightened young man by Dist. Atty. Jona Gower.

About 5:40 p.m. Tuesday Cooney approached the reservation desk at Austin Straubel Field and asked to check a couple of bags he was carrying. Since they consisted only of an attache case and a toilet article kit the clerk told him it wasn't necessary, that he could take them aboard the plane as hand baggage

Cooney insisted, however, and in the course of the conversation made the off hand remark "There's a bomb in this one."

Within minutes Cooney found himself the center of interest of the airline clerk and agent as well as nine Brown County traffic officers, called to the airport by the airline

After a search of the luggage failed to reveal any dangerous devices, Cooney was taken to the county jail where he was interrogated by Gower. He admitted he had made a mistake in trying to be facetious about bombs on planes.

He was released after undergoing a severe lecture but a charge of disorderly conduct was filed against him by the district attorney's office this morning and he was fined $50 and costs in court today.

Public Works Project Bids Total $540,432

Competition Brisk for Contracts on City Street, Sewer Construction Program

Bidding was brisk and prices right Tuesday when the board of public works opened bids totaling a half-million dollars for street and sewer construction during the summer.

Low bids for four major projects totaled $540,432

In one instance there were nine different firms bidding on one contract, city officials pointed out

Aid to Contractors

"It helps to advertise projects early because the contractors are looking for work to get their season's construction schedules lined up," added Public Works Director Frank Keuler

While the board recommended the council award three contracts, it withheld action on the one calling for asphalt surfacing and resurfacing.

Lee H. Parker Construction, Inc, Appleton, was low with a $168,485 quote, followed by Courtney & Plummer, Inc, Neenah, with $170,820, and Badger Highways, Inc, Menasha, with $173,342 There were four other contracting firms submitting bids ranging from $175,000 to $198,000.

The contract covers the city's annual street resurfacing program

Inform City

The reason given by the board for holding up the asphalt contract is that it had been notified by the Parker firm it may sublet the work

"Before any contract is sublet, I think the bidder should inform the city of the firm which will be doing the subcontract work," Pointer declared "I feel this is in the best interest of the city to know"

Keuler said there was nothing definite — a Parker Construction official indicated," they might sublet the job"

However, City Atty David Geenen advised the board it made no difference, pointing out that Parker had been low bidder and the firm was prequalified by the city to bid on municipal street construction projects

Award Contract

"I think you should proceed and award the contract to the low bidder," he advised

Other low bidders for other projects are:

—Vinton Construction Co., Manitowoc, $265,332, 1968 concrete paving program

—Ted Coppens Construction Co, Kimberly, $85,675, sewer trenching and laying pipe

—Klitzke & Felton Construction Co, Black Creek, $30,970, curb and gutter construction

Assessments Set

Special assessment rates set by the board of public works Tuesday — the per front foot cost property owners have to pay for street, sewer and allied work — are generally below last year's

The front foot rates for public works projects this year with the 1967 figures in brackets follow:

Sanitary sewer — $3 50 ($3 50)

Street resurfacing — $1 17 ($1.18).

3 Soldiers Drown as Personnel Carrier Sinks

FT HOOD, Tex. (AP) — An armored personnel carrier with five soldiers aboard sank Monday in a lake on the Ft Hood military reservation, drowning three men.

Two others were rescued They were in satisfactory condition at a Ft. Hood hospital.

Names of the soldiers were withheld pending notification of kin.

The personnel carrier was attempting to ford the lake when the vehicle sank, an army spokesman said. The three bodies were recovered.

Ansorge to Face Green Bay Trial In Traffic Death

OCONTO — A change of venue to a Green Bay court in the trial of Emery Ansorge, 56, Gillett, has been granted by Circuit Court Judge Lewis Charles of Ashland.

The case will be heard at 9 30 a.m. April 22 at the Brown County Courthouse.

The case originally was scheduled for Oconto County Circuit Judge James Martineau, but an affidavit of prejudice was filed against him.

Ansorge is charged with negligent homicide and leaving the scene of an accident in the death of Kent Soulek, Oconto Falls.

Building Permits Granted For College Avenue Projects

Permits for $60,000 worth of construction at three locations in downtown Appleton have been issued by the city building inspector.

The structure is being remodeled for an estimated $20,000, and when completed, the business will be operated by Don Morrow.

Another project a block away at 801 W. College Ave. calls for the removal of an old service station and construction of a $30,000 store building by L & R, Inc. There was no indication as to what kind of business would occupy the structure.

A permit was issued to W. A. Close, owner of a clothing store at 202 E College Ave., to remodel a basement room into an office at a cost of $7,000.

American Bank Builds Branch

April Opening Set For New Operation In Town of Greenville

American State Bank has announced it will build a branch bank building in the Town of Greenville

The building will be located on a lot directly north of the new Greenville Municipal Building. It is of modular construction to permit future expansion.

The new facility will have two teller windows in the lobby and a drive-up window There will be adequate accounting space and a manager's office and conference room. Maximum security and protective equipment will be installed. A portion of the building is now being prefabricated and the balance will be finished on site as weather permits. The general contractor is Oscar J Boldt Construction Co, Inc of Appleton.

Leo W Martin, executive vice president and branch manager, will be in charge of the new branch, assisted by Roger Dorn and Suzanne Tillman, who are presently employed at the bank's main office

The building will be completed in approximately 60 days and is expected to be opened for business in April

Estate Totaling $44,190 Left by Little Chute Man

Anton (Casey) Jansen, Little Chute civic and political leader who died Feb. 3, 1967, left an estate having a gross value of $44,190, according to the financial accounting Tuesday in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Three daughters were named to share nearly the entire amount They are Geraldine Locy, 815 Jefferson St, and Alice C Jansen, 313 W Main St., both of Little Chute, and Mary Elizabeth Jansen Mader, route 1, Menasha.

The major portion of Jansen's estate consisted of personal property

Jansen, who died at the age of 82, held several village offices, including clerk, president, and municipal justice, was an Outagamie County supervisor, and was active in the ranks of semi-professional baseball

It Was 14 Years Ago that the battle for Dien Bien Phu began. And just as U.S. Marines now bomb Communist positions outside their encircled base at Khe Sanh, the French bombed the Communist Viet Minh trenches then at their beseiged base. Decisive Battle 14 Years Ago

Conditions Today Recall Those Of French Loss at Dien Bien Phu

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SAIGON (AP) — By day, from a military plane, there was little to see but the dark green, mist-shrouded hills brooding over a seemingly empty land.

By night, the earth spat fire.

A ring of death surrounded the fortress. Planes no longer could land there. It had to be supplied and reinforced by air.

That was Dien Bien Phu toward the end of the road for the French.

The decisive battle began 14 years ago today. It ended May 7. And with it ended France's colonial empire in Asia.

The war was seven years old when it ended. If, as most Americans here do, one dates the U.S. war in Vietnam from 1961, this one is seven years old too. And many in Vietnam wonder: is Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the military mastermind of that 1954 battle, seeking another Dien Bien Phu for precisely the same reasons he sought the first victory, at a frightful cost in human life?

Wanted Victory

The 1954 victory was as much psychological as military— perhaps much more important psychologically. The build-up for the battle had begun months earlier. As Giap built, there was talk of an international meeting to bring the war to an end. Giap desperately wanted a big victory, to have a winning hand at the table.

Today there is frequent talk of the possibility of a conference. Some here say they are convinced that the Communist offensive of the lunar new year was intended to seek a winning hand in the event of talks.

By the time the 1954 agreement was reached on Geneva talks opening in April, Giap was ready, patiently awaiting his opportunity to isolate the French and starve them out of a fortress designed originally as the bait to lure him into battle.

Chance for Ho

The psychological moment was at hand. France was in an uproar over the war. For a long time it had looked hopeless. Giap and his chief, Ho Chi Minh, saw a chance to win the war more quickly in Paris than in the hills of Tonkin.

Some of the things you hear the Americans saying today about the Viet Cong you heard the French say 14 years ago about the Viet Minh. Ho's Communist league for independence. The sort of war Ho and Giap were fighting was new and bewildering for a French army accustomed to classical war on fixed fronts.

Frenchmen had looked with scorn on the little men they called "les jaunes"—the yellows—and considered them cowards for scattering and running away from superior forces. The French could not understand why "les jaunes" would never get involved in a "set-piece" battle, the sort the French wanted, so that superior forces could mow the enemy down.

War of Ambush

The Viet Minh, unless they were sure of victory, would melt away into the countryside. Their war was one of ambush, of sporadic terror in the cities, of long and patient attrition.

By French estimate, the Viet Minh had 300,000 men, many of them conscripts dragooned against their wills but others considering themselves patriots fighting to drive out the foreigner. The French had their own forces of 200,000 along with 200,000 in a Vietnamese army. But—as is the case today—the Vietnamese army fighting with the foreigner was often ineffective against the shadowy foe. As today, young men dodged the draft or bought their way out of it.

Terror Attacks

The nights, the French would say, belonged to the Viet Minh who used the cover of darkness to hide their terror attacks, ambushes and disruption of communications.

In Hanoi one day, toward the end, I sat with a French officer and watched a cluster of Tonkinese peasants eye our Jeep. Their faces were masks under their straw hats. The officer gestured toward them.

"These people—maybe they are Viet Minh, maybe they are not. Who are the Viet Minh? Where are they? Who knows? They are everywhere." The Frenchman shrugged in token of helplessness.

You can hear the same thing about the Viet Cong these days.

Navarre Plan

In November 1953, the French commander, Gen. Henri Navarre, conceived the Navarre Plan. It produced a state of euphoria among American advisers with the U.S. military assistance mission. The idea was that Navarre would concentrate forces in the Red River delta as bait for the Communists. He would continue offensives against guerrilla bases. This would be followed by a major offensive.

Navarre parachuted troops into Dien Bien Phu, a remote cluster of mud and straw huts perched on poles, 180 miles from the nearest French supply base. He would lure the Communists into that much-desired "set-piece" battle. The French set up seas of barbed wire barricades until, by the turn of the year, it was a formidable complex, six by four miles, encircled by thickly forested hills.

Ho's men, at great cost in life and labor, dragged supplies and artillery up to the commanding hills, where the French thought it impossible for artillery to be.

The entrance to Dien Bien Phu was protected by eight hill strong points. The command post complex was made up of underground positions, well bunkered and encircled by more barbed wire. But in early assaults by the Communists' hilltop artillery, two hill positions fell to the Viet Minh. The Communists dug in again and now from the surrounding hills could pound fire down on the bowl that was Dien Bien Phu.

Night and day, throughout the months of battle, transport planes supplied by the Americans took off with men and supplies from Haiphong into antiaircraft fire thicker than the pilots had encountered over Germany in World War II.

"We must win this one," Gen. Rene Cogny told me. He was commander in Tonkin and one of France's outstanding officers.

Navarre had gambled on his plan for an "autumn offensive."

Former Menasha Man Will Head Expedition Into Arctic

Prof. Charles F. Merbs, a University of Chicago anthropologist and the son of C. Florian Merbs, 416 Appleton St., Menasha, will head an expedition to explore prehistoric Eskimo life in Canada this summer.

Merbs is a graduate of Menasha High School and the University of Wisconsin. His earlier studies as an anthropologist were centered around the Arctic.

The summer project, which will begin in July, is sponsored by the National Geographic Society in cooperation with the National Museum of Canada. Sites will be excavated at the northwest corner of Hudson Bay.

Merbs will investigate the coast of Roes Welcome Sound and the Wager Bay-Chesterfield Inlet areas, rich in artifacts from the Thule Eskimo culture. The Thule people began migrating from the north Alaska coast about 1,000 years ago.

Youth Suffocates In Drifted Snow

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy suffocated Tuesday when he fell from a tree into a seven-foot snow drift, a Norman doctor said

Police said the youth, Darrell Grotts, apparently was playing in a tree with a younger companion when Grotts fell head first into the snowbank. The companion told police the teenager's feet were the only part of him showing above the snow.

The younger boy said he tried to free his friend, but could not, and ran for help. Police pulled the boy from the snow. Heart massage at a hospital failed to revive him.

REBELLION PRICED

IRONSTONE, THE FINEST OF EARTHENWARES—It's made from select whitened clays, fired at much higher temperatures than ordinary earthenwares. That makes it extra heavy, extra durable: craze-proof, oven-proof, safe in your dishwasher or the harshest detergent. There's the touch of the decorator in these unusual patterns: Sierra Gold with stylized motif and color accent on bright nugget gold or El Verde Swirl with soft brush-like strokes of mellow avocado green. This is ironstone of exceptional quality, uncommonly handsome in design.

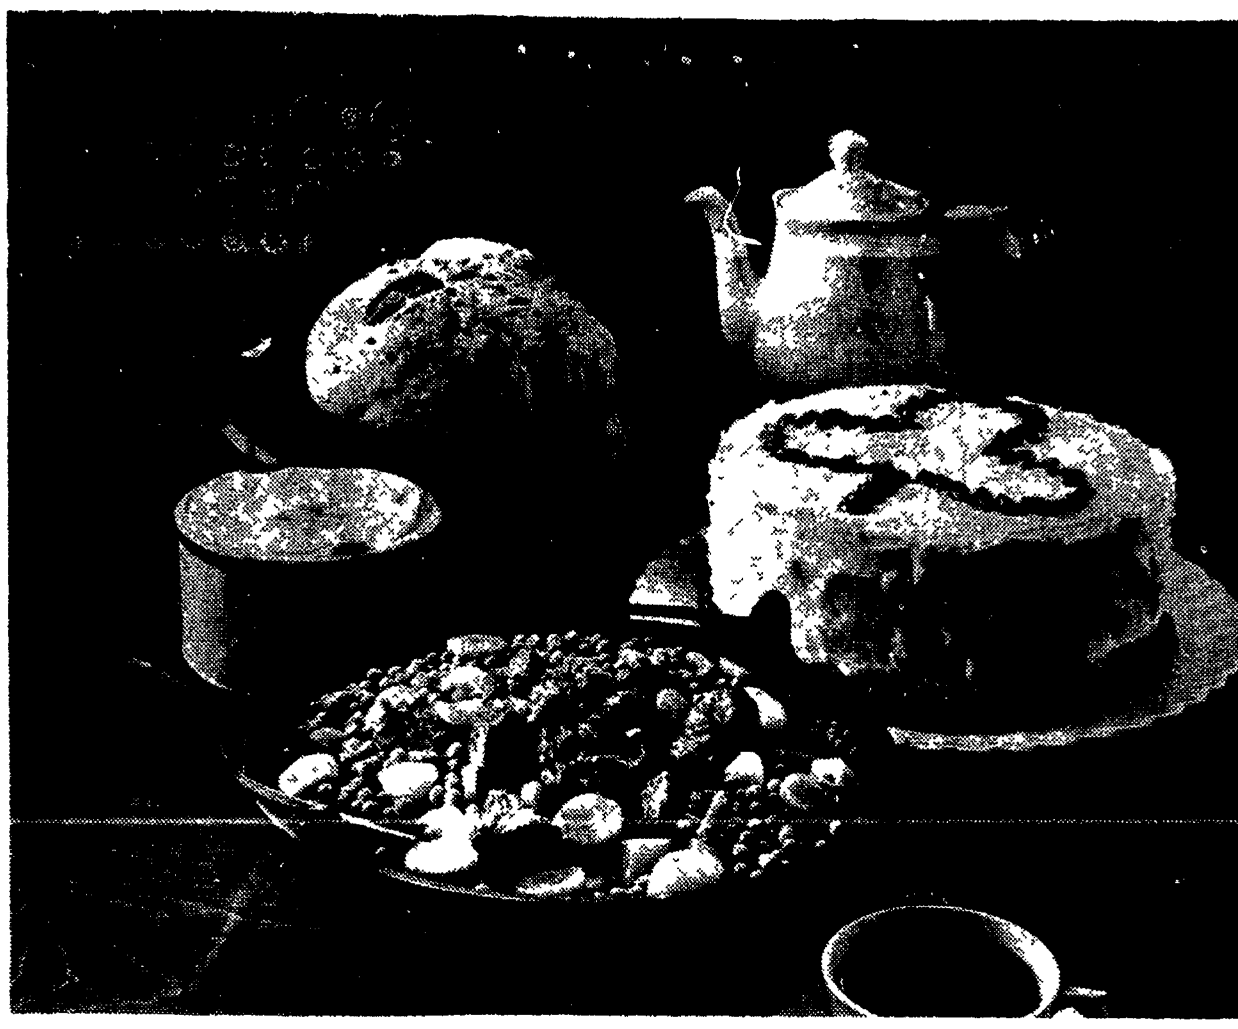
Hibernian fare such as this dinner, featuring ham, cabbage and potatoes simmered to a fragrant turn, comes straight from County Limerick in the Irish Isle. Erin Horseradish Sauce, a zippy blend of Tabasco, horseradish, whipped cream and chopped chives makes a marvelous accompaniment to the meat.



Real Irish stew uses lamb for its meat and this version is the real McCoy served with traditional soda bread and a new chocolate cake.

St. Patrick's Day

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

"Slainte! . . to your health! This ancient Gaelic toast sounds around the world wherever there's a wearin' of the green. And there could be plenty of feasting throughout Wisconsin because it's the home of the descendants of thousands of Irishmen who came here in pioneer days.

Not to mention the many Germans, Poles, Dutch and other nationalities represented in the Valley who will become Irishmen for the day to honor St. Patrick, patron of the Emerald Isles.

St Patrick's Day is both the feast day and birthday anniversary of the good Bishop Patrick, who in 432 A D left his home in England's Severn Valley to introduce Christianity to Ireland.

It is suggested that true Irish dishes be served to help the celebration along The Limerick Ham dinner with its smoked boneless shoulder butt simmered gently in water is one that's been seasoned with Tabasco, cloves, garlic, celery seeds and bay leaf Fresh cabbage, a must in Irish cookery, is cooked in the ham broth, then served with the meat, along with the parsleyed buttered potatoes. These latter may be fresh or canned ones The meat is served with a zesty sauce.

Tabasco, as the label tells, is a red pepper sauce It's a century-old seasoning that partners well with horseradish and other condiments.

The other two featured dishes already are favorites among both the real and pseudo Irish-Americans. There's Irish stew, rich with chunks of lamb and green peas . . . and there's corned beef and cabbage with parsleyed potatoes.

The meal is completed with the traditional crusty soda bread and may be topped off with a new chocolate cake created and named for Patrick F Curran, Irish vice president of a baking soda firm After 52 years of selling baking soda for Church & Dwight Co , Inc , he's retiring on his birthday, March 17 Pat's Chocolate Cake is a winner with its shamrock outlined in green maraschino cherries, which could be green frosting, if preferred.

PARSLEY POTATOES WITH GLAZED CORNED BEEF

- 4 pounds corned beef
- 1 onion, quartered
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 bay leaves
- 3 tablespoons prepared mustard
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 8 medium potatoes, pared
- 6 carrots, pared and quartered
- 1 medium head cabbage, cut in 6 wedges
- ¼ cup melted butter
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley

Place corned beef in large kettle. Cover with water and add onion, garlic and bay leaves. Cover and simmer about 3 hours or until tender.

Remove beef from water, saving broth. Place in shallow baking dish. Spread with mustard and sprinkle with brown sugar. Bake at 350 degrees while vegetables cook.

Add potatoes and carrots to corned beef broth. Cook 20 minutes. Add cabbage and cook 10 minutes longer or until cabbage is crisp-tender.

Remove potatoes and pour melted butter over them. Sprinkle with parsley. Serve parsleyed potatoes on heated platter with corned beef, carrots and cabbage. Recipe makes four to six servings with enough for a second-day salad.

IRISH SODA BREAD

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- Butter or margarine
- ¾ cup buttermilk
- 2 tablespoons raisins, chopped, or dried currants

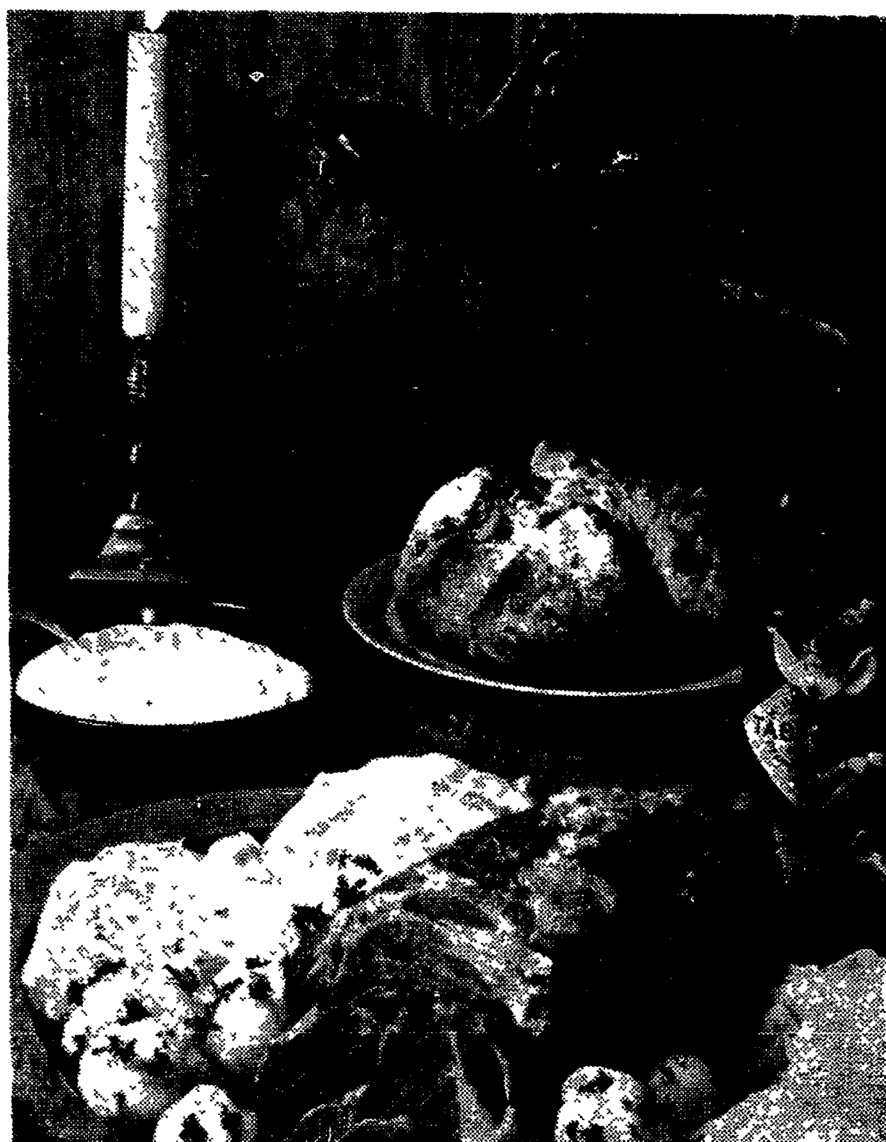
Sift together flour, baking

Turn to Page 7, Col 3



Irish or not, almost everyone enjoys corned beef and cabbage. Non-Irish even like to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. So make this handsome and wholesome dish and give freshly boiled whole potatoes a coating of butter, then a roll in chopped parsley so the dinner will be a-wearin' the green in fine Gaelic tradition.

Sacred Heart Bazaar Slated For March 24

Laetare Sunday (March 24) will be observed by Ladies of Sacred Heart with a bazaar to begin at noon at the church Cards and other games will be played, lunch served, and concessions sold.

Co-chairmen of the event will be Mr. and Mrs Thomas Mc Hugh, assisted by Mr and Mrs John Kools, treasurers, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mancl, publicity chairmen.

Participating in the bazaar will be Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Holy Name Men, ushers and the church choir. Proceeds from booths and games under their direction will be used for club projects.

Special booths have been planned with Mrs Jack Gebert and Mrs. Norman Dudek co-chairmen of Pearly's Pantry; Sister Julius and Mrs Florent Geurts, Heavenly Sweets, Mrs Earl Thiel and Mrs. John Hanamann, Kreative Korner; Mrs. Donald Koenig and Mrs. Lee Schwartz, Jewel Box; Mrs. Joseph Kugler and Mrs. Kenneth Whitman, Grace and Maggie's South Side Bargain Bin, and Mrs. Matt Hoffman and Mrs. Carlton Heimmermann music booth.

Day-After Irish Salad

Too good to be missed, you'll want to plan to have leftovers from your Irish dinner so you can try this tempting salad

Using corned beef, potatoes and vegetables, it is topped with a tangy mustard-horseradish dressing A delightful luncheon entree to serve with thin slices of rye bread, spread with soft Cheddar cheese

POTATO CORNED-BEEF SALAD

- 2 cups diced cooked potatoes
- 2 cups diced corned beef
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- ½ cup diced cooked carrots
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- Dash of Tabasco
- Salt and pepper, to taste
- Crisp lettuce
- Tomato wedges, for garnish

Combine potatoes, corned beef, hard-cooked eggs, carrots, green pepper, onion, and pimiento Mix together, blending well, the mayonnaise, vinegar and seasonings. Toss potato mixture with dressing. Pile into lettuce cups and garnish with tomato wedges Recipe makes six servings

Choosing Articles Which Will stock booths at the bazaar planned by the Ladies of Sacred Heart in cooperation with other church-sponsored organizations are Robert Mancl, Mrs. John Hanamann, Thomas Mc Hugh, general co-chairman; and Mrs. John Kools, treasurer.

Don't Overlook Dried Fruit Desserts

With so many fresh fruits available every month of the year (sometimes at astronomical prices), perhaps we're beginning to forget just how much dried fruits can contribute to the pleasures of dining.

The purpose of drying fruits, of course, is preservation. As a result of the weight loss from the reduction of most of the original water content, transportation and storage costs are greatly reduced.

CALORIE COUNTER

Nutritionally fruits lose almost no nutrients in the drying process. Dieters should remember, though, that because dried fruits are greatly concentrated, their caloric value when eaten as purchased is four to five times that of the fruit eaten fresh. When cooked, however, dried fruits reabsorb most of their original water content, and then approximate fresh fruits in calorie count.

Sugar added to dried fruits during the cooking affects their ability to absorb liquid, and thereby diminishes the tenderizing process.

In the following trio of delectable dried fruit desserts, calorie-free liquid sweetener is used to provide natural-tasting sweetness without sacrificing the tenderness of the fruits, and more important, without adding any extra, unwanted calories.

Dried Fruit Desserts are from the top, clockwise, Jellied Prune Fluff, Melange of Dried Fruits in compotes, and Spiced Apricot Whip served in the tall glasses.

JELLIED PRUNE FLUFF

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 2¼ cups water
- 1 cup medium-sized dried, pitted prunes
- 1 tablespoon liquid sweetener
- 4 teaspoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 5 egg whites, stiffly beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatin in quarter-cup of the water. Cook prunes in remaining two cups water over low heat, about 45 minutes, or until tender.

Puree prunes; blend in sweetener, lemon juice, cinnamon, salt and softened gelatin, stirring until gelatin dissolves. Chill until mixture begins to thicken.

Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and vanilla. Pour into a lightly oiled two-quart mold; chill until set.

MELANGE OF DRIED FRUITS

- 1 cup small dried apricot halves
- 1 cup medium-sized dried pitted prunes
- 1 16-ounce can low-calorie apricot nectar
- 3½ ounces (7 tablespoons) muscatel wine
- 2 tablespoons liquid sweetener
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 8 maraschino cherries
- 2 medium bananas, peeled and sliced
- 2 medium oranges, peeled and sliced

In saucepan, combine dried fruits, apricot nectar, muscatel, sweetener and lemon rind. Cover and cook over low heat until fruits are tender. Add cherries, bananas and oranges; spoon into a compote and chill.

Recipe makes eight servings, each 188 calories; 2 grams protein; 0.5 gram fat; 45.5 grams carbohydrate.

SPICED APRICOT WHIP

- 1 cup small dried apricot halves
- 3 cups water
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- 2 tablespoons liquid sweetener
- Pinch of cloves
- Pinch of nutmeg
- ½ cup nonfat dry milk
- ½ cup ice water

Combine apricots and water in saucepan; cover and cook over low heat until tender. Soften gelatin in cold water. Puree cooked apricots; add softened gelatin, sweetener and spices, stirring until gelatin dissolves. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Combine dry milk and ice water; beat on high speed of mixer until soft peaks begin to form. Gently fold into apricot mixture. Spoon into dessert dishes; chill to serve.

Recipe makes nine half-cup servings, each 71 calories; 4 grams protein; trace of fat; 14.5 grams carbohydrate.

Twins' Mothers Plan Exchange Of Clothing

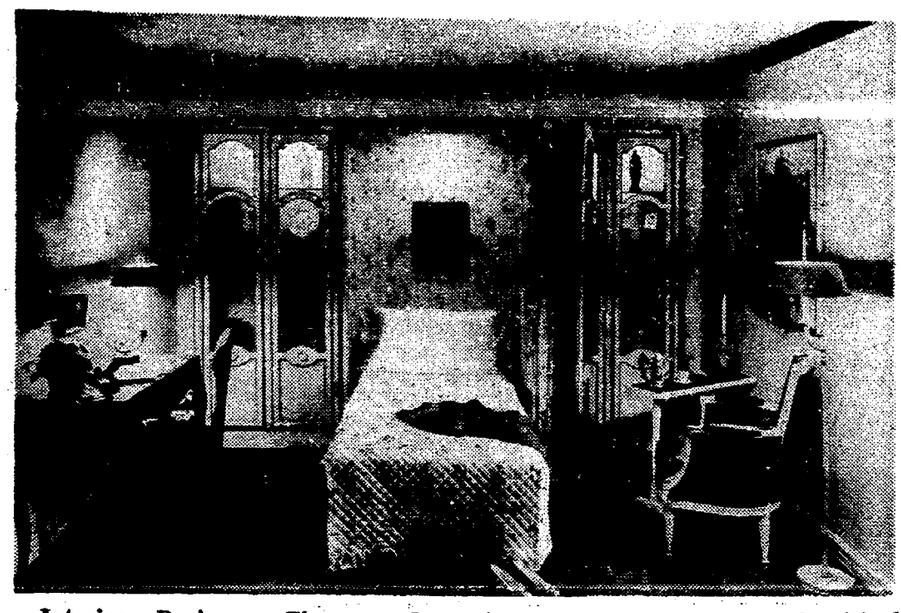
Art, Interiors Joined for Showing



Interior Designer Florence L. Schroeder used an all white background with accent pieces in emerald green. The bed folds into the wall unit for storage and is hidden behind a series of folding doors with drapery inserts. Below, a garret furnished with comfortable overstuffed sofa and chair, shows antiques used in conjunction with a shaggy modern rug. Walls, entirely covered with burlap, are accented with wood beams.

BY CAROL HANSON
Post-Crescent Home Furnishings Editor

Interior room settings featuring contemporary paintings, prints and sculpture are being shown through March 17 at the Milwaukee Art Center sponsored by the Friends of Art.

Ten rooms especially built, designed and furnished for the exhibition by invited members of the Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute of Interior Designers, incorporate pieces of art done by Wisconsin artists. The pieces were selected from the Friends of Art Collector's Gallery.

Contemporary Art

Gallery goers are being given the opportunity to view contemporary art in interior settings, many of which feature antiques and period furniture.

The contrast from the usual museum gallery exhibition was started last year in Milwaukee. It is a whole new concept in displaying paintings and is appealing to those interested in interior design as well.

One room featured fabrics, wall coverings and carpeting done in a variety of materials in mushroom white. The focal point of the room was a painting by Guido Brink, "Red Poppies," done in brilliant colors — reds, purples and blues — that were picked up by interior designer Donald F. Pratt and used on accent pieces.

Garret Room

A small garret room with a beamed ceiling that was extended down the walls of the room was furnished to give a cozy feeling to the occupants. The walls and ceiling were covered with burlap and a shaggy area rug was used in conjunction with antiques. The interior design is the work of Howard Litton, Estelle Libbey, Clem Tompsett and Stephany Landt.

Eight other rooms including libraries, offices, a study and bachelor apartment are on display.

Magic Ingredient

It was evident at the showing that the magic ingredient was the original art work. Many of the art objects are available for rent or sale. They might lend just the new or varied look to sparkle a familiar room.

The gallery is open to the public without charge daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Unique Gold Wig To be Displayed

A fantastic 24 karat gold wig — the only one of its kind in the world — will be put on sale from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday by the Walgreen Drug Store, 210 W. College, according to store manager T. H. Goodrich.

Price? Only $35,000. But everyone can afford to look at it!

Called the "Golden Cherub," the world-famous wig is completely spun of pure gold and was originally designed for Neiman Marcus by Joseph Marshall Imports, a division of Bishop Industries, Inc.

The unusual wig creation consists of 30 thousand strands of pure 24 karat spun gold, the finest gold ever drawn by man. Each strand is .0035 BS gauge in diameter — the same as the average human hair. Special machinery had to be designed to spin the gold because it had never before been drawn so fine. The smallest gauge of gold drawn up to this time had been .0050.

Hair Hand Tied

A total of two troy weight pounds of gold was used in the wig's production. However, the entire hairpiece in itself now weighs less than a pound, a little more than a similar headpiece of human hair.

The individual "hairs" are all hand tied, which took weeks of painstaking work on the part of six men and women. The texture of each is so fine that it is impossible to untie it or even find the knot.

Wig Won't Rust

Although the wig is virtually indestructible, it may need resetting occasionally, especially if the owner wears it often.

The wig will be delivered to the store under the protection of armed guards, and a skilled wig consultant will be on hand to answer questions and offer suggestions on wig care, styles, types.

Nice thing about the $35,000 wig is you can wear it in the rain. It won't rust!

Invitations Now Are Being Addressed for the Fourth Annual Palm Sunday Charity Brunch which is sponsored by St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary. The early spring event will take place in the East Lounge of Butte des Morts Golf Club, and proceeds will apply to the auxiliary's pledge to the hospital building fund. Tickets also may be purchased at the door. Working above at the home of Mrs. B. A. Pfefferle, co-chairman, are from left, Mrs. Patrick Toal, co-chairman; Mrs. E. L. Rosenow, committee member; Mrs. Pfefferle, and Mrs. Knight Blank, invitations chairman. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Entangled Opponents Don't Win

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you execute an end play, the subject of this week's articles, you don't necessarily force an opponent to lead up to your ace-queen. It's just as effective to entangle the opponents so that they cannot take all of their tricks.

South is in danger of losing three clubs as well as a spade. If he happens to lead the first club from dummy, East plays low, and the jack loses to the ace. On the next round of clubs, South must play low from dummy. East must play his king, and the rest of the clubs are good.

This is "right" because East happens to have only two clubs. If West had A-x or K-x of clubs, the "right" play would be to lead clubs first from the South hand instead of from the dummy. Instead of guessing the "right" play, South should execute an end play. He is safe if the ace and king of clubs are divided.

Knocks Out Ace

South takes the ace of diamonds, draws two rounds of trumps and knocks out the ace of spades. Even if West refuses the first spade, South can get to his hand with a third round of trumps to cash the third round of spades and then take dummy's top diamonds. This leaves declarer with one trump and three clubs in each hand, and it doesn't matter whether he or dummy has the lead.

Declarer simply plays a low club from each hand, defying the opponents to take three tricks. West can take the first club with the nine, but then East must win the next with the king. East must return a spade or a diamond, allowing dummy to ruff while South gets rid of his last club. West cannot get out of it by leading the ace rather than the ten of clubs, since then he captures his partner's king.

West can defeat the contract by giving East a club ruff before the trumps have been drawn, but this danger is pretty remote in actual play.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S- A 9 8 4, H- 8 7, D- J 10 9 4, C- A 10 9. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds (or two clubs). The hand is too strong for a raise to two spades. Bid a side suit first and raise the spades later.

Use Plastic Bag For Kneading Bread

You can save time and cut down on cleaning work if you keep a plastic bag handy when you are kneading bread. When the telephone rings you can slip your hand into the bag and answer.

Soap and Water Best Antiseptic

Soap and water has received official sanction as the best treatment to combat germs in a minor wound.

Here is a direct quote from "Today's Health", a magazine published by the American Medical Association:

"Wash out a wound with gauze or cotton soaked in soap and water. Some antiseptics do not prevent infection as well as soap and water and they may destroy tissue around the wound, retarding healing. Soap and water, on the other hand, kill some bacteria and wash away countless others."

Spring Fling

Wisconsin Names 'Mother of Year'

Mrs. Kahlenberg

OSHKOSH (AP) — The only woman ever named chairman of the executive council of the United Church of Christ, Mrs. George Kahlenberg of Two Rivers, was named Wisconsin's "Mother of the Year" Tuesday.

Mrs. Kahlenberg, mother of three grown daughters, was called "a rare mother who emphasized the spiritual and social virtues as well as the more practical" by Mrs. Bess M. Spees of Oshkosh, chairman of the state selection committee.

Mrs. Kahlenberg, a native of Rochester, Minn., who graduated from Northwestern, met her husband when she took her first teaching job at Two Rivers. She has, the committee said, headed at one time or another, all of the 12 community organizations to which she has belonged, and held many state service positions as well.

She was co-moderator of the first General Synod meeting of the United Church of Christ in 1961 and has traveled for her church into mission fields and national and international councils.

Mrs. Kahlenberg will be honored by her two sponsoring organizations, The Two Rivers Womens Club and the Fellowship of Grace Congregational Church, and during Mother's Day week will join the 49 other state winners in New York where the American Mothers Committee will select a national Mother of the Year.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, March 13, the 73rd day of 1968. There are 293 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1868, impeachment proceedings against President Andrew Johnson got under way in the U.S. Senate.

On this date:

In 1884, the system of Standard time was established in the United States.

In 1925, a bill designed to forestall the teaching of evolution was signed into law in Tennessee.

In 1933, banks throughout the United States began to open after a bank holiday proclaimed a week earlier by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1938, Nazi Germany annexed Austria.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy called for an Alliance for Progress in the Western Hemisphere.

Five years ago — The Soviet Union disclosed it was scrapping its current seven-year plan because it was out of step with the times.

French Diplomatic Post Expected for Shriver

PARIS (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, is expected to become ambassador to France, succeeding Charles E. Bohlen, informants said Tuesday.

Shriver has been rumored as Bohlen's successor for the past two weeks. A formal announcement of his acceptance by the French government is expected within about a week, the sources said.

Senior Citizen Gives Prayer She Uses as Personal Guide

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: So much is being said and written these days about senior citizens, but a lot of it is slanted toward what can be done to help them. Too little is being written about what they can do to help themselves. Since I am a member of that age group and realize that we need to be reminded about certain things from time to time, I am asking you to print the enclosed "Prayer For Older Folks."

It contains a great deal that is valuable. I ran across it several weeks ago and am sorry I do not know the name of the author.

Lord, thou knowest that I am growing older.

Keep me from becoming too talkative, and particularly keep me from falling into the tiresome habit of expressing an opinion on every subject.

Release me from the craving to straighten out everybody's affairs.

Keep my mind free from the recital of endless details. Give me wings to get to the point.

Give me grace, dear Lord, to listen to others describe their aches and pains. Help me to endure the boredom with patience and to keep my lips sealed. For my own aches and pains are increasing in number and intensity and the pleasure of discussing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by.

Teach me the glorious lesson that, occasionally, I might be mistaken.

Keep me reasonably sweet; I do not wish to be a saint (saints are so hard to live with) but a sour old woman is the crowning work of the devil.

Make me thoughtful, but not

Landers

moody; helpful, but not pushy; independent, yet able to accept with graciousness favors that others wish to bestow on me.

Free me of the notion that simply because I have lived a long time I am wiser than those who have not lived so long.

If I do not approve of some of the changes that have taken place in recent years, give me the wisdom to keep my mouth shut.

Lord knows that when the end comes I would like to have a friend or two left. — Senior C.

Dear Senior: Thanks for a beautiful prayer. There is something of value in it for any age.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are probably fed up on letters of this type, but will you print just one more clobber for wives who can't seem to forgive and forget?

What has the cheated wife lost besides 15 minutes — or 24 hours of his time? Most men, especially chasers, don't equate sex with love. Their marriage and children and home life will be affected only if the wife maintains a punitive or hurt attitude.

My husband is an alcoholic who has been dry for six years. The first 11 years of our marriage were a nightmare. It wasn't easy to forget the lost weekends, the police calls, the creditors and the damage to our children.

But I was able to understand, thank God, that he did what he was driven to do at the time. Besides, I wore no halo either. So get off your pedestal and welcome him home, woman, before you find yourself with real problems to forget. — Illini

Dear Illini: Well said. Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Handrich

Dinner Marks 50th Wedding

MANAWA — Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Handrich, 733 Depot St., were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with a family dinner at the Rainbow Supper Club, New London.

The couple was married March 12, 1918 at St. Paul Lutheran Church. They have two children, Mrs. John Skagen, Riverside, Conn., and Rolland Handrich, route 1, and five grandchildren.

Members of the 1918 wedding party who helped celebrate the anniversary were Mrs. August Mittlestaedt, Robert Zemple and Oswald Handrich, Poy Sippi.

soda, salt and sugar into mixing bowl. Cut in one tablespoon butter until mixture is fine. Gradually add milk to dry ingredients, stirring until well mixed. Turn dough onto floured board. Sprinkle dough with raisins; lightly knead for 30 seconds. Place dough onto greased baking sheet and flatten into seven-inch circle.

With sharp knife slash dough into quarters not cutting entirely through dough. Bake in 375 degree oven 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Brush with butter. Serve warm with butter, if desired. Recipe makes one loaf.

IRISH LAMB STEW

1½ pounds cubed lamb shoulder
1 quart water
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 bay leaves
2 cans (1 pound each) peas
3 cups diced potatoes
1½ cups whole white onions
1½ cups sliced carrots

Combine lamb, water, salt, pepper and bay leaves. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Drain peas; reserve liquid. Add liquid, potatoes, onions and carrots to lamb mixture. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes, or until vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally. Add peas and heat to serving temperature. Recipe makes six servings.

PAT'S CHOCOLATE CAKE

3 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups buttermilk
2 cups sugar
2 eggs, well-beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup solid shortening

Sift flour, baking soda and salt together. Blend buttermilk, sugar, eggs and vanilla in bowl. Melt chocolate and shortening together; blend into milk mixture. Gradually add sifted dry ingredients, beating until smooth after each addition. Turn into two greased and floured nine-inch round baking pans. Bake in 350 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cool for 5 minutes on wire rack, turn out. Frost with creamy white frosting, coloring enough green to pipe onto top in shamrock form.

LIMERICK HAM DINNER

Water
1 teaspoon Tabasco
6 whole cloves
1 garlic clove, peeled
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 large green cabbage (about 3½ pounds)
2 cans (1 pound each) whole white potatoes
½ cup minced parsley
Erin Horseradish Sauce

Place meat in large kettle; add water to cover. Stir in Tabasco, cloves, garlic, bay leaf and celery seed. Cover tightly; bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer until tender, allowing 35 minutes per pound. Remove to platter and keep warm; reserve cooking liquid for cabbage.

Wash cabbage and cut into six wedges. Boil, covered, in reserved cooking liquid about 8 to 10 minutes or until barely tender. Meanwhile, heat potatoes. Drain; roll in parsley. Arrange with ham and cabbage on serving platter. Serve with Erin Horseradish Sauce. Recipe makes six servings.

If desired, fresh potatoes may be used. Pare six medium potatoes. Cook in boiling salted water until just tender.

ERIN HORSERADISH SAUCE

¼ cup prepared horseradish
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon chopped chives, optional

In small bowl, combine horseradish, Tabasco and salt. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with chopped chives, if desired. Recipe makes one and one-third cups sauce.

Delicious Sauce For Ice Cream

You can please the youngsters by giving that next batch of ice cream you make a delicious sauce made of peanut butter. Mix peanut butter with honey or maple syrup to sweeten, and then thin to desired consistency with cream.

Baked Apple Idea

For a new flavor twist, bake Rome Beauty apples in tangerine juice.

'BEEF BEYOND BELIEF'

Swift's famous Premium beef is now tendered by an exclusive process that affects the beef only one way, that is the heat of cooking makes it more tender. Swift & Co. calls it Swift premium ProTen Beef, because every cut, even roasts you used to cook long and slowly, can now be oven roasted. Now you can buy, economically, roasts and other cuts, knowing they will always be tender every time. No more worries. Will the steak be tender? Will the roasts be good? Now at K-Mart Foods you can buy the "Beef Beyond Belief" and forget your worries. You can entertain with confidence and all this will be done in less cooking time. Seems unbelievable. Don't take our word for it. Try a cut of Swift Premium ProTen Beef from K-Mart Foods. If it is not to your satisfaction, we will refund double your money back. The proof is in the eating. We know you will love the "Beef Beyond Belief."

Lieutenant Pickets at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Burlington, Vt, Army officer arrested for picketing the White House with a sign reading "120,000 casualties—why?" has been turned over to military authorities.

A military spokesman said 2nd Lt. Dennis J. Morrisseau, 26, will be returned to his unit, the 46th Direct Support Group at Fort Devens, Mass., where the case will be dealt with by his commanding officer.

The officer, wearing his uniform, staged the one-man picket Sunday afternoon. White House and U S Park Police said they asked him to desist and he was arrested when he refused.

No specific charges were filed and he was released to return unescorted to Fort Devens where a report will be sent to his commanding officer, a spokesman said.

A Fort Devens information officer said Morrisseau recently displayed a "Let's Get Out of Vietnam" sticker on his sports car and was told by military police to remove either the bumper sticker or a Fort Devens decal.

Morrisseau is due to be sent to Vietnam in April after two weeks of jungle training in Panama, the spokesman said.

Louisiana Couple Has 27th Child

HOUMA, La (AP) — With the arrival of a healthy eight-pound boy, Mrs Antoine Lodrigue has given birth to her 27th child. He was christened Morris.

Twenty-one of the Lodrigue children are living. Three are married, 17 are at the family's two-bedroom frame home.

Mrs Lodrigue, 41, has had four sets of twins, one set of triplets. Lodrigue, 49, works for a packing company.

At home, the girls sleep in one bedroom, the boys in the kitchen and the parents and younger children share the other bedroom. At meals, they take turns at the table.

8-Story Trailer Park Planned in California

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — An eight-story trailer park, equipped with a crane to lift each trailer to its respective floor, is the latest concept in high-rise condominium living in Southern California.

The promoter, screen actor Don Beddoe, calls the proposed steel and concrete framework an "apartmobile." He has tentatively chosen Capistrano Beach as a site.

We think there should be seven.
Not five or six.
With A&P's seven-rib portion, you get more of the select meat.

How can you tell how many ribs you're getting?
It's easy.
With your fingers, you can feel and count the rib bones in the package.

Next time you're buying a Pork Loin Rib Portion, check it.
If you can't count one, two, three, four, five, six, seven ribs, you're missing select meat.
You're not getting the best value for your meat dollar.

Papermakers Seek to Continue Sizzling Play

Eau Claire Memorial Favored Over Kimberly in Opener

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Edition

Eau Claire Memorial (22-1) has been tabbed the favorite for its 3 p.m. Thursday state tournament basketball game against Kimberly (19-4) — but, chances are, the Papermakers couldn't care less.

The Papermakers, who are still lightly regarded in over-all tournament speculation despite their sizzling play of the last three weekends, have specialized in debunking pre-tourney game evaluations. Four times in five tournament games, Kimberly has been rated no better than an even choice to win. The Papermakers not only won each time but did it decisively.

Playing on the Kaukauna court against the Ghost team that had held them to a split in regular-season play, the Papermakers racked up a 62-52 win. Against Appleton West, Kimberly was playing a team that had taken two out of three from AHS-E, a Papermaker conqueror. But the Papermakers trimmed the Terrors, 66-55.

In the Pulaski game, Kimberly met a team that not only boasted a glossier record but featured a 35-point-per-game tournament scorer. The Papermakers breezed, 68-45.

Only 2 Losses

Then against Sturgeon Bay, a high-scoring aggregation with only two losses (by one and three points) the Papermakers were supposedly meeting another 'toss-up" foe. But, Kimberly shocked the Clippers, 70-54.

Only against Shiocton, a team they beat, 67-47, did the Papermakers enter a tourney game as definite favorites.

Over-all, the Jack Wippich-coached Papermakers carry a 7-game win streak into the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse — and each of these victories was scored by a double-figure margin.

Kimberly and Eau Claire will both be "daylight" teams for at least the first two days of the tourney. The winner of their Thursday game will meet the winner of the 1:30 p.m. Thursday contest between Beloit (20-3) and Brookfield East (22-1) at 3 p.m. Friday. In a procedural departure this year, one championship-bracket game will be played Friday afternoon and the other Friday night. The losers of Thursday's two matinee contests will meet at 1:30 p.m. Friday in a consolation game.

The 1967-68 Papermakers' sensational surge has returned Kimberly to the state-meet limelight after an absence of nine years and has given the Fox Cities a "Madison" representative for the fourth consecutive year. Appleton qualified for the state tourney in 1965 and 1967, while Neenah made the trip in 1966.

Kimberly will strive to retain its sharply-honed edge against the tall and talented Old Abes. Eau Claire Memorial, almost a perennial state-meet qualifier, has averaged 77 points a game and is undefeated in this state. The Old Abes have won 10 in a row since dropping a 74-73 decision to Winona, Minn.

All of Eau Claire Memorial's tourney wins have come by double figure margins, the closest of which was 11 points (81-70) against Chippewa Falls.

Beat Lincoln

In their season opener, the Old Abes shellacked 1967 state champion Milwaukee Lincoln, 81-56, in a game that proved prophetic for the Comets' chances of defending their WIAA title.

Kimberly's credentials include: the tourney's best defensive record, scoring balance, excellent ball handling, speed and hustle. The Papermakers have allowed an average of only 51.7 points per game.

Offensively, the Papermakers rank last in the elite field of eight teams — with a 62.3 average. This figure can be deceptive, however, since Kimberly has frequently played a deliberate game. Sturgeon Bay, which had gone into the sectional tournament with a defensive average of barely more than 50 points, can attest to the Papermakers' offensive prowess. Kimberly scored almost at will in the sectional title game.

Because of Kimberly's exceptional scoring balance, no foe can concentrate on any shooter. Four of the five Papermaker regulars are averaging in double figures for the five tourney games.

Bill Lamers is zeroing in at a 15.2-point tourney rate, while other Kimberly averages are: Jeff Wildenberg, 13.6; Don Hagany, 12.2; and Jeff VandenHeuvel, 10.6. Starter Wayne Swokowski's tournament average is 6.4, but he gave Pulaski an impressive sample of his offensive capabilities with a 15-point game.

Based on past performance, the Papermakers should hold their own with the taller Old Abes under the boards. Kimberly gained great rebounding position on its sectional meet foes. The 6-3 Wildenberg and the 6-1 VandenHeuvel set the rebounding pace, but the other starters and first reserve Paul Van Grinsven all come up with their share of retrieves.

Hagany, the shortest Papermaker regular, surprised many observers with his rebounding in the Green Bay sectional. Though he is only 5-foot-10, Hagany often plays the back line on defense and is strong under the boards.

The Jim Gleboff-coached Old Abes have set a torrid tourney scoring pace of 90 points. They have also achieved good scoring balance, with 6-foot John Howe leading the way, on a 17-point average.

Jeff Adler, 6-foot-7 center who recently returned to action after having been sidelined with a broken hand, heads the Eau Claire rebounding force. He gets plenty of help from 6-6 Bill Mills, 6-1 Bill Sowerwine, 6-0, Larry Bugher and Howe. All the Olde Abe starters are seniors.

While Eau Claire Memorial, the state's fourth-ranked team in the final AP poll, is favored in the upper bracket, Manitowoc (23-0 and second-rated in the state) is considered tops in the lower bracket.

The Ships face Schofield (22-1) at 7 p.m. Thursday, while South Milwaukee (16-7) and Wisconsin Dells (20-3), a couple of dark-horses, meet at 8:45 p.m.

Little Chute Public High to Have Own Sports Program

Seeks Admission to the CWC; Tie With St. John Ends

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — The Little Chute Public High School, which reaches a 4-year status with the start of this fall's term, will inaugurate a full-time athletic program of its own.

For the last two years, students from the public high school have participated in athletics at St. John Catholic High School and as members of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference.

In a unanimous vote of school board members Tuesday night, it was decided to start the school's own program and seek admission to the Central Wisconsin Conference. Both motions received majority "yes" votes, with board president Dr. F. X. Van Lieshout going on record with "no" votes to both proposals.

Entire Program

Triggering the board action on the athletic program was a letter from the school board of St. John Catholic School which indicated the Catholic school did not wish to participate in a "shared" athletic program as was planned when the public school reached a full 4-year status. The letter stated that the Catholic school preferred to operate the entire athletic program as it has been doing for the past two years.

The "shared" program would have seen each school having one of the major sports (football or basketball) and a 50-50 split on equipment costs, other expenses and revenues.

Superintendent of schools Leo Bronkalla, after reading the letter from the St. John school board said: "In my estimation, this constitutes a breach of faith. I do not see much choice for us, it's not an easy decision, but we are trying to do what is right for our students and our faculty."

Similar Enrollment

Bronkalla reported on his contacts with schools in the Central Wisconsin Conference and said findings indicated most of the schools would have an enrollment similar to what Little Chute's is anticipated to be in the near future.

"We see an enrollment of about 250 in the high school next year and our future outlook is for 400 to 500. Of the Central Wisconsin schools, practically all range within these figures except Waupaca, which has about 700 students," Bronkalla offered.

In voicing his objections to the full-time athletic program, Dr. Van Lieshout said he felt the community was too small to field two football teams.

Board member Joseph Vander Velden said: "After the letter from St. John's, I see no other choice."

Football Program

Michael Kons, another member of the board, inquired as to the possibility of going along with the Catholic school for the football part of athletics and have a baseball team at the public school, but the proposal never reached a vote.

Athletic director Bill Fitzpatrick reported on the cost for outfitting a football team with game and practice equipment. Fitzpatrick said: "The future of our school depends on what type of athletic program we develop." He also cited school spirit between students and the faculty as a factor in all-around educational harmony.

The Central Wisconsin Conference will hold a meeting Tuesday, and it is expected that the formal application of the Little Chute school for membership will be acted on at that time.

Ohio State Edges Iowa, Wins Tourney Berth

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Team depth overshadowed a tenacious catch-up effort in Ohio State's 85-81 Big Ten basketball playoff victory over Iowa Tuesday night that earned the Buckeyes a berth in the NCAA regional competition.

Lagging from the field throughout the contest, the Hawkeyes weren't on the scoreboard with a field goal until 11:58 to play in the first half. They averaged .366 for the game on 28 baskets in 77 attempts at Purdue's neutral field house.

But a well-executed press kept the Hawkeyes in contention throughout the game and they sliced a 12-point Ohio State lead in the final minutes to two points with only 22 seconds remaining.

Williams Scores 29

The winners' front line of Bill Hosket, Steve Howell and Dave Sorenson produced point totals of 24, 22 and 12, respectively. High for the losers was Sam Williams with 29. Chad Calabria added 17 for Iowa.

OSU moves to the NCAA regional at Lexington, Ky., and will open against East Tennessee Friday.

Buckeye Coach Fred Taylor said he hadn't made any plans for competition in the NCAA regionals.

He said after the game that a week-long layoff punctuated by only three practice sessions dulled the Ohio State performance.

Iowa Coach Ralph Miller said, "We were too tense at the start and had to play catch-up—a dangerous way to play basketball. We never did loosen up as far as shooting."

Taylor praised the Iowa press and said he was surprised it didn't result in more fouling.

Both teams had 10-4 records in the Big Ten to finish as conference co-champions. The playoff was the first in the Big Ten since 1908.

Lallensack Hits Winning Goal

Titans Upset Guilford Quint

KANSAS CITY — Oshkosh State University's Titans made their first victory ever in the NAIA small-college basketball tournament a big one Tuesday night, when coach Bob White's crew upset No. 1-seeded Guilford of North Carolina, 80-78, in a pulsating finish.

Senior forward John Lallensack was the immediate hero for the battling Titans, as he down the lane and flipped in the winning basket with only one second remaining. "Sack" collided with Guilford's Bo Whitaker on the play and both looked up from the floor to watch the ball roll in as the buzzer sounded.

"These boys have a lot inside them," a jubilant White said following the surprise win. "As soon as the pairings were made and we drew the No. 1 team," he went on, "our players adopted a good mental attitude. We weren't scared. Last year we came back here and choked up. But this time they all played a beautiful game."

Meets Montana '5'

Oshkosh, unseeded in the meet, will face Eastern Montana in its second round game at 10:30 p.m. today. The Montana team also notched an upset the same evening, an 83-70 triumph over 16-th-seeded Wayne State of Nebraska.

The underdog Titans, who had been down by as many as 11 points in the first half, refused to fold and battled back to grab a 46-45 lead after the opening moments of the second half.

The game was nip and tuck the rest of the way, with the lead changing hands 13 times and neither team able to manage a bigger margin than three points at any one time. Oshkosh appeared in a favorable spot with 35 seconds to go after Roy Hayek, the game's high scorer with 27 points, popped in two free throws to give the Titans a 78-75 edge.

However, Whitaker — a diminutive 5-7 guard — was fouled with 24 seconds left and went to the foul line. He looped through the first one, and then missed the second, but the Quakers' Pat Moriarity was on the spot to tap in the rebound to tie the game at 78-all.

The Unexpected

That set up Lallensack's dramatics. After a timeout, the Titans put the ball in play with 15 seconds showing. Many of the 8,200 spectators and the Guilford players expected Hayek to take the final shot, but Hayek passed to Lallensack at the top of the key. He saw an opening and drove in hard to push through the final goal.

Lallensack wound up with 19 points to back Hayek's effort, and center Bill Schwartz added 10. Bob Kaufman, the Quakers' 6-8 Little All-American candidate, poured through 23 points but was hampered with four fouls.

Berry to Take Coaching Post With Cowboys

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Raymond Berry, retiring All-Pro end of the Baltimore Colts, says he's going to take a job as pass receiving coach for the Dallas Cowboys.

"I'm real happy about it," he said Tuesday. "I hadn't really planned on coaching. The main thing is the fact that my mom and dad live close to Dallas."

Berry, a 12-year veteran of the National Football League wars, is working with pass receivers again during spring football drills at Baylor University. He expects to join the Dallas staff about May 1, becoming the sixth assistant of Coach Tom Landry.

Ships Have Height And Balance, Plus A Strong Bench

Schofield Features Determined Defensive Play, Top Rebounding

By KEN HARTNETT

MADISON (AP) — Ninth-ranked Schofield isn't about to tip its hat prematurely to second-ranked Manitowoc, Wisconsin's only unbeaten team and the Evergreens' foe Thursday in the opening round of the state basketball tournament.

But should Manitowoc win, Schofield would endorse all the good things said about the Ships.

"Our kids have a lot of determination to make an all out run for it," said Schofield Coach Bill Kuse, the only Schofield coach ever to guide the Evergreens into the Madison games. "They think that anyone who can beat us has to be a real good team."

Schofield has lost only once in 23 games, falling to a good Wisconsin Rapids team, 75-60. The loss was avenged when Schofield knocked Rapids out of the regional finals, 71-70.

Kuse Takes Over

Kuse took over as basketball coach four years ago and worked to make football-mad Schofield aware that basketball could also be fun. His formula—convert the football team into the basketball team.

Twelve of Schofield's 14 players also play football. Dan Pregont, the star football quarterback, is the star basketball floor leader. Bill Alexejun, perhaps the best all-around Schofield football player, is also the best all-around basketball player. He rebounds well and scores 22 points per game.

Two other football players, Kurt Spychalla and Gordie Kosobucki, are the top rebounders, with Spychalla getting about 18 a game and Kosobucki nine. The fifth player, Terry Woznicki, scores about 16 points a game. Pregont gets 10.

"They're athletes who know what it is to compete," said Kuse. The spirit plus a determined defense, good rebounding and accurate shooting have carried Schofield this far.

The same elements have worked for Manitowoc, a team that hasn't been outrebounded all season and has seldom been even extended.

The Ships, state champions in 1963, have height in 6-foot-7 Pete Hansen and 6-foot-4 Tom Haag. Rocky Jiroch, 6-foot, and Vic Trastek, 6-foot-1, are tall enough and fine shooters. Bill Sepnafski is 5-foot-10 and a good shooter and ball handler.

Spychalla and Kosobucki are 6-foot-4 for Schofield while Alexojun is 6-foot-3 and Woznicki 6-foot-2. Pregon is 5-foot-9.

Both teams have balance to go with their height.

"We're a pretty unselfish group," said Ed Fleener, the Manitowoc coach. "All five of our starters have scored 22 or 24 points in at least one game this season."

It's also a cohesive group. There are only two juniors and no sophomores on Manitowoc's 12-man tournament roster. "The guys are very closely knit," Fleener said.

Hansen is Manitowoc's key man. He gets about 12.5 rebounds per game and scores about 22 points a performance. Haag rebounds at about the same rate and scores about 15 points per game. Trastek scores and rebounds at figures similar to Haag's.

Manitowoc's most striking quality is not its statistics but its balance. No one player, not even Hansen, carries the team. Against Neenah in the sectional finals Hansen was forced to the sidelines after the Rockets had battled their way back into the game with six minutes to go.

The Ships led 56-54 when Hansen left. They won 66-57 without him.

Depth helps Manty. Fleener has good substitutes and uses them, substituting early and often in a usually successful effort to wear down the opposition.

The sixth man is 6-foot-5 Pat Walsh but 6-foot-2 Pat Mertz, 6-foot-1 Mark Miller and 5-foot-8 Dick Rosinsky see a lot of action.

Fleener doesn't think that Manitowoc's status as the highest ranked team in the tournament and the only unbeaten team in the state is going to hurt.

"We don't look at it as a detriment at all," he said. "We're proud of the fact that we're unbeaten."

Kuse sees some slight advantage and a slight advantage may be all that Schofield will need. Both teams are statistically close. Manitowoc has scored an average of 78.2 points per game while allowing 60 points. Schofield has scored less, averaging 74.3 points, but has a defensive average of only 55 points.

"They have to be pretty much on the defensive against us," Kuse said. "We have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

Underdogs Are Having Fun in NAIA Tourney

7 Seeded Clubs Suffer Defeats In First Round

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The underdogs are having fun in the 31st NAIA basketball tourney. Top-seeded Guilford, N.C., and second-seeded Stephen F. Austin, Tex., both were ousted in the first round Tuesday, putting three of the top four on the sidelines.

Oshkosh, Wis., State took out Guilford 80-78 on John Lallensack's driving layup with one second left. Eastern Michigan's Earle Higgins, a 29-point scorer, hit a 20-footer one second before the buzzer, beating Stephen F. Austin, 82-80.

Central State of Ohio, seeded No. 3, hit 52 per cent from the field in an easy 81-64 conquest of Millikin of Illinois. Fourth-seeded Oklahoma Christian was beaten in overtime Monday night by Fairmont, W.Va.

Seven seeded clubs were defeated in the 16 first round games, but some could be termed only mild upsets. The top-ranked clubs quickly became targets, however.

Still Around

The 5-6-7-8 seeded teams are still around, and one of the most impressive was Northeastern Oklahoma, 26-3, seeded No. 8, which ripped Athens, Ala., 89-72 with 6-9, 220-pound Charles Paulk scoring 27. Northeastern, rated No. 1 in the final NAIA coaches' poll, was upset by Oklahoma Christian in the district playoffs, but came as an at-large entry, when district 9 couldn't produce a representative.

Northeastern Oklahoma faces Drury, Mo., 23-4 in the 7 p.m., CST game of the second round. The opening game at 9:30 a.m. today pitted Monmouth, N.J., 26-1, against sixth-seeded Westminster, Pa., 20-6, whose coach, Buzz Ridl, is the new Pittsburgh U. coach.

Fairmont met New Haven, Conn., 17-11, at 11:15; Eastern Michigan, 19-8, faced Hanover, Ind., 107-59 winner over Southern Oregon, at 1 p.m. Then No. 10-seeded Central Washington, 21-7, a 95-72 winner over Albuquerque, N.M., took on No. 5-seeded, high-scoring Alcorn A-& M. iMss., at 2:45.

Unseeded Dickinson, N.D., 22-5, which upset 12th-seeded Washburn of Kansas 76-71 with 64 per cent last half field shooting and nine straight free throws in the last 2:14, meets fifth-seeded St. Cloud, Minn., at 8:45.

Central State of Ohio, now 25-4, rates an edge over Valdosta, Ga., 23-9, in 5:15 game. In the final contest at 10:30 p.m., Oshkosh meets Eastern Montana, 20-7, which ousted 16th-seeded Wyane, Neb., 83-70.

Four quarterfinal games will be played Thursday night with the semifinals Friday night and finals Saturday night.

Leaping at the left is Guilford's Pat Moriarty. Lallensack later scored the winning basket for the Titans as they nipped top-seeded Guilford, 80-78. (AP Wirephoto)

More Lenient

New Ruling Will Make 'Spitter' Illegal Pitch

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The pitchers still have to keep their hands out of their mouths but baseball has decided to be a little more lenient with them for awhile if they forget the rule.

Commissioner William D. Eckert announced Tuesday that pitchers will no longer be ejected from the game after two violations of the new spitball rule. Instead, they will be charged with an illegal pitch, similiar to a balk.

The spitball has long been an illegal pitch but violations became so frequent that the rules committee decided on a crackdown. Umpires were busy this spring explaining the rule which called for one warning and then expulsion from a game for a pitcher who brought his hand in contact with his mouth or lips.

Strict Enforcement

American League umpires enforced the rule strictly and several pitchers including Dean Chance of Minnesota, Camilo Pascual of Washington and Dennis Ribant of Detroit, have been thrown out of exhibition games.

National League umpires were more lenient and confusion developed as to how far a pitcher could go. Thus the decision to change the punishment from ejection to a less severe penalty.

Commissioner Eckert said the revised rule would be in effect until the Rules Committee is able to restudy the problem, probably before opening day April 8.

Joe Franklin Selected as Badgers' MVP

MADISON (AP)— Joe Franklin, Wisconsin's scoring and rebounding leader, was named the basketball team's most valuable player for the 1967-68 season at the 45th annual Gyro Club Banquet Tuesday night.

It was the second straight year Franklin's teammates have voted him the honor.

He scored 544 points last season, setting a new single-season scoring mark for the Badgers. His effort erased the record set last year by teammate Chuck Nagle.

Franklin also set a record for career scoring. He has scored 1,215 points or 35 more than the record set by Dick Cable in a four-year career from 1952-55. Franklin averaged 22.7 points per game last season as Wisconsin finished fifth in the Big Ten with a 7-7 mark.

Among the 21 other school records set by Franklin were most career rebounds, 858; most rebounds in one season, 334 and most Big Ten career rebounds, 526.

The Badgers' free throw trophy was presented to Mike Carlin, a senior from Valparaiso, Ind. Carlin hit on 56 of 70 gift tosses.

Franklin Third In Point Race, Top Rebounder

Mount Establishes New Soph Record in Topping Scorers

CHICAGO (AP) — Purdue's Rick Mount reigned Wednesday as Big Ten basketball scoring champion and best sophomore pointmaker in conference history.

Mount, a deadly gunner who stands 6-4 and weighs 177, fulfilled his promise as a Lebanon, Ind.. prep phenom by shooting a 29.7-point average against heavy defensive pressure in his 14-game conference debut.

That gave him the eighth highest scoring average in the Big Ten book and eclipsed the previous top average for a sophomore, 27.4, by another Purdue star, Terry Dischinger, in 1960.

Mount finished well ahead of runnerup Sam Williams of co-champion Iowa, who averaged 25.6 for the regular season, according to final Big Ten official statistics.

Kondla Fourth

Third place went to Wisconsin's talented Joe Franklin with 24.4. The dethroned champion, Minnesota's Tom Kondla, wound up fourth with 24.0 after a poor start that crippled his title defense.

Dave Scholz of Illinois finished fifth with 23.0 and Ohio State's brawny Bill Hosket was sixth with 21.3.

An evenly matched trio of shooters for Michigan, which derailed Iowa's last-game bid for the clear-cut conference title, took the next three places. They included Dennis Stewart, seventh with 18.93; Rudy Tomjanovich, eighth with 18.68, and Jim Pitts, ninth with 18.7.

Individual rebound leader was Badger Franklin with a 13.9 average.

Co-champion Ohio State not only was the top offensive team with an 86.9 per game average, but also set a conference record for field goal accuracy. The Buckeyes posted a .516 percentage, shattering the former mark of .497 set in 1960, also by Ohio State.

Illini Top Defense

Final defensive leader was Illinois, yielding only 66.4 points per game, despite winding up in a three-way tie for sixth place in the title race. Fourth-spot Northwestern was the rebound leader with an average of 46.3 retrieves and the best recovery percentage, 53.2.

The regular campaign also produced a conference attendance record with a total of 667,081 fans and a 9,530 per game average. The former record was a 641,139 total and 9,159 average in 1964.

IOC Executive Board Slated To Meet April 20

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — South Africa's controversial readmission to the Olympic Games will be the topic of discussion here April 20-21 at a special meeting of the International Olympic Committee's executive board.

IOC President Avery Brundage called the meeting Tuesday in reaction to pressure from Mexican organizing officials and other sources. But he spurned a demand by five members of the executive board that he call a general meeting of the 73-member IOC.

More than 40 nations withdrew from the Summer Olympics, scheduled for October in Mexico City, following South Africa's readmission last month at the IOC's general convention.

South Africa was barred from the 1964 Games in Tokyo because of its policy of separating whites and blacks.

Stein Leads YMCA Boys Pin League

Leo Gets Thumb in Cubs' 12-2 Defeat

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can start the baseball season anytime now. Leo Durocher is ready.

The athletes struggle each spring getting their arms and legs in shape for the summer grind. But Leo has it easier. He needs to worry only about his lip.

Durocher's lip, jaw and other vocal equipment was in top form Tuesday and they earned him an early exit as his Chicago Cubs absorbed a 12-2 pounding from the San Francisco Giants in an exhibition game at Scottsdale, Ariz.

In other games, the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 5-4, Minnesota tripped the New York Yankees 8-5, the Chicago White Sox ripped Boston 10-5, Pittsburgh routed Detroit 14-5, and Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 9-0 in a game halted by rain after five innings.

Also Cincinnati nipped Houston 8-7, Washington dropped Atlanta 7-2, Oakland nipped Baltimore 6-5 and California shaded Cleveland 4-3.

Durocher took on Umpire Mel Steiner in the bottom of the fourth inning after the Giants had embarrassed 20-game winner Ferguson Jenkins with six straight hits and five runs in the top half of the inning.

"Rubbed"

The battle started over a spitball warning to Jenkins early in the inning which rubbed Durocher the wrong way.

After the argument, three baseballs were thrown onto the field from the Cubs' dugout — two in Steiner's direction and the third striking a photographer on the field.

The Giants collected 21 hits, 19 of them singles, against five Cub pitchers.

The Mets got only two hits against Los Angeles, but three errors, two of them by new shortstop Zoilo Versalles, beat the Dodgers. New York got both hits — a single by Al Ewis and a triple by Cleon Jones — in the third inning when errors by Versalles and Jim Lefebvre helped build four runs.

Pitcher Jim Grant, victim of the big inning, had homered for the Dodgers in the top half of the inning.

Key Double

Ron Clark's bases-loaded double in the seventh inning brought Minnesota from behind and helped the Twins beat the Yankees. Joe Pepitone homered for New York and rookie Pat Kelly connected for Minnesota.

The White Sox battered Boston pitchers for 18 hits as catcher Dick Booker drove in four runs and Rocky Colavito smashed Chicago's first spring home run. George Scott tagged a pair and Gene Oliver had one for the Red Sox.

Pittsburgh rushed 11 runs across against Detroit's Pat Dobson and Joe Sparma in the third inning and coasted past the Pirates. Al McBean, who pitched three hitless innings, drove in two runs with a single in the big inning.

Don Lock had three hits including a three-run homer and Chris Short hurled four scoreless innings as the Phillies battered the Cardinals.

Get 4 in 9th

Two Houston errors and Alex Johnson's bases-loaded double helped Cincinnati to four ninth inning runs that beat the Astros. Lee Bales' error opened the gates for the Reds.

Three singles, a passed ball and an error gave Washington five fifth inning runs and the Senators rapped Atlanta. Singles by Frank Coggins and Ed Brinkman drove in two runs and shortstop Angel Hermoso's error allowed two more.

Bert Campaneris, Danny Cater and Sal Bando all homered for Oakland but it took 11th inning doubles by Rick Monday and Jim Pagliaroni to beat Baltimore. Andy Etchbarren, Don Buford and Boog Powell homered for the Orioles.

Verkuilen, Siebers Lead Kaukauna Recreation Loops

KAUKAUNA — Schouten Oil, winner of the recreation department-sponsored Class A City Basketball League, placed two men in the top five scoring list and three in the top 10.

Joe Verkuilen, of Triangle Tap, led the scoring with 283 points, Bill Biekkola, Ploetz Electric, had 220; Gary Verstegen, Schouten, 206; Bill Simon, Kappell's, 196; and Gary Weigman, Schouten, 184.

Rose Hill Bar, Class B winners, also had two men in the top five and three in the top 10. Leading was James Siebers, Patti and Bob's Bar, 247; Bruce Kobs, Rose Hill, 180; Paul Geurts, Rose Hill, 160; Mike Hooyman, Blumreich's 143, and Bob LaPlante, Kaukauna Athletic Club, 125.

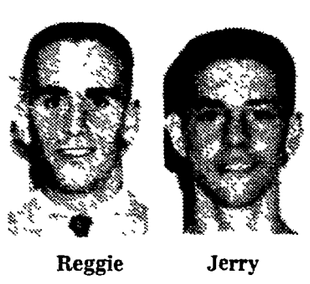
Lamers Brothers Have Been Members of Four State Tourney Teams

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kimberly High School is certain to have its share of rabid boosters in the stands Thursday when the Papermakers make their first appearance in the WIAA State Basketball Tournament, but for two of these backers — Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lamers — the occasion calls for added cheering.

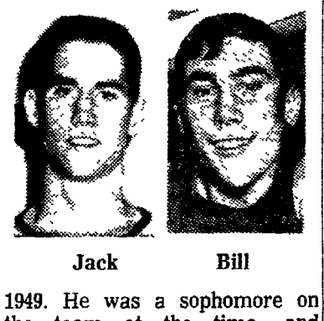
For the fourth time in its history, Kimberly has gained a spot among the state's top eight schools after tournament competition, and for the fourth time, one of the Lamers' sons will have played on that particular squad.

The first was Reggie, back in



Reggie

Jerry



Jack

Bill

1949. He was a sophomore on the team at the time, and because only 10 players were allowed to suit up in the state meet, he watched his mates from the bleachers. He later went on to become an All-Mid-Eastern Conference selection.

Jerry, or "The Jugger" as he was known, followed in 1955 and was instrumental in a pair of Kimberly victories over Platteville and Wausau. Jack, who later went on to fame at Michigan State, was next in 1959 and paced the Papermakers with 48 points in two tourney games that year. Kimberly had a 23-0 regular-season record.

Last of 7

And now the honor of playing on a state tournament club goes to Bill, a 16-year-old junior, who is the last of the Lamers' seven children. (Tom Lamers, also a member of this year's Kimberly squad, is no relation).

Bill, 6-0 and built along the lines of Reggie and Jerry, has been the Papermakers' top scorer in the five games leading to the state tournament. He has averaged 15.2 points per game in the stretch, including 21-point performances against Kaukauna and Pulaski.

The youngest of the clan, noted for a deadly set shot from the outside, was bothered earlier in the year by a pulled hamstring muscle and a sprained ankle. He missed three Mid-Eastern Conference contests but totaled 100 points in 11 starts.

Papa Lamers anf his wife Germaine are looking forward to Kimberly's participation this week, and an excitement permeates the Lamers household. "We've got the tickets bought and places to stay," the 57-year old father enthused in an interview Tuesday night.

Will the entire family be at the tournament? "That's pretty hard to accomplish with the four oldest ones away from home," he explained. "Reg works in Minneapolis and Marilyn (the oldest girl) lives in Neenah and has six children, but Jerry and Jack will both be there."

Sees Sectional Meet

Jack, who is a department manager at a Milwaukee Sears-Roebuck store, came home last week to watch the Papermakers in the sectional tournament. "He was going to come home Sunday, but he just got that itch," the elder Lamers said with a laugh.

The Lamers' intense interest for basketball extends throughout the family. Mr. Lamers played the game at St. Norbert High School in the mid-1920's, and Mrs. Lamers' enthusiasm has followed naturally with five sons. One of the boys, Don, did not make the Kimberly varsity team, but played on the junior varsity. Karen, 19, a sophomore at Stevens Point State University, was a Kimberly cheerleader for four years.

"We all played it around here," Mr. Lamers says of his family's beloved sport. "We had a playground across the street and there were always a couple of hoops there."

"They (his sons) all had desire — that was the biggest thing," he continued. "What they lacked in height they made up for in determination and aggressiveness." Reggie, Jerry, and Bill all are near an even six feet; Jack is the tallest at 6-2½.

Mr. Lamers is anxious to watch this year's edition of Kimberly in state tourney action. "It's a little different type of basketball they play today," he says thoughtfully.

"But their defense, I think, is really superb. I don't think there is anybody who can play defense like these guys can. They really hustle and can steal the ball without fouling," he added.

Like other Kimberly followers, Mr. Lamers likes to see a balanced scoring attack. "They're all good shots," he pointed out, "all five guys. If one guy is off, the others will pick up the slack."

As one might expect, Mr. Lamers refuses to name one son who has provided him with his greatest thrills on the court. "Well, that's hard to say," he admits. "I've seen a lot of basketball with them — ever since they started in Holy Name Grade School. I can't pick one."

Ellis-Quarry Bout Awarded To Oakland

WBA Title Match Will be Televised Nationally April 27

OAKLAND (AP) — Jimmy Ellis says it will be "the fight of the year." For Ellis and Jerry Quarry it'll also be the payoff of a lifetime.

Ellis and Quarry, having each climbed over two other fighters in the World Boxing Association elimination tournament, will battle it out here Saturday night April 27 for the WBA heavyweight championship.

The fight was awarded Monday to Oakland promoter Don Chargin and will be fought in the 14,000-capacity Oakland Coliseum Arena beginning at 10 p.m., EST.

The bout, awarded by Sports Action, Inc., will be televised virtually worldwide. The ABC network will carry it live and the fight will be beamed to Europe, Japan and much of Asia. A 150-mile area around Oakland will be blacked out.

Receive Guarantee

Each of the fighters has been guaranteed $125,000 for the night's work and the tournament winner is almost assured of a match against Joe Frazier.

Frazier knocked out Buster Mathis March 4 to win recognition—in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Illinois—as Cassius Clay's successor to the heavyweight throne.

The only serious challenge to promoter Chargin came from the Olympic Boxing Club in Los Angeles but it is reported ABC opposed the southern California location because it would have blacked out a lucrative home television market.

A live gate of $400,000 is expected for the 15-round bout with tickets scaled at $10 to $50.

Marvis Buboltz Cracks 587 Count

Ruby Tuchscherer Jolts 594 Series

Ruby Tuchscherer blasted games of 222 and 200 for a 594 series, just six pins shy of a national honor count to lead the Nite-Out League at Sabre Lanes Tuesday.

Ann Rivet had a 527 series and Kathy Sether fired a 501 for other Nite-Out scores.

In the Hit 'N Miss League at the 41 Bowl last night, Marvis Buboltz cracked a 224 game and 587 series to lead the action. Carole Eckes had a 520 series on games of 190 and 194 while Donna Larson rolled 190-516 and Loretta Andrews hit a 201 game.

Sally Geibel powered a 225 game and 572 series for top scores in the Early Birds League at Sabre Lanes. Alice Patterson smashed a 560 series on lines of 191 and 192 while Audrey Bazile had 199-526.

Joan Kolosso set the pace in the American League at the 41 Bowl last night as she slammed games of 192 and 213 for a 570 series. Carole grabbed a share of top honors with a 233 game and 525 series while other high scores included Barbara Krause 213-515, Fritzie Meyers 515, Bernice Moore 200 and Margaret Stingle 204.

Marion Lappen paced the Tag-a-Long League at the 41 Bowl last night with a 214 game and 549 series. Iona Hanson hit a 205 game, Barbara Karweick had a 203 and others with top scores included Terry Reynebeau 199-513, Pat Howard 193, Phyllis Suehring 190 and Ruth Behling 196.

Joan Hawkins hit a 201 game and Eileen Belling had a 539 series to lead the Five by Eight League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday. Joan finished with a 530 series and June Williamson had a 191 game and 518 series.

Dee Kohl Hits 523

Marene Damrau had a 207 game and Dee Kohl rolled a 523 series to lead the Women's National League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday. Marene finished with a 501 and Dee Kohl had a pair of 191 games.

Ellen Bleier rolled a 507 series, Dee Larson had a 190 game and 504 series while Florence Scheuer had a 196 in the National circuit.

Ann Knaus topped the Ten Pin Toilers League at Hahn's Tuesday with a 210 game and 522 series. She also had a 194 line.

The Kitchen Cheaters League Monday at Hahn's was topped by Sally Meiers with a 202 game and Mitzi Appel had a 522 series. Millie Larson rolled a 190 game and 512 series, Elda Schmidt had a 199 count, Audrey Kies hit 502 and Esther Neitzke had 509.

Fordyce "Toby" DeBruin had a 193 game and 525 series in the Tuesday Ladies League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes.

Pick Eau Claire As Site of 1970 Women's Tourney

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Wisconsin Women's Bowling Association has picked Eau Claire as the site of its 1970 tournament.

Delegates at the group's 49th annual meeting this week elected Shirley Graumann of Sheboygan president. Three new directors, Nancy Kutchera, Manitowoc; Bernice Koblitz, La Crosse and Florence Schoenfeld, Wausau were also named.

All other officers were re-elected, including Jeanette Knepprath, who will be serving her 44th year as secretary.

Michigan Man Wins Singles Title in Badminton Meet

Bob Rahr was the lone entry from Appleton to reach the finals of the Wisconsin Open Badminton Tournament held over the weekend at Appleton East High School.

Rahr teamed with Millie Buck, Chicago, in the mixed doubles division. The pair was beaten in the championship match by Michigan's Jim Bell and Stella Peplowski, West Allis, 15-17, 15-11, 15-11.

Bell went on to become the winner of the men's singles title, and Millie Buck lost to Vera Henrichs, Oconomowoc, in the women's singles finals.

Five Appleton representatives fought their way to the semi-finals. John Zimmerman was defeated by the state's top-ranked player, Madison's Larry Rittman, in the men's singles.

In semi-finals doubles action, Leta Masaros teamed with West Allis' Doris Beyer and the two were beaten in the women's section, 6-15, 15-12, and 15-3 by the eventual winners — Vera Henrichs and Stella Peplowski.

Other Appleton entrants losing in semi-finals doubles competition included Ken and Leta Masaros, Dave Murray, Zimmerman, and Rahr.

Hall of Famer Hollenback Dies In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — William M. "Big Bill" Hollenback, University of Pennsylvania football star and member of the National Football Hall of Famie, died Tuesday at the age of 82.

Hollenback, a fullback was captain of Penn's 1908 team which won every game but one —a 6-6 tie with the Carlisle Indians, headed by Jim Thorpe.

Hollenback became a dentist after graduation but returned to football a few years later as coach at his alma mater. He later coached at Penn State, University of Missouri, Syracuse University and the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Ridl to Coach Pittsburgh Quint

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Buzz Ridl, who didn't apply for the job, has been selected over 51 men who did to lift the University of Pittsburgh's basketball team back to respectability.

Ridl, 47, head coach at Westminster, Pa., College for 12 seasons, was named Tuesday to succeed Bob Timmons, who announced his retirement last month.

Olaf's Rick Maursetter and Knox' Bill Fuerst.

Picked on the second team, along with Townsend, are Coe's Ron Barnes, Knox' Paul Madsen and Carleton's Steve DeLapp and Tom Weaver.

Lawrence and Monmouth are the only teams other than champion Beloit to boast two scorers among the league's top 10. The Vikes' Mike Andrews (17.2 average) and Townsend (16.9) finished sixth and seventh, respectively.

Townsend's 39-point total in the Vikes' upset of the Bucs, at Beloit, ranks as the best single-game effort of the season. Lawrence and St. Olaf tied for the 1-game team high, with 104 points apiece. The Vikes' offensive average, of 76.1 points per game, was topped only by Monmouth's 77.0. Lawrence, however, was second-last in defense, with a 78.3 pace. Grinnell's defensive mark of 84.6 was last.

Individual scoring leaders:

George Miller, Leo Caron Lead Senior Pin Loop

KIMBERLY — George Miller and Leo Caron divided men's honors in the Senior Citizen's Bowling League at Jerry's Lanes recently as Miller rolled a 203 game and Caron had a 524 series.

Other top scores included a 517 by Mart Bolwerk with games of 180 and 181, 515 by Miller, 508 with a 190 game by Steve Diedrich and a 500 series with a pair of 175 games by Ben Mix.

For the women, Marie Sanderfoot slammed a 181 game and a 513 series to lead the way. Sylvia Mix had a 187 line and 511 series, Ada Bolwerk rolled games of 173 and 176 for a 492 count, Clara Diedrich had games of 178 and 171 for a 483 count and Sally Kumbier fired a 178 line.

NBA-ABA Player Fight Approaches

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro basketball bidding war will get into full swing May 8 when the National Basketball Association holds its annual player draft here.

The rival American Basketball Association will conduct its draft beginning April 26 in Louisville, Ky., and the fight to sign choice talent is expected to be as high-priced as the pro football bidding which ended with the merger of the National and American leagues.

The ABA, in fact, held a secret meeting recently at which certain teams were given the go-ahead to deal with some of the more prominent college seniors.

Experts Retain Lead in Archery

The Experts (33-19) retained the lead in the Winnebago Archers, Inc. League at the Midway Archery Lanes.

The Fearless Four ranks second, 3½ games off the pace with the Hi Handie's (29-23) in third place and The Archers (28-24) fourth.

Jerry Neubauer was high for the men with a 291 score and Judy McAllister had 257 to lead the women. The Experts had high team game of 343 and top series of 990.

Weyauwega Quint Wins Tourney Title

St. Peter Defeats St. Matthew, of Appleton, in Finals

BONDUEL — St. Peter, of Weyauwega, defeated St. Matthew, of Appleton, 39-35, for the championship of the 18th annual Lutheran School Invitational Basketball tournament here Sunday.

Randy Faulks scored 20 points for St. Peter, and Radtke and Lee Vandertie hit 18 and 11, respectively, for St. Matthew.

Neenah Martin Luther beat Bonduel St. Paul, 30-28, for the consolation championship, and Menasha Bethel topped Hortonville Bethlehem, 41-26, for third place.

In semi-final action, St. Matthew stopped Bethel, 39-38, and Weyauwega halted Hortonville, 50-48, as Faulks scored 34 points. Kevin Schultz had 32 for Bethlehem.

Named to the all-tournament team were Faulks, St. Peter; Schultz and Brian Pankow, Bethlehem; Gary Streufert and Wayne Bousley, Bethel; Bill Mindell, Martin Luther; and Vandertie and David Hanke, St. Matthew.

The outstanding cheerleading squad trophy went to Bethlehem.

Chris McArt Wins Crown In 'Y' Diving

Appleton's Chris McArt finished first in a field of six divers in the recent State YMCA girls diving championships in Green Bay.

Miss McArt, who competed in the 11-12 year old age group, compiled a total of 101 95 points. Nancy Kolosso, of Appleton, wound up sixth in the same class.

The next-best performance by an Appleton entrant was a second place by Missy Lally in the 13-14 age category. Betsy Bates picked up a pair of third places in the 15-17 and open division, respectively, and Joan Weyenberg notched a fifth and a seventh in the same two groupings.

Gib Nabbefeld Tops Squad in Chicago Tourney

Gib Nabbefeld, Neenah, rolled a 1,527 series for the top score in a 32-man squad which competed Monday in the Petersen Classic Bowling Tournament at Chicago.

Wally Selinow, Neenah, was sponsor of the group.

Keglers roll eight games over 16 lanes and top prize in the tourney is $32,000.

Runnerup to Sellnow was Wes Krause, Appleton, 1,464 followed by Tom Pettit, Milwaukee, 1,457: Wilmer Runge, Sherwood, Ray Crane, Appleton, and Jim Lucas, Neenah, all with 1,439 and Craig Cebert, Green Bay, 1,417.

So far, over 5,000 keglers have entered the tourney but only three have scores over the 1,600 mark.

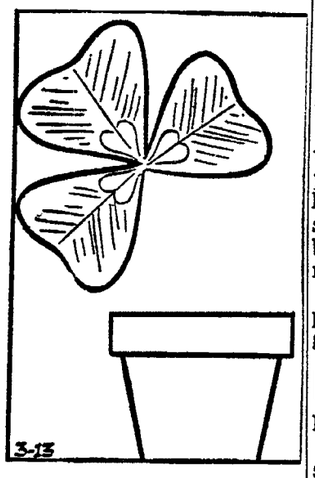
The Shamrock Contest Can Win You a Stamp Hobby Kit

BY CAPPY DICK

Clip out the shamrock and the pot, paste them together on a sheet of paper and color them with your paints or crayons. If you then send the picture to me, you may become a prize winner in today's contest.



Cuts, Paste, Color

It is possible for a boy or girl to win two prizes. One prize is a local qualifying prize. Five will be awarded in the Appleton area. The other is a grand prize of which five will be awarded nationally. This prize is a Stamp Collector's Hobby Outfit which includes a stamp album with spaces fr 8,000 stamps, more than 5,000 full-size pictures of stamps, a packet containing 1,000 stamps of the World, a set of 84 gummed Flags of the World stamps, a set of 84 gummed Coats-of-Arms stamps, a magnifier to use in closely examining stamps, a Junior Watermark Detector, a stamp perforation gauge, a package of peelable stamp hinges and instructions for beginning collectors.

The five national grand prizes will be awarded for the five neatest and most original contest entries among the local prize winning entries from all the cities where this column is published.

The local prizes in this contest will also be of interest to stamp hobbyists. Each will be a Cappy Dick educational, show-and-tell packet containing eight colorful scenic and animal stamps from Argentina. These will be given for the 5 neatest and most original contest entries from young readers in this area. Entries winning these qualifying prizes will be entered automatically in the national judging for the grand prizes.

After assembling and coloring the shamrock and its pot, print your name, age, address and Zip Code number beneath it, then decorate the entry in any neat, original way with paints, crayons or cutouts. Finally, address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek Stamp Album Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be printed here and their prizes will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "I want to see you badly." It is much better to say, "I want VERY MUCH to see you."

Often mispronounced: Geiger (counter). Pronounce to rhyme with "tiger."

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: POTENTIAL (adjective): existing in possibility, not in actuality; as, "A potential hero," or, "A potential market."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Attic Theatre Tryouts, Meeting on Sunday

4 Plays Announced for Summer Season, 'Arsenic and Old Lace' Opens June 22

When Attic Theatre holds its annual meeting Sunday night, it also will be launching its 1968 season with tryouts for its summer bill of fare.

The annual meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at Lawrence Music-Drama Center with a social hour after the business session.

Tryouts for the foursome of evergreens on the summer season play bill will be held the same Sunday, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and after the night business meeting. The tryouts will be for both play casts and crews.

Four Evergreens

"Arsenic and Old Lace" will open the season according to the Attic Board of Governors and Director Don Jones.

The other shows announced are the melodrama "Night Must Fall," "Teahouse of the August Moon," and the comedy musical, "Pajama Game."

Auditions for singers will be held during the scheduled hours only with Director Tom Jacobs in charge. Actors unable to attend the scheduled tryouts may make afternoon appointments for Monday or Tuesday. Playscripts are available this week in the reference room of Appleton Public Library. A special call is out for dancers, male and female, for "The Pajama Game."

Casts Needed

The comedy-thriller "Arsenic and Old Lace," set in an old Victorian home in Brooklyn, N.Y., will be staged in four-sided arena style. The cast calls for three women and 11 men.

"The Teahouse of the August Moon", a colorful and funny spoof of American know-how versus Oriental attitudes, takes place in a remote village on Okinawa and will be played in Stansbury Theater. This cast calls for 13 men, eight women, three children, and one goat.

Four males and five females are required for the melodrama, "Night Must Fall". The arena stage will be used for the Essex, England, resort hotel setting in which the suspense-filled story unfolds.

Stansbury Theater's proscenium stage will become a pajama factory, a kitchen, a picnic ground, a labor meeting hall, and Hernando's Hideaway, all in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for the full-sized musical "The Pajama Game". Six women, 10 men, plus additional singers and dancers for the chorus, make up the cast.

Attic's season opens June 22 and runs through August.

Singers Petula Clark and Harry Belafonte rehearse for a forthcoming television special in which Miss Clark touches Belafonte on the arm, thereby raising criticism from executive Doyle Lott of the sponsoring firm. Belafonte said he received an apology from Lott; he also explained that Miss Clark was expressing her good feeling to a fellow performer and friend that their song was going well after several starts at taping. The Chrysler Corp. sponsors made it known they were happy with the performance, scheduled for April 2 airing, and had relieved Lott of his duties but had not fired him. (AP Wirephoto)

School Tots, Tall Tales, And Fantasy

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-10 — Channels 11-9 — Hans Christian Andersen, Samuel Goldwyn's feature film, is a treat for youngsters and all admirers of tall tales and fantasy. Danny Kaye, in one of the most versatile performances of his career, is impressive as the fabled Danish cobbler who mesmerizes school tots with colorful stories. Miss Hart's script also focuses on his love for Jeanmarie, a ballerina. And this leads to a colorful, energetic ballet for a finale. Frank Loesser's memorable score includes "Wonderful, Wonderful Copenhagen," "Inchworm" and "No Two People." The large cast is also headed by Farley Granger, Joey Walsh, John Qualen and Danish dancer Erik Bruhn. Victor Borge, another famous Dane, is host. (C)

* * *

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-9 — Diana Rigg fans had better tune in to The Avengers since this is her last full episode before making her farewell next week at which time the new Steed partner will be introduced. In this very fast paced episode, an agent is killed but hides his secrets first leaving one small clue for Steed on their whereabouts which involves Emma and Steed in a cross country auto race. (C)

* * *

7:30-8 — Channels 2-7 — Granny's short fuse sputters again on The Beverly Hillbillies, and again it is Elly Mae's menagerie that does it. It seems that Granny has been trampled by Elly's canine corps when she announces dinner, just once too often, so the ultimatum is given. (C)

* * *

8-9 — Channel 5 — A pair of Eds, McMahon and Ames highlight The Kraft Music Hall's "Vaudeville '68," with McMahon as host and Ames providing the show's hit, his best selling "Who Will Answer." Also on hand: Shelley Berman with one of his telephone skits, Sonny and Cher, The Young Rascals and comedienne Joan Rivers, who lectures on the education of single girls. (C)

* * *

8:30-9 — Channels 2-7 — Any couple who has ever thrown a dinner party for the husband's boss will suffer with Dick and Paula on He and She. Little things, like a mouse joining the party, keep coming up. (C)

* * *

9-10 — Channel 5 — Add Anne Baxter to the cast of anything and you almost can't miss as in the case of Run For Your Life. The lovely lady plays a lovely and loaded (with loot) lass in Sardinia where she has succumbed to the charms of a fortune hunter played by Jacques Bergerac. (C)

* * *

9-10 — Channels 2-7 — Triple threat Robert Morse, sings, dances and does comedy on The Jonathan Winters Show, including the production number "Lulu's Back In Town," and as the annoying brother-in-law of Willard in "The Couple Up The Street." Vikki Carr is also on hand with "She'll Be There," and The Young Saints make a return appearance with "Shadrach." (C)

Little Chute Dwelling Damaged by Vandals

LITTLE CHUTE — Police are investigating vandalism at the home of Joseph Hackel, 516 Harrison St., which took place Sunday while the family was away.

Police said holes were punched in the walls, obscene words were scratched in walls and mud was smeared on the carpets.

Entry was gained through a basement window. Nothing was taken from the home.

Mr. Edward S. Merkley

Medina, Wis.

Age 77, passed away unexpectedly Tuesday morning at his home. He was born March 10, 1891 in Neenah. He had been a resident of Medina for the past 11 years and prior to that had lived in Dale. He was a member of the D.A.V. of Hortonville. Mr. Merkley is survived by his wife, Myrtle; three daughters, Mrs. Harold (Marian) Rockteschel, Medina, Mrs. James (Helen) Hauert, Appleton, Mrs. Ralph (Esther) Bockin, Neenah; two sisters, Mrs. Max Bloch, Mrs. Arthur Niles, both of Neenah and eight grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the Westgor Funeral Home with the Rev. Arthur R. Tingley officiating. Interment will be in St. Margaret Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. on Thursday.

Dr. William E. Popelars

Weyauwega

Age 78, passed away early Tuesday morning at the Riverside Hospital, Waupaca. Dr. Popelars was born September 18, 1889. He was born in Kossuth, Manitowoc County. He graduated from the Chicago Veterinary College in 1916. In 1918 he came to Weyauwega where he practiced veterinary medicine until his retirement in April of 1967. From 1949 until his retirement he was the City Meat Inspector. On October 22, 1919 he was married to Margaret Heuer in Manawa. Dr. Popelars was active in F. & A.M. Lodge No. 82 and a charter member of the American Legion Post in Weyauwega. He is survived by his wife, Margaret; three daughters, Mrs. Herman (May) Linke, Milwaukee, Mrs. Harold (Mary) Winkler, Hartford, Mrs. Jon (Janet) Torkelson, Cashton; one brother, Emil, Whitelaw; 7 grandchildren. He was preceded in death by 2 sisters and 2 brothers. Private funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Cline-Hanson-Dahlke Funeral Home, Weyauwega with Rev. DeLoyd Huenink officiating. Burial will be in the Oakwood Cemetery. Masonic services will be held Wednesday, 8 p.m. at the funeral home. Friends may call at the Cline-Hanson - Dahlke Funeral Home, Weyauwega after 4 p.m. Wednesday until 12 noon Thursday. There will be military graveside rites.

Mr. Kirvan is survived by his wife, Elsie; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Elsie) Jones, Kimberly; Darlene, at home; three sons, Sp. 5 David L., Tacoma, Wash.; Donald, Appleton, and Richard, at home; 8 grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday from the Holy Cross Catholic Church, Kaukauna.

Green Bay to New York Air Service Eyed

GREEN BAY — A direct Green Bay to New York flight may be considered by North Central Airlines, Brown County supervisors learned this week.

A North Central vice president revealed this while requesting county support of a proposed direct non-stop service between Milwaukee and New York.

David E. Morgan, head of sales and traffic, said the fare from Green Bay to New York, via either Milwaukee, Chicago or Detroit, would be $56.

The board tabled the request pending a study for a direct Green Bay to New York service being made by an airport consulting firm.

Morgan told the board North Central would "give serious thought" to the direct flight proposal if Green Bay could produce 30 to 40 passengers per day. Green Bay averages 20 to 22 per day now. He said the "issue before the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is only for the Milwaukee to New York segment."

He said the proposed segment would mean Green Bay would have direct service to New York by way of Milwaukee.

Green Bay to New York Air Service Eyed

GREEN BAY — A direct Green Bay to New York flight may be considered by North Central Airlines, Brown County supervisors learned this week.

A North Central vice president revealed this while requesting county support of a proposed direct non-stop service between Milwaukee and New York.

David E. Morgan, head of sales and traffic, said the fare from Green Bay to New York, via either Milwaukee, Chicago or Detroit, would be $56.

The board tabled the request pending a study for a direct Green Bay to New York service being made by an airport consulting firm.

Morgan told the board North Central would "give serious thought" to the direct flight proposal if Green Bay could produce 30 to 40 passengers per day. Green Bay averages 20 to 22 per day now. He said the "issue before the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is only for the Milwaukee to New York segment."

He said the proposed segment would mean Green Bay would have direct service to New York by way of Milwaukee.

SALUTE

TAX TIME AGAIN

BY JERRY BAULCH
For the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Some people serving in Vietnam aren't getting all the combat zone tax break they deserve while others are trying to claim more than they are due.

So let's look at this and other tax problems facing men and women in uniform, now that it's the time of the year to think about them.

Of course, the big break that all military people always have had over civilians is that their housing, subsistence and some other allowances aren't taxable income.

And there's the big tax bonus for those who serve in Vietnam. An enlisted man or warrant officer pays no tax on his salary for any month in which he spent even one day in the combat zone or was hospitalized anywhere because of injuries received in the combat zone. Officers in this situation get $500 of their pay for the month exempted.

There are Problems

But some service people are running into problems of too little or too much.

Normally, the excluded pay doesn't show up as income on the W2 form a serviceman gets at the end of the year. Only his taxable income is noted. But some servicemen making quick trips to Vietnam, such as air crews, assume their pay won't get touched for tax deductions for the month they go to Vietnam. But if their pay officers aren't aware of the trip, the pay is listed as taxable income and a payroll deduction results.

Thus, it's important to make certain your pay officer is aware when you're entitled to the combat zone pay exclusion.

Some men try to catch up by writing into their tax returns the omitted exclusions. But you can do this only if you attach a certificate from your commanding officer, endorsed by your disbursing officer, stating how much excludable pay was not omitted from the taxable wage reported on your W2 form.

Return Kicked Back

Sometimes this occurs: A soldier deducts on his return his year's total of excludable pay even though it has already been omitted from the taxable income shown on his W2 form. This is taking the deduction twice so the tax return gets kicked back.

The Internal Revenue Service has just issued a ruling on warrant officers and enlisted men who accept temporary commissions but are allowed to continue in their enlisted and warrant pay scale when it is higher than a new lieutenant gets. Once they don the bars the exclusion is limited to the officer rate of $500 a month, not the 100 per cent enlisted rate.

If you served in the combat zone or not you should include on your return not only your name and Social Security number but your service serial number, permanent home address and ZIP code.

If you delay filing because you served in Vietnam — as you're allowed — you should write at the top of your return "served in combat zone as a member of the armed forces from (date) to (date)."

You have 180 days after you leave Vietnam to file the delayed return. But remember the 180 days starts when you leave the combat zone not when you arrive back in this country — a technicality that has been causing many headaches for servicemen.

Servicemen who are prisoners of war, or are missing, get an extension for filing to the 15th day of the third month after they return to safety or following appointment of someone to handle the estate of those who don't make it back.

Wives Can't Delay

Wives of servicemen in Vietnam are not permitted to delay filing their tax returns if they have income, but they may file a joint return without their husband's signature. Just write in the space for his signature that he is serving in Vietnam.

But where the joint return provides for a refund, you may run into trouble cashing the check. You can't cash it without your husband's signature. But if you have a joint bank account there's no problem, as you can deposit it with just your signature in most banks.

A recent change in the services is the halting of tax withholding for men missing in action in the war zone even though their pay allotments continue.

And here's a sour note. IRS has ruled that those who are in the savings program that gives them 10 per cent interest have to pay a tax on the interest in the year they cash them in, which has to be soon after they return to this country. Defense officials had hoped IRS would let men stretch it out over the years the interest accrued. Thus, the ruling will increase the tax for many and put some in higher income brackets.

Re-enlistment Bonus

As for the re-enlistment bonus, none of it is taxable if you sign up during a month in which you spent any time in the combat zone. Otherwise it's taxable, even if you should go to Vietnam a month after you sign up for a new hitch.

Internal Revenue has ruled recently that money spent on the purchase and maintenance costs of military fatigue uniforms are deductible if local military regulations require that the uniform be worn only while on duty. This is to the extent that the costs are not taken care of by clothing allowances.

And here's a rule for you parents: a relative in the armed forces or a service academy may not be claimed as a dependent if he is there for the full year.

One recent IRS ruling that shook up the Navy is that a man assigned aboard a ship is not away from home and may not deduct his expenses while there for travel, meals and lodgings. However, this won't apply to 1967 returns but will go into effect on 1968 returns.

Veterans' pension insurance benefits, education and training allowances, disability compensation and insurance proceeds are not taxable. But interest on dividends left on deposit with the VA is taxable.

It used to be that a retired serviceman who elected a survivor annuity for his wife or child which cut down on his own pension had to pay a tax on all his pension entitlement. But now, under a new law, he is no longer taxed on the amount his pension is reduced. However, if the serviceman dies his wife or child must include the amount of the annuity in her income tax return when she receives it.

Beg Pardon

I rely on the top experts in each field of selective service, the military and veterans to keep me abreast of what's going on but even they sometimes find it difficult to keep up with everything in their own fields.

Such was the case when I replied to a letter writer recently that Social Security payments and other self-contributory pensions from former employers don't count against eligibility for VA pensions until you have paid back all you invested in the pensions. That USED to be the law and that's the answer my VA expert provided.

The law was changed so that today all pensions must be reported to the VA as income to be taken into account for VA pension eligibility. The VA then subtracts 10 per cent to arrive at the total that determines eligibility.

G. I. Q. BOX

Dear Jerry:

I am writing about your mention of a Medal of Honor recipient receiving a $100 a month pension. I have two brothers and both were in combat in World War II and one received two medals for bravery. They live on a farm and hardly have enough clothes to wear and the one who won the medals is ill. How and where could I find out about those medals and where could I write about a pension for them?

Mrs. HPG, Winnebago, Wis.

Dear Mrs. HPG:

An enlisted man who stays in service long enough to qualify for retirement pay gets 10 per cent extra for winning the Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Navy Cross or other recognition of exceptional heroism that the secretary of his service rules is sufficient. However, this extra cannot push a man's retired pay beyond 75 per cent of active duty retired pay — which means a man with the minimum 20 years service for retirement pay gets the extra but a man with the maximum of 30 years does not since his pay already is 75 per cent. The $100 Medal of Honor pension would not count in this because it is a Veterans Administration pension, not a military pension. Since your brothers apparently did not stay in service long enough to qualify for military pensions their income may be low enough to qualify them for VA non-service connected disability pensions.

Dear Jerry:

Please tell us the eligible age for a draft board member, especially age of retirement from the board.

CWB, Salisbury, Mo.

Dear CWB:

The 1967 draft law puts age limits on draft board service for the first time. The minimum age is 30. And a person cannot serve on a board longer than 25 years or beyond age 75. The law also permitted women to serve on boards for the first time.

(You can write to Jerry Baulch in care of The Post-Crescent.)

KROGER SPENDS OVER $23 MILLION DOLLARS ON WISCONSIN PRODUCTS EVERY YEAR!

That's big money! And it's spread over the economy of the entire Badger State. Because every year, in Wisconsin alone, Kroger spends . . .

- ★ Over $7 million dollars on eggs and other dairy foods.
- ★ Over $7 million dollars on canned, frozen, and baked foods.
- ★ Over $4 million dollars on meat and poultry.
- ★ Over $3½ million dollars on non-food items sold in our stores.

Johnson Gets 48 Per Cent In Primary; Nixon Sweeps

McCarthy 4,000 Votes Behind LBJ

By WALTER R. MEARS

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire Democrats returned a startling split decision today, giving President Johnson a narrow, empty victory in the nation's opening presidential primary — while awarding rebellious Eugene J. McCarthy 42 per cent of the ballots and apparently 20 nominating votes at the party's national convention.

Richard M. Nixon won the overwhelming Republican vote he sought to help wipe out the memory of past defeats and propel his quest for the GOP presidential nomination.

But the drama was in the Democratic story. It was a story of political trouble for Johnson, and a leadoff success for McCarthy, whose campaign on a platform protesting Vietnam policy once was scorned as inconsequential by Democratic professionals.

Better Than Forecasts

Minnesota's McCarthy far surpassed his forecasts—and those of his opponents. Johnson's name was not on the ballot, but the state Democratic organization waged a tough write-in campaign. Its product: a minority win for the President, who received 48 per cent of the vote.

The near-final count had Johnson leading McCarthy by less than 4,000 votes. The President's promoters had forecast a 3-1 victory—and even that prediction was toned down from earielr 10-1 talk.

The contest for delegates appeared to be reversing the verdict of the presidential preference poll. Actually, the poll, popularly called a "beauty contest," is binding on no one.

In the separate contest for Democratic delegates, candidates pledged to vote for McCarthy's nomination were leading for 20 of the 24 national convention seats at issue, while contenders favoring Johnson led for 4.

Declared Candidate

McCarthy's performance in that phase of the primary was enhanced by the fact that as a declared candidate, he could choose the people running as delegates pledged to him, and limit their number. Johnson, undeclared and not on the ballot, could not.

As a result, there were 24 McCarthy delegates on the ballot, while 45 persons favoring Johnson divided the loyalist vote.

That showing lent new stature to his campaign of opposition to Johnson's policy in Vietnam, although the President scoffed at the outcome, saying New Hampshire is the only place where a candidate can claim "40 per cent is a mandate."

Smothers Rockefeller

The magnitude of the Nixon vote left no doubt about the mandate there. The former vice president swept 79 per cent of the vote, smothering the last-minute write-in campaign for

Doves to Get Shot in Arm

Storm of Antiwar Criticism Sure to Follow First Primary

By JACK BELL

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — President Johnson can expect the storm of criticism over his Vietnam policies to grow in national fury as a result of the outcome of the New Hampshire primary.

While the President's supporters may dismiss as insigificant the verdict by 53,000 Democrats in a state that is 2-1 Republican, the inescapable fact is that when he and his policies were tested at the polls for the first time in this presidential year Johnson could manage to get only 48 per cent of the vote.

Added to this is the fact that a heavy turnout of Republicans, reaching nearly 100,000, gave 79 per cent of their votes to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who concentrated his campaign attacks on Johnson.

The performance of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., in racking up 42 per cent of the Democratic vote is certain to give the war critics a shot in the arm that will spur them to greater efforts to dynamite Johnson's policies.

McCarthy began his low-keyed campaign with the announced intention of stimulating debate within the party and forcing the President to change his war course. Not until recent days has he become starry-eyed with the belief that perhaps he might prevent Johnson's renomination.

McCarthy's showing under drumfire attack on him as an appeaser whose victory would give comfort to Hanoi has demonstrated that he and other candidates can stand up under this kind of political infighting.

Colleagues who have muted their criticism of the President in an election year are likely to become bolder in speaking out against him. If McCarthy, little known in New Hampshire, could come close to beating the President, they will feel that there is a strong wind against Johnson's ship on its present course.

The squads of youngsters who joined in ringing doorbells, passing out leaflets and doing all of the hard chores of campaigning for McCarthy indicated that there is a reservoir of support available for an antiwar candidate.

S. Vietnamese Official Tells Plan

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's chief spokesman said today that a volunteer "liberation army" is being formed to invade North Vietnam.

The spokesman, Director General of Information Nguyen Ngoc Linh, said the invasion army would be made up of Vietnamese who are "sick and tired of those people who want to 'liberate' South Vietnan." This was a reference to the Viet Cong, who call themselves the South Vietnamese Liberation Army.

'March to the North'

Vietnam Press, the government news agency, reported earlier today that authoritative sources had said a "high-ranking member of the vice president's office is forming a March to the North Army." The vice president is Nguyen Cao Ky, the former commander of the air force who was premier for two years before he and President Nguyen Van Thieu were elected last fall.

"Many military men, political figures and representatives of groups and religions have been contacted for support for the formation of the army," Vietnam Press said.

"Moreover, several retired general officers, of high reputation and with best military records, are actively participating in the formation of the March to the North Army's command staff."

Linh told a newsman the new force would ask the government to provide it arms and ammunition and would be called the North Vietnam Liberation Army. He said it would consist of guerrillas and would not be part of the regular South Vietnamese Army.

U.S. Skeptical

Many of the officers for the new army would come from South Vietnam's Hoa Hao and Cao Dai sects, Linh said. Both are ultranationalist religious sects which, until recent years, maintained their own armies. They are strongly anti-Communist.

U.S. officials had no comment. They are likely to be highly skeptical since the South Vietnamese armed forces are having trouble increasing their net strength by 65,000 men.

Thieu is known to favor an invasion and has praised the U.S. alnding at Inchon, during the Korean War. Ky was asked recently if the government planned an invasion of the North. "Yes or no, we will let you know," he replied.

Apparently referring to this remark, Vietnam Press said today that "hints on the formation of the March to the North Army were made by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky several days ago."

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Wisconsin servicemen were killed in recent Vietnam action, the Pentagon has announced. They are Marine Pfc. Francis J. Capezio, Pell Lake; Army Pfc. David W. Knouse, rural Gratiot; Army Pfc. Bruce N. Knox, Madison, and Army Spec. 4 Joseph Seibert, Green Bay.

Hijackers Kidnap Passenger

'I'm Going to be Killed'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A passenger jet with 58 persons aboard was hijacked over South Florida Tuesday by two nervous gunmen kidnaping an old man who tearfully told passengers, "I'm going to be killed!"

The pilot of National Airlines flight 28, Capt. Clarence J. Delk, said "they were expecting us. I don't know how they knew we were coming. We were identified from the Cuban tower by flight number during our approach to Havana airport."

Stewardess Sarah E. West said the man slipped her some personal papers when the men weren't looking. She hid them on the plane and they were not found when Cuban soldiers searched the aircraft during the six hours at Havana. The papers were given to the FBI in Miami.

Four minutes after takeoff on the Tampa-to-Miami leg of a flight that began in San Francisco, one of the gunmen put a .45-caliber automatic pistol at the neck of stewardess Donna Goldinher, 26, and forced her into the cockpit. She fumbled with a key and made the men nervous.

Efforts by other stewardesses to warn the pilot failed as both gunmen got into the cabin before he picked up the intercom, said stewardess Sally Jackson Kenner.

Delk said he maintained radio silence because "we didn't want to do anything to make them think we were not cooperating."

American officials tracked the plane on radar. Cuba notified U.S. officials after the plane's safe landing at 1:36 p.m. The plane returned to Miami at 7:57 p.m.

The man who said he was going to be killed sat quietly in the coach section of the plane until the landing in Cuba.

"I heard noise that sounded like a fight in the cockpit," said Mrs. Kenner, "but then I saw it was the old man beating his hands and arms on the chair armrest. Then he began pacing up and down saying in his broken English, 'I'm going to be killed!' "

Flip Wilson, the comedian, who was a passenger on the plane, said the old man indicated he had been taken prisoner in Mexico.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Donald Kobes, 15, of rural Denmark in Brown County, died early this morning at Two Rivers Municipal Hospital. He suffered internal injuries Monday when a car driven by his brother, Harold, 18, missed a curve and struck a tree just off State 147 one mile northwest of Two Rivers.

Howard Stern, 31, Shorewood, was injured fatally when the car he was driving slammed into a bridge support on Interstate 94 at State 164 just north of Waukesha Tuesday night. Sheriff's deputies said he had just passed a truck on I-94 and was returning to his lane when the car went out of control. Two truck drivers pulled him from the car as it burst into flames.

45 Abandon Ship Listing in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) —The 45-man crew of the Soviet cargo vessel Velikiye Ustyug abandoned ship in the North Atlantic today, and a Coast Guard plane reported seeing only 26 survivors.

The 495-foot vessel, en route from Cuba to the Soviet Union, notified the Coast Guard at midnight that it was "listing sharply" 360 miles south-southeast of Newfoundland.

Trading Curtailed in London, Record Sales Listed in Paris

The curtailment was the first such action taken since the formation of the international gold pool in 1960.

London dealers made clear there was no suspension of sales. They raised the price of gold five cents to $35.20 an ounce and refused to take small orders. No big orders were refused.

The action came as the Italian treasury described as "without foundation" a report from Zurich that the United States was shouldering Italy's share of bullion in the international pool.

In Washington, the Treasury Department also denied the Zurich report.

The United States already contributes 59 per cent of the gold sold on the London market as part of the pool.

One prominent London bullion dealer said: "We are rather fed up with the whole thing and in the absence of any formal statement, we are shutting up shop until we clear up our vast backlog of orders."

Sales of gold in Paris reached a record of more than 15 tons, compared with the previous high Dec. 15 of 14 tons. Sixty to eighty tons were estimated to have been sold in Zurich during the morning alone.

Johnson Discounts McCarthy Showing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, speaking as the New Hampshire ballot count was revealing a surprising show of strength by Democratic challenger Eugene J. McCarthy, jokingly dismissed the importance of the Granite State primary.

Without mentioning Sen. McCarthy by name, Johnson drew laughs from a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention audience Tuesday night when he said:

"The New Hampshire primaries are unique in politics. They're the only races where anybody can run—and everybody can win."

Johnson also turned to jokes to jab at challenges to his Vietnam policies by members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which wound up Tuesday two days of questioning Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The President said of the televised hearings:

"We had a great cast—but no plot. We also had trouble picking a title—'Gunsmoke' was taken."

In a somber tone, he praised Rusk's defense of those policies and pledged anew there would be no retreat from America's world responsibilities.

"We take our stand to give stability to a world that needs it desperately," he said. "We rattle no sabers. We seek to intimidate no man. But neither shall we be intimidated. And from American responsibilities—God willing—we shall never retreat."

Antipollution Plan Finished By 4 States

Multimillion-Dollar Proposals Aimed At Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — A multimillion-dollar plan to curb pollution of Lake Michigan was completed Tuesday by representatives of four states and the federal government.

The proposal, expected to cost hundreds of millions of dollars in city, state and federal funds, includes steps to reduce pollution from cities, factories, mills, dredges, boats—even from fish.

"The great thing here is the unanimity of the states and the federal government," said the chairman, Murray Stein, chief enforcement officer of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration. States involved are Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Go to Udall

Conference recommendations must go to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for consideration.

The first proposal is to reduce the amount of oxygen-decreasing phosphates in municipal and industrial wastes discharged into the lake.

Municipalities and factories not connected with city sewer systems will be required to provide waste treatment to reduce phosphorus in their discharge by at least 80 per cent. The improvements are to be substantially completed by December 1972.

The moderating word, substantially, was added in the final draft of the plan which also decreased the required reduction of phosphorus from the 90 per cent proposed in the initial draft.

Waste Treatment

The conferees agreed that, within six months, the states will list municipalities and industries discharging waste into the Lake Michigan basin. The Interior Department will provide a similar list of federal installations. Detailed plans then will be drawn for treatment of all wastes having a harmful effect on the lake.

They also recommended continuous disinfection by May 1969 of the outflow from municipal waste treatment plants and for industrial wastes which might cause disease among persons coming in contact with lake water.

Combined sewers, which carry sewage and storm runoff in one pipe, are to be prohibited in new developments and separated in reconstruction projects, effective July 1977.

Bigger Tax Boost Could be Sought

Troop Buildup Would Cost More Than 10 Per Cent Currently Asked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, shifting emphasis from economic to military arguments for higher taxes, says a bigger hike than originally sought may be needed if 200,000 more men are sent to Vietnam.

Fowler told the Senate Finance Committee Tuesday no decision has been made on any big manpower addition to the war zone. But he added that if it comes about, the administration will need more than the 10 per cent tax surcharge it has already requested.

Charles J. Zwick, director of the Budget Bureau, said sending 200,000 more men to Vietnam could cost $4 billion.

Home Sacrifice

Although the administration hasn't abandoned economic arguments for the surcharge, the emphasis on Vietnam requirements appeared designed to win friends for the proposal in Congress and among the public by appealing to patriotism and sacrifice at home.

Fowler made his strongest bid so far to get the surcharge labeled a war tax.

Some Congress members complained last year the administration lost its chance to win quick approval of the surcharge by not calling it a war tax—a term understandable to everyone.

There was some sentiment among administration advisers for using the war-tax label. But when President Johnson sent the measure to Congress he dwelled mostly on such issues as inflation, availability of mortgage money and the need to counter a rise in interest rates.

Controls Unneeded

Responding to a question by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Fowler told the Finance Committee he does not believe there will be a need for wage, price and credit controls.

But Fowler said if more men are sent to Vietnam, he would favor an entirely new fiscal package, including deeper cuts in domestic spending in addition to higher taxes "or a combination of both."

Fowler said he favors a pending bill to extend excise taxes on autos and telephone service.

The Treasury chief also said he would support a plan by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to attach the administration's 10 per cent tax-hike proposal to the excise measure.

Banker Found Innocent Of Lobbying Illegally

MADISON (AP) — It's taken a long time to prove my innocence," said Milwaukee banker Howard J. Meister after a Dane County Circuit Court jury acquitted him of four illegal lobbying charges.

"There have been many battles that have cost many dollars," Meister said, "but every penny was worth it. It has proven one thing—that I'm just not guilty of any of the counts."

District Atty. James Boll, who filed the misdemeanor charges after a John Doe investigation last summer, said he had "no comment" on the verdict.

He said state law does not allow him to appeal the case.

Bank President

Meister is president and majority stockholder of the Continental Bank and Trust Co., formerly known as the West Side Bank.

He was charged with talking to four assemblymen in May and June of 1965 about a bill to permit branch banking in Wisconsin. The jury deliberated three hours before finding him innocent.

The verdict ended 18 months of court action against Meister. It started with a grand jury investigation and indictment in June, 1966.

Both sides completed brief testimony and summations Tuesday.

Boll contended that Meister should have paid the required $10 registration fee before speaking with legislators about the measure.

Meister's attorney, Norman Skogstad of Milwaukee, contended throughout the two-day trial that the banker was "out here as a sincere individual expressing his views," and every private citizen has that right.

Power Failure Hits Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—A power failure plunged much of Sheboygan into darkness for two hours Tuesday night leaving homes without light and heat with temperatures in the mid teens.

St. Nicholas Hospital had to go on emergency power when the electricity failed.

Johnson Nudges McCarthy in Primar

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Nixon was out to erase the label of loser pinned to him after defeats for the White House in 1960 and for the governorship of California in 1962.

Nixon said it was "a smashing victory." Rockefeller said it was not significant because there was no competition.

These were the returns:

Nixon and McCarthy were listed on the ballot; Johnson and Rockefeller were not. The total turnout in both parties was far larger than had been anticipated.

Stirs Concern

Despite the Johnson ridicule, there could be no doubt that the outcome in snowy New Hampshire stirred concern at the White House. That concern may not in fact be about McCarthy himself, but about the possible impact of his showing on the course of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Few believe that McCarthy can wrest the Democratic nomination from Johnson. McCarthy himself is one of the few. "With the momentum we have here in New Hampshire and with the experience of now-adult staff and campaign workers, we can go on to the nomination in Chicago," he told his cheering, youthful aides in Manchester.

But it is the suddenly enigmatic Kennedy who is more likely to be the major concern of the men who work for Lyndon Johnson.

Plans the Same

Kennedy himself said McCarthy's showing had not, at least now, altered his decision against challenging Johnson. He said he might have something further to say about the New Hampshire outcome later.

"At the moment, my plans haven't changed," Kennedy said in New York.

There was no Kennedy write-in effort in New Hampshire, and no outpouring of unsolicited support for the New Yorker. He was polling a miniscule 1 per cent of the vote.

McCarthy did not talk like a man who would willingly step aside to see Kennedy take over the torch of dissent to Johnson's leadership.

"I intend to go on in Wisconsin and on to California," McCarthy said. "I've said that I would run as long as anyone wanted me to. And I mean to do that."

Wisconsin is the next state to vote on potential presidential nominees, balloting on April 2. In that state, unlike New Hampshire, all candidates are automatically named on the ballot unless they file disclaimers of candidacy. That means Johnson's name will be on the there.

The President is not ex to do any personal cam ing, although some form alist effort in his behalf tually certain to be staged

Cover Removal Not Cure

Gold Plan Called Temporary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate supporters and opponents of the administration bill to remove the gold cover on the nation's currency have agreed it's a temporary measure and won't solve basic economic problems.

Both sides took this stand Tuesday as the Senate opened debate on the House-passed legislation. A similar view was expressed by economists and gold dealers in Europe where heavy gold-buying by speculators continued.

Proponents argued the gold-cover legislation should be passed quickly as evidence of U.S. determination to make available its entire gold stock to back up the traditional $35-an-ounce price for the metal. Currently, each $1 of currency must be backed by 25 cents worth of gold.

Administration officials made clear they were hopeful final congressional action would stop the run on gold in European markets.

The Senate's Democratic strategists were aiming for quick passage, perhaps as soon as today.

However, several amendments were to be offered.

Not Endless

Gold dealers and economists in Europe applauded the bill, which would free $10 billion worth of gold for the fight against speculators. But most of them said the measure would offer only temporary relief.

The London Telegraph said in an editorial "the Americans simply cannot go on freely offering gold at $35 an ounce much longer. Nor can they now postpone a decision until after the presidential elections in November."

Gold sales in London Tuesday were about double Monday's level, but sales did ease there in the afternoon. Paris sales amounted to almost 12 tons, second highest level in French history. The record of 14 tons was set last Dec. 15.

Gold sales also were heavy in Frankfurt, Rome and Brussels.

In Washington, the government made an additional $450 million in gold immediately available to back the dollar abroad.

Calumet Frowns on Diversion of Water

Board Votes 'Dissatisfaction' With Appleton Plan to Tap Winnebago

CHILTON — Calumet County supervisors decided to express dissatisfaction with approval of Appleton's plans to tap Lake Winnebago for its water needs.

The board's intentions were revealed Tuesday after receiving a letter from the U.S. Corps of Engineers, setting March 15 as the deadline for objections.

The county board voted to write a letter to the Corps expressing their dissatisfaction.

Board members objected to the project even after numerous communications stating the Appleton water diversion project would have a negligible effect on Lake Winnebago and the Lower Fox River.

Dist. Atty. Franklin Schmieder read letters from the State Department of Natural Resources, Wisconsin Conservation Department, Public Service Commission and other agencies.

However, supervisors took action opposing the plan, although there was little time to get factual evidence against it.

Calumet became involved in September when Appleton announced its diversion plans. The county and several cities bordering the lake were not officially notified and were irked that the Public Service Commission had approved the project without a hearing.

Six Attend CD Session

County Delegation Studies Preparedness For Natural Disasters

Among the 350 attending the annual program arranged by the staff of the Civil Defense (CD) Education department, Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point, were officials of the fire, highway and CD departments.

They were Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County highway commissioner; Howard Rathbun, county CD director; Appleton Fire Chief Roland Kuehnl; Capt. Fred Selig, Capt. Russell Luebben, Appleton Fire Department, and Grand Chute Fire Chief Vincent Baum.

Addressing the audience were Gov. Warren P. Knowles, and Endicott Peabody, former Massachusetts governor, now assistant director of the National Office of Emergency Planning.

Workshops dealt with recovery agencies and financial assistance, flood fighting, CD organization for natural disasters, CD in civil disorders and defense education.

Couple Escapes As Car Plunges Into Lake

Husband Jumps Free, Wife Clambers Through the Window

CHILTON — Two persons escaped the icy waters of Lake Winnebago Monday when their 1958 car fell through a crack about a mile offshore at Pipe Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Abler, route 5, Fond du Lac, narrowly escaped with their lives.

The Ablers were on the lake fishing. Northeast winds opened a six-foot crack in the ice. Returning that afternoon the front end of the car slid into the crack.

Abler managed to open his door and jump out but his wife was still pinned in the car. She managed to wriggle free of her boots and escape through the car window

Her husband spotted her arms coming up in the water and pulled her free. The car sank in 16 feet of water. It was retrieved by Earl and Ray Ecker of Stockbridge Tuesday morning.

While Ray Ecker was on his way to retrieve the Abler car, his car slid into a crack in the ice up to the front wheels. His son, Earl, pulled the car free from the ice with their retrieving device.

K of C Yearly Breakfast, Communion March 31 At St. Patrick, Lebanon

NEW LONDON — Marcell "Tim" Langenhahn, a member of the Knights of Columbus State Advocate, will speak at the annual Knights of Columbus Corporate Communion and breakfast for district 5 at St. Patrick's Church, Lebanon, March 31.

Host Council No. 1526, Manawa, has arranged for a 9:30 a.m. mass and breakfast for members and their wives. The Blessed Sacrament Boys Choir, Waupaca, will sing.

The corporate gathering is for all members of councils in Clintonville. Manawa, New London and Waupaca. Tickets may be purchased from the local council Grand Knight.

Objection Deadline Extended

The U.S. Corps of Engineers today granted a two-week extension — setting the deadline at April 1 — for receiving written objections to Appleton's Lake Winnebago water intake line.

Last week Rep. William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, asked the Corps to extend its original March 15 deadline to give objectors in his district more time to be heard.

Build Plant

In conjunction with its water expansion program, the city intends to build an addition to the filtration plant and a pipeline to Lake Winnebago. The pipeline intake would extend about 1,200 feet out into the lake off Waverly Beach.

Auxiliary Meets at Brillion

Legion Counterpart Told of Methods to Assist Community

BRILLION — "Community Service and What Our Unit can Contribute" was discussed by Mrs. Henry Horn Sr. Monday at the American Legion Auxiliary meeting here.

Members of the local volunteer fire department demonstrated the use of rescue squad equipment in observance of the community service theme. Wilfred Gries, Elver Krueger and Lloyd Wolfmeyer participated.

Auxiliary members approved a $5 donation to the Brillion Public Library and learned that the American Legion birthday party will be Sunday, March 24 at Brant.

Representatives will attend the American Legion spring conference April 20 and the auxiliary's April 8 meeting will be at the Wisconsin Public Service Corporation building. A cooking demonstration is being arranged.

John Culligan, Charles Hendricks, Lee Saenger and Mike and Tim Rulseh presented five musical selections during the program arranged by Mrs. Paul Engel. Assisting her were Mrs. Horn, Mrs. John Vechart, Sr., Mrs. William Schneider, and Mrs. Ray Schuh.

Extensions Given Five Wolf River Communities

MADISON — Five Wolf River Basin communities Tuesday received extensions for complying with 1965 state water pollution abatement orders.

They were granted more time by the State Department of Resource Development (DRD) to develop adequate sewage treatment facilities.

Extended until June 30, 1969, were Bonduel and Iola; Dec. 31, 1968, Birnamwood; Dec. 31, 1969, Waupaca, and Oct. 31, 1969, Tustin (Waushara County). The original deadline was Jan. 30, 1968.

The five communities were ordered to upgrade their sewage facilities on Aug. 30, 1965 by the State Committee on Water Pollution, following a study of the Wolf River Basin. The committee is the predecessor of the DRD.

Sewage Treatment

The orders came because the individual communities failed to adequately meet their sewage treatment needs. DRD officials granted extensions upon individual requests after it was determined the community was working to comply with the original order.

None have submitted their final plans for additional treatment facilities to the DRD for approval. After their plans are approved, they may apply for federal and state funds to assist in financing the projects.

Each community will be eligible to receive 25 per cent of the project cost in state aid and possibly 50 per cent in federal aid. The federal aid, which could boost total aid to 75 per cent of the project cost, is based on individual community financial need.

In its extension request, Waupaca indicated it would be taking bids by mid-1968 for secondary treatment facilities, an additional effluent purification step. Phillips and Associates Inc., Kimberly, have prepared the preliminary plans, but no cost estimates have been established.

Industrial Waste

Waupaca was cited in 1965 for the industrial wastes which were overloading its primary treatment facility and discharging inadequately treated effluent into the Waupaca River.

Bonduel and Birnamwood both received abatement orders because their secondary treatment facilities — trickling filter systems — failed to maintain satisfactory effluent discharge. These systems do not always operate properly during the winter months.

Bonduel officials are planning a $148,000 secondary sludge treatment facility, and have retained McMahon Associates Inc., Menasha, to design the system.

In Birnamwood, officials anticipate adding a $25,000 final settling tank to handle community needs. This would be a lagoon where the effluent will flow after going through the trickling filter.

Iola is another community needing secondary treatment facilities. Its inadequately treat-

State Ultimatum

Jail Updating Ordered

The Outagamie County Board was warned Tuesday morning that unless it took action soon to either remodel or replace its jail facilities the state would issue an order closing the jail.

The blunt warning was issued by Vernon Verholtz, jail inspector for the State Division of Corrections, after the board tabled for another month action on proposed remodeling.

Verholtz said the board's action left him no alternative but to warn them he could recommend the state issue an order that the county commence remodeling within six months, or he could issue a directive that if positive action was not taken within 30 days, the six-month start order would be issued.

If the county failed to comply with the order, Verholtz said, citing statutes, the jail could be closed by state order.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, asked that the ultimatum be put in writing by Verholtz. He added that the "board was thinking about the problem and was moving ahead."

Remodeling Costs

In a companion action, the board directed its finance committee to conduct a cost study of a safety building annex on the courthouse grounds and costs of complete remodeling of the third and fourth floors of the courthouse.

Verholtz reminded the board this was not the first time he had been there to explain the need for improving the facilities and that the inadequacies have existed for 10 years. The time has come to act, he said, "you have had time to study."

Plans drawn by architect Raymond LeVee, first presented to the board last August, were again shown, with an added price tag. LeVee said the original cost estimate for remodeling the fourth floor jail and extending two wings had been $220,000. Since then, the cost estimate has risen to $237,000.

A similar cost spiral was shown for third floor remodeling to provide another courtroom. Original estimates had been $93,500. The latest estimate for the same work is $101,000.

Blank Check

The proposed remodeling would provide for a total of 65 cells. The present facility has 47 cells although the state considers the jail adequate for only 13.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, who submitted the proposal for the finance committee study, said if the remodeling was approved today, it would "constitute a blank check for courthouse remodeling."

Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton, agreed that a total plan was needed but reminded Kloes that such a proposal has been killed four times since 1963. He also said parking must be considered in any total plan.

Action Urged

Action was urged by Supv. Herbert Helble, Appleton. "We've been kicking this around for 10 years," he said, "we must take action." He added that counties talk about home rule but they want "only the privileges and not the responsibilities."

Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, who made the motion to table the issue until April, said that since this was the last session of the present board, they should let the new board and possibly new committees look at the problem.

This was opposed by Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, Appleton, who accused Wussow of seeking to have the board "shirk its responsibility."

After the tabling motion passed, 24-20, an exasperated Verholtz said he favored home rule but that he also expected the governing body to make decisions. "I also have a responsibility," he told the board. He said he took action "only when the responsible parties failed to act."

Give Notice

He then issued his ultimatum. "I have leaned over backwards to cooperate. I ask you now, should I request that a six-month order be issued or should I give you a 30-day notice?"

Earlier in the session, more than 100 area high school students viewed the proceedings as part of the annual government day program sponsored by the area American Legion Posts.

The students sat in on about one hour of the session before going to the other offices of the courthouse to learn about their government in action.

In other action, the board extended its congratulations to the Kimberly High School basketball team for winning its way into the state basketball tournament.

CLINTONVILLE — A break-in at the Clintonville Cooperative, Cedar Street, in which a radio valued at $40 was taken, was reported Tuesday morning by city police, who are investigating.

Stockbridge Juniors Chose King for Prom

Voted members of the court of honor were Michael Hostettler, Allan Weber, Steven Custer, Robert Eldred, Robert Goeser and Daniel Hemauer.

Set $6,200 Base

Seymour Approves Teacher Salaries

SEYMOUR — The board of education at a special meeting Tuesday night adopted a 1968-69 teacher salary schedule with a base of $6,200 for the beginning teacher with a bachelor degree.

The district has 103 teachers and anticipates 120 next year because of school expansions in Seymour, Black Creek and Nichols.

Teachers with a bachelor degree and eight years experience can earn $8,432, maximum. Those with a bachelor degree plus 15 graduate credits would start at $6,324 and reach a $9,052 maximum after 10 years. The bachelor plus 30 graduate credit level starts at $6,448 and reaches $9,672 in 12 steps.

Masters Degree

The schedule also calls for an increase from 7 to 10 cents per mile remuneration for teacher travel. In another change, the district will pay half the health insurance cost for teachers, single or married. Teachers will be paid semi-monthly, instead of monthly.

Coaching and other staff assignments will remain the same, Supt. Lyle Martens said. Martens was authorized to hire the teachers as recommended by the principals.

The board authorized Martens to advertise for bids on equipment for the district's schools, both existing and under construction. Bids will be opened at 1 p.m. April 19.

Equipment Bids

Bids will be accepted on furniture and furnishings, pianos, shelving for school rooms and libraries. The board will seek bids on audio visual equipment at a later date, Martens said. Some things will be purchased on a non-bid basis, where it is practical to do so.

Bleachers, lights and fencing purchases for the new football field can be delayed a year.

The board authorized $800 for art and music equipment for the new schools. Martens explained the funds were still available under last year's Title III National Defense Education Act program. The district would receive 35 to 40 per cent remuneration on the equipment for a $500 net cost.

French Teacher

Janet C. Reeves, a Lawrence University graduate, was hired to teach French for the 1968-69 term. She was the first of 37 new teachers who will be needed for next year. Martens indicated there were 11 resignations.

A letter was received from the Rev. Richard Schaefer, pastor of St. John Catholic Church at Seymour, informing the board that it would be sending its seventh and eighth grade pupils from the parish school to the public school in fall. The shift involves about 75 pupils.

Bankers Association Awards

Bear Creek Farmers Feted

NEW LONDON — A young Town of Bear Creek farm couple was named winner of the 17th Annual Waupaca County Bankers' Association Progressive Farmer Award Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bonikowske, route 1, Bear Creek, were the first couple to be recognized as town winners. They own and operate a 246-acre farm, 145 acres of which is tilable. They rent another 40 acres of cropland.

The Bonikowskes have been operating the farm since 1957. They have constructed about 9,000 feet of surface drainage ditches under the Soil Conservation Service plan. Sixty-six acres of woodland and eight acres of wildlife land have been protected from grazing.

Bonikowske has a herd of 88 Holsteins, consisting of 38 milk cows. Herd average is 488 pounds of butterfat. He uses a pipeline milker and feeds his cattle from the silo year around. They also have 22 brood sows which average nine pigs per litter.

Cash Crop

Holman headed the Waupaca County Farm Improvement Association this year. He operates a 340-acre farm, 310 acres of which are cropland, in the Town of Dayton. He rents an additional 140 acres.

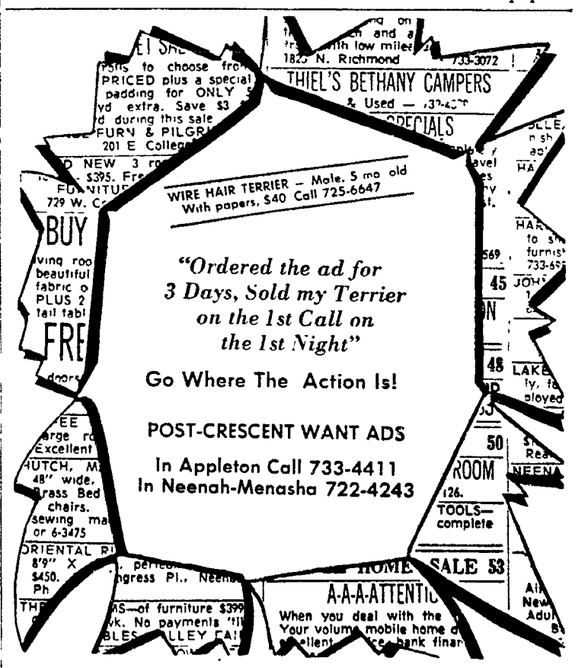
They have an irrigation system to water their sweet corn and other garden crops and part of the hay and corn used for dairy feed. The herd consists of 60 Holstein dairy cows and 30 heifers. A completely new diary operation with free stall housing, milking parlor and feedlot feeding was finished recently. The herd averages more than 500 pounds of butterfat. The couple has three children.

Other two winners were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rusch, Caledonia; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Steege, Dupont; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Townsend, Farmington; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meydam and Herb Meydam, Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ferg and William Ferg, Harrison;

Iola-Lind

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Knutson, Helvetia; Mr. and Mrs. Don Faldet, Iola; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wait. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wait and Mr. and Mrs. John Wait, Larrabee; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wepner and Mr. and Mrs. Arlyn Wepner, Lebanon; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Zabel and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Nehring, Lind;

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Miller, Little Wolf; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kluth and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kluth, Matteson, Mr. and Mrs. William Faskel, Mukwa; Mr. and Mrs. Garry Schafer and Dean Schafer, Royalton; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonikowske, St. Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. Royal Wasrud, Jr., Scandinavia; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Riske and Jim Riske, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Eisentraut, Waupaca; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schwanke, Weyauwega and Mr and Mrs. Gordon Zietlow, Wyoming.



2,000-Foot Project

New Curb, Gutter Plan in Hilbert

HILBERT — A 2,000 foot curb and gutter project requested by property owners is proposed for Milwaukee Street from Eighth to 10th Street; 10th Street from Milwaukee to State 114 and Third from Main to Milwaukee Street, the village board announced Tuesday night.

Property owners involved will be asked to sign a waiver for the improvements; it all sign a public hearing will be eliminated.

Board members discussed assessments to the benefitting property owners, previously charged at $1.55 a foot when the village paid $1.90. Before setting the price the street committee was ordered to verify costs with the Daul Construction Company, Freedom. Assessments would remain the same if the price were comparable, it was decided, but some proportionate increase might be necessary if the village's share was raised.

The ambulance contract with Calumet Memorial Hospital was renewed on a six to two vote, after considerable discussion. The service last year cost the village $409 of which $368 was based on 50 cents per capita and $41 in special assessment Flat rates were raised in the new contract from $25 a call to $35 and the same for municipalities not under contract.

Several members pointed out the cost involved, noting that many persons carried ambulance coverage insurance. It also was noted that the village did have an ambulance service and that even though it subscribed to the county ambulance another ambulance had responded quicker in an emergency. One member felt taxpayers should be made more aware of the funds being paid so that more persons used it when needed.

Voting to continue the contract were trustees Ralph Koffarnus, Willard Franz, Clarence Hemauer and Vernon Schomburg, with Arno Albers and Clarence Stengel opposed.

Garbage Collection

Garbage collection in the village was discussed with Ernest Pitzen who gave reasons for the necessity of continuing to hire part-time help on collection days. He also stated that villagers should be reminded to wrap and tie garbage securely, alleviating the problems of paper blowing and cluttering the streets.

Dr. Jon Wagner, local dentist, sent a written request to the board asking consideration be given to fluoridating its water supply, noting that in a nearby city residents had saved 40 per cent in dental bills. A few years ago Oscar Egger of the State Board of Health had requested a fluoridation program in the village. However, no action was taken on either request.

The clerk was asked to write to the village engineers to correct the grade set near the Arno Albers property in order for proper development of the area to the north.

Vacate Park

Willard Franz explained that the village had agreed to vacate a parcel of land near the village park with the stipulation that if the buildings are ever moved or razed the property reverts back to the village.

It was reported by the clerk that 94 per cent of the taxes were collected with $5,133 in postponed real estate and $227 in delinquent taxes to be bought by the county. Of the amount $3,368 was school tax which would be paid in April.

In other action the board:

—Renewed a five year lease with the Milwaukee Road Railroad for a piece of land north of Main Street used to stockpile gravel and other material.

—Set the next meeting for April 16, the first day newly elected officials can assume duties.

—Agreed to have five members attend a meeting Thursday at New Holstein sponsored by the Wisconsin Public Service Corporation when precautionary measures for those dealing with electric and gas equipment will be discussed.

A dinner at 7 p.m. will be preceded by a cocktail hour. Dancing will furnish the evening's entertainment.

For Migratory Workers

Housing Project Okayed By Brillion City Council

BRILLION — Owners of perishable food industries who employ seasonable labor can construct buildings in open and closed industrial areas, according to an amendment to the city code approved Monday by the city council.

The action resulted from a Larsen Canning Company request last month for permission to remodel and move a building to facilitate migratory workers. No one spoke in opposition to the change in zoning laws at an 8 p.m. public hearing Monday.

A $10 annual license fee will be charged by the city. Further stipulations state the building must be constructed and used according to federal, state and local laws.

Trees Sprayed

Spraying equipment for prevention of Dutch elm disease is in the city, Glen Campbell, director of public works, reported. All city-owned elm trees will be sprayed by the Fowler Tree Co. and privately-owned elms will be sprayed at owners' requests Arrangements can be made through the city clerk's office. Cost is 35 cents per inch measuring the trunk four feet from ground level. Minimum rate is $4.

On recommendation of the finance committee, $60,000 in city surplus funds will be used to buy U. S. Treasury notes for 90 days. Interest rate will be 5.25 per cent.

An architectural firm for the city's proposed $500,000 dollar community-recreation building with swimming pool is expected to be chosen at the March 25 city council meeting. A firm will be selected from nine personal interviews with architects recently conducted by the city council.

History Building

A Brillion Historical Club request to use city owned land for placement of a building and historical articles was approved. Cost of liability insurance will be incurred by the city if approval for the set-up is secured by the insurance carrier.

A request by the Brillion Housing Corporation to change lot sizes in their plot in the Stickert Addition won council approval. Widths of the lots will be lessened to 80 feet, 66 feet and 66½ feet as a result of the action. McClone Construction Co. wants to purchase the three-lot parcel on National Avenue for immediate home construction, according to Ray Kleiber Brillion Housing Corporation spokesman.

A bartenders license was approved for Virgil Stever, 29, Brillion.

The city clerk reported that 99.56 per cent of the $433,061 1967 tax roll was collected by the February 28 deadline. Delinquent personal property tax amounts to $131 and $1,889 in real estate taxes have not been paid. A $68 delinquent special assessment was reported and postponed real estate amounts to $24,233

The city received $35,495 personal property refund from the state and $15,806 real estate credit from the state.

Clintonville Legion Will Meet Thursday

CLINTONVILLE — Guests at the meeting of the American Legion post at the Veterans Memorial Building Thursday night will be department Vice Commander Casey Jones, Montello, and eighth district Commander Keith Smith, Pittsville.

Commander Warren Mitchell said this meeting will differ from the regular monthly meeting since there will be a cocktail hour from 6 to 7 p.m., followed by a spaghetti and meatball supper, after which the business meeting will be held

Card playing will follow the meeting.

Waupaca Firm Hired To Plan City Offices

WAUPACA — Glass and Donaldson, a Waupaca engineering firm, was hired Tuesday to prepare plans for a 65 by 44 foot addition to the armory for city administrative offices and police department headquarters.

Approval came at a special city council meeting. The firm's proposal, presented to the city council March 6, did not include a clause stating the cost of preparing the plans if the project should be abandoned after the plans are completed

If the addition is constructed, the fee will be 8 per cent. However, if it is abandoned, the firm would charge for the actual cost of preparing the plans, which is between 5 and 6 per cent of the estimated construction cost.

The aldermen unanimously accepted the proposal by Glass and Donaldson. Not present were Alds. Stanley Salter, Robert Bergman and Rueben Nelson.

The preliminary plan presented by the engineering from March 6 called for adding a concrete block construction with brick facing on the Washington and Union streets sides of the armory. It would be a one-story structure with a basement, and attached to the southeast corner of the armory. The preliminary cost estimate was $72,500.

The addition would house the offices of the city clerk, treasurer, city engineer, assessor-building inspector and the police department.

The city was ordered by the state industrial commission to remodel city hall or vacate. The fire department and police department offices already have been moved to the armory and the municipal justice court to the county courthouse.

Board Raises Objections

Sanitary Code Delayed

By a one-vote margin, Outagamie County supervisors delayed passage of a county sanitary code after several rural supervisors posed violent objections to planned permit requirements for water systems.

The vote Tuesday was 20-19 to send the code back to the zoning committee and the Northeastern Regional Planning Commission for revision.

The main objection was wording in the code which would have meant a permit would be required before a pump could be pulled from a well or repaired.

Supv. George Kroes, Town of Vandenbroek, termed the code "ridiculous" if it meant getting a permit before a pump could be repaired.

Backing Kroes were Supvs Norman Austin, Town of Oneida, and Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan.

Both Kroes and Supv. Ervin Conradt, rural Shiocton, cited instances of when their well pumps failed on weekends Under the code, they claimed, they would have had to wait until Monday to get a permit to have the pump pulled and repaired. In the meantime, Kroes said, the livestock would have had to go without water. "This would be considered inhumane treatment," Kroes stated.

Boyd Kinzley, director of natural resources for the regional planning commission, said the board could change the provisions of the code to make repairs of existing wells and pumps exempt from the permit requirement.

He also agreed to change the wording in the section pertaining to the fees for permits to a simple listing of the permit fees.

However, Kroes and Austin demanded the entire code be sent back to committee for the revisions to be made Kroes said he had raised the same objections to the code at a meeting three weeks ago and at that time had been told by Kinzley the changes would be made prior to its presentation to the board. "There hasn't been a word changed," Kroes said.

The sanitary code would apply to all private water and sewage systems in the county where there is no existing code.

Voting to delay action on the code for a month were Supvs. Austin, Breiting, DeBruin, DeLa Hunt, Diestler, Greisch, Grunwaldt, Hoolihan, Jimos, Koletzke, Kroes, Lenz, Miller, Perkins, Roepcke, Schreiter, Spierings, Steger, Van Dyke and Williams.

Opposing the delay were Supvs. Babbitt, Bartz, Bubolz, Dietz, Gillespie, Heenan, Helble, Hiler, Jens, Kavanaugh, Klein, Kloes. Root, Runte, Schwartz, Tillman, Verfurth, Wussow and Esler.

First in Wisconsin

Housing Authority Wins Approval of County Board

Outagamie County has become the first county in Wisconsin to create a county housing authority.

A five-man commission to operate the authority will be appointed by Esler. Two of the commissioners may be county officials.

Under enabling state legislation which became law last December, a county housing authority has the same powers as a municipal housing authority and would operate in areas of the county where there is no local housing authority.

Federal Funds

In addition to the naming of a five-man commission, the county must have a comprehensive plan and a workable program to be eligible for federal funds for low-rent housing for the elderly.

Officials from the State Commission on Aging said the county probably could qualify as having a comprehensive plan under its membership in a regional planning commission but that a workable program, including minimum housing standards and other minimum codes, would be needed in the community where the housing project would be located.

In citing the need for an authority, Esler said that according to the 1960 census Outagamie County had more than 8,000 residents over the age of 65 By 1980, he said, the figure will be more than 11,600.

Appleton, which has about 50 per cent of the over 65 population, already has a housing authority as does Kaukauna. Several other communities in the county have been considering authorities.

Esler said surveys have indicated the need for low-rent housing for the elderly in the Kimberly-Little Chute-Combined Locks area.

Opposed to the creation of the county authority, were Supvs. Eugene Kloes, Ralph Schwartz and Charles Wussow, all of Appleton, Five supervisors were absent for the vote.

Petition School

Three Families Seek Admission at Chilton

CHILTON — Three petitions from Stockbridge families paying tuition to send their children to school here, were received Monday by the board of education.

The petitions signed by LeRoy Schwobe, Gerald Ludwig and Marvin Gerner asked detachment from the Stockbridge district and attachment to the Chilton district.

As required by law a written petition from each owner of property adjoining boundaries of two districts must be filed with each school board.

60-Day Period

Notice of petition must be published and the board has 60 days to act. If no action is taken within the period it is considered a denial.

When property is not abutting two districts the property owner must request the school boards to ask the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) committee to act Gerner's petition would fall in this category. The Chilton Board is expected to ask the CESA committee to take action If the petitions are allowed, orders become effective July 1.

When reorganization talks were resumed last month it was decided to develop a solution for those paying tuition who had petitioned for attachment to the system here.

Long Range

Since reorganization possibilities were being talked of "in two or three years" terms, it was suggested the two school boards get together to arrive at a solution without involving the CESA committee.

The Stockbridge board recently agreed to detach portions of properties involving the three families The Stockbridge District would loose about $1,000 in school taxes.

The board also approved purchase and installation of 34 windows from the J. F. Cook Co. of Milwaukee at a cost of $6,994.

Also authorized was the purchase of a $389 Johnson Service System cooler with thermostatic controls to take care of the moisture problem.

Driver Education

Drivers between te ages of 16 and 18 will be required to have a behind-the-wheel training program by Sept. 1 before they will be issued a driver's license. Enrollment in this course, given only in the summer months, is usually filled to capacity. With this new requirement, it is anticipated that a larger enrollment will be expected and a year-round course may be needed.

Farmers, Bankers Told To Preserve Resources

NEW LONDON — "We will lose our ethical way of life unless we can preserve our resources," a group of 200 farmers, bankers and extension agents were told during the 17th annual Waupaca County Bankers' Association Farmers Award Day program Tuesday at the Rainbow Supper Club.

Wilbur Stites, noted conservation spokesman and keynote speaker, warned that man's lack of concern for conservation could bring an end to his affluent way of life in the United States — the same as it has in many other parts of the world, particularly Asian nations.

Stites, supervisor of radio and television division of conservation, said that the men of the world had carried out God's first three responsibilities of the world, but failed in the fourth.

Destructive Evidence

He said man held dominion over the earth, had subdued and replenished it but failed to dress, till and keep it

"You are most seriously concerned with dress, till and keeping the earth," Stites said. "During history man has destroyed more than he has kept," he admonished

"I feel deeply that we have to take this into consideration," he said. "If we don't we will lose it (natural resources) just as India and China and the other Asian countries"

Work With Agencies

He suggested better use of the agencies available to combat the destruction of natural resources The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and similar federal agencies are interested in the preservation of the earth. "We have to put these agencies to work for our benefit," he said.

He suggested that the best means available was politics "This is the way things get done in this country," Stites said. He cited Sen. Gaylord Nelson's anti-pollution stand as resulting in a recent regional meeting on pollution of Lake Michigan and noted Gov. Warren Knowles' interest in conservation

"Politicians must be made to realize a program is essential to people — then they will do something about it," Stites said

Kristin Williams, reigning Alice-in-Dairyland, also attended the program. Miss Williams said it was not only her duty to sell dairy products, but also to sell Wisconsin as a state.

Art Program Presented At Clintonville Church
